

The Law of Life

Jack London · 1901

First published: McClure's, Mar 1901

TEACHER EDITION · CURRICULUM UNIT

Dual Credit (Indiana College Core) edition (standards shown for this framework only)

One 90-minute lesson (the whole story), with an optional take-home essay

Syllabus · 90-minute lesson plans · lecture scripts · vocabulary · quizzes with keys · writing prompts at eleven rigor levels · SAT-style items · whole-book test · essays

Liber et Libri · Lux et Libri LLC

Cover: Claude Monet, Springtime (1872). Public domain (Wikimedia Commons).

Contents and unit overview

1. Unit overview and the 90-minute lesson
2. Syllabus (weekly pacing)
3. Lesson 1: introduction (author, context, reception, overview)
4. Lesson plans and lecture scripts (chapters 1–1), each with vocabulary, discussion questions, annotation focus, quiz and key, writing prompts and SAT-style items
5. Whole-book test and answer key
6. Essay assignments at eleven rigor levels

Edition: Reading text: https://en.wikisource.org/wiki/Children_of_the_Frost/The_Law_of_Life (revision 3806232), cleaned for Liber et Libri.

Grades: Grades 8–11 (scales to graduate via rigor levels). Short story: read whole in one 90-minute lesson (assign longer stories as pre-reading). Middle School prompts use the full text when the grade tags include 6–8; otherwise teacher-selected passages. Weeks: 1. Class days: 2 × 90 minutes (1 chapter lessons plus seminar, test and essay days).

Essential questions

- What does The Law of Life suggest about the cycle of life and death?
- What does The Law of Life suggest about age and community?
- What does The Law of Life suggest about acceptance?

Objectives

- Cite textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly and implicitly.
- Determine themes and analyze their development over the course of the story.
- Analyze how characters, setting and point of view interact.
- Determine the meaning of words and phrases as they are used in the text.
- Write arguments to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence.

Standards: Dual Credit (Indiana College Core)

ICC-WC-1.1, ICC-WC-1.3, ICC-WC-1.4, ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.7

Indiana College Core, Written Communication outcomes 1.1–1.7 (CHE guidance); ICC-WC-x IDs are ours

Assessments: Daily story quizzes (auto-graded); Weekly writing prompt (rubric); Socratic seminars (scheduled days); Whole-story test (scheduled day); Final essay (scheduled day); College Sophomore and above write one essay of the five

Differentiation: Every prompt and quiz has eleven rigor levels (Middle School through Graduate / PhD); the app applies student override, then class standard, then the automatic level. Each prompt is tagged for Common Core, Indiana 2023, Dual Credit (Indiana College Core), AP and Cambridge where they apply.

Materials: Liber et Libri reader; Annotation journal; Story lecture slides or script

The 90-minute lesson

#	Segment	Mode	Minutes	Clock
1	Bell-ringer	You do	8	0–8
2	Vocabulary with etymology notes	I do	10	8–18
3	Background and context	I do	10	18–28
4	I do: modeled close reading	I do	12	28–40
5	We do: guided annotation	We do	15	40–55
6	You do: independent annotation	You do	15	55–70
7	Discussion	We do	10	70–80
8	Exit ticket / chapter quiz	You do	7	80–87
9	Closure	I do	3	87–90
	Total		90

Syllabus

Week	Chapters	Lessons	Focus and activities	Assessment
1	Introduction: author, context and reception The Law of Life	2 × 90 min (180 min)	the cycle of life and death • Daily 90-minute lesson: bell-ringer, vocabulary and word histories, background, I do / We do / You do, discussion, exit ticket, closure • Story quizzes in the app • Introduction: author, context and reception • Writing prompt at assigned rigor (one graded per week)	Quiz average plus one graded writing prompt

Lesson plans and lecture scripts

Each chapter is one 90-minute class. Scripts are a starting point; adapt them to your students. Teacher summaries contain spoilers.

Lesson 1: Introduction to The Law of Life

Author biography

Jack London was born in San Francisco on 12 January 1876 and grew up poor in Oakland, working in a cannery, as an oyster pirate and as a sailor, and riding the rails as a hobo. In 1897 he joined the Klondike Gold Rush in the Yukon; he found no gold but found his subject. The Call of the Wild (1903) made him one of the best-paid writers in the world. A socialist and adventurer, he wrote some 50 books before his death at his California ranch on 22 November 1916.

Historical and cultural context

The story depicts a nomadic Indigenous people of the Yukon, whom London portrays in the custom of leaving the frail elderly behind when the tribe moves on in winter. London's view is shaped by his reading of Darwin and Herbert Spencer.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in McClure's Magazine in March 1901; collected in Children of the Frost (1902).

Then: Read as an exotic adventure tale.

Now: Taught as naturalism, and discussed critically for how it represents Indigenous people.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Old Koskoosh, blind and weak, is left by his tribe beside a small fire as they break camp, as custom demands.

Main themes

- the cycle of life and death.
- nature's indifference.
- acceptance.

Why it matters

It invites discussion of mortality and of whose perspective shapes stories about other cultures.

Spoilers · teacher only

He remembers watching an old moose brought down by wolves; as the fire dies, wolves close in and he accepts death.

Lesson plan (90 minutes)

0–8 min · Bell-ringer · You do (8 min)

Before we open The Law of Life: Is it ever right for a group to leave someone behind?
Prompt: Before we open The Law of Life: Is it ever right for a group to leave someone behind?

8–18 min · Key terms · I do (10 min)

naturalism; flashback; symbol; interior monologue.

18–28 min · Mini-lecture: author, context, reception · I do (10 min)

About the author. Jack London was born in San Francisco on 12 January 1876 and grew up poor in Oakland, working in a cannery, as an oyster pirate and as a sailor, and riding the rails as a hobo. In 1897 he joined the Klondike Gold Rush in the Yukon; he found no gold but found his subject. The Call of the Wild (1903) made him one of the best-paid writers in the world. A socialist and adventurer, he wrote some 50 books before his death at his California ranch on 22 November 1916. The world of the book. The story depicts a nomadic Indigenous people of the Yukon, whom London portrays in the custom of leaving the frail elderly behind when the tribe moves on in winter. London's view is shaped by his reading of Darwin and Herbert Spencer. Publication and reception. First published in McClure's Magazine in March 1901; collected in Children of the Frost (1902). Then: Read as an exotic adventure tale. Now: Taught as naturalism, and discussed critically for how it represents Indigenous people.

28–40 min · I do: the book in one passage · I do (12 min)

"Old Koskoosh listened greedily" (The Law of Life, paragraph 1). Opening.

> Old Koskoosh listened greedily (The Law of Life, paragraph 1)

Think-aloud: "Old Koskoosh listened greedily" (The Law of Life, paragraph 1). Opening.

40–55 min · We do: overview and themes · We do (15 min)

What the book is about (no spoilers): Old Koskoosh, blind and weak, is left by his tribe beside a small fire as they break camp, as custom demands. Themes to track: the cycle of life and death.: nature's indifference.: acceptance.:

55–70 min · You do: reading journal · You do (15 min)

Set up a reading journal: one page per theme with a prediction and a question.
Task: Set up a reading journal for The Law of Life: one page per theme, each with a prediction and a question.

70–80 min · Discussion · We do (10 min)

Why does The Law of Life still matter? It invites discussion of mortality and of whose perspective shapes stories about other cultures.
Anchor question: Why might The Law of Life still be taught today?
Facilitation: It invites discussion of mortality and of whose perspective shapes stories about other cultures.

80–87 min · Exit ticket · You do (7 min)

How does the moose flashback prepare us for the ending? Answer: It shows the same law of life, the weak falling to wolves, and foreshadows his death.
Exit ticket: How does the moose flashback prepare us for the ending?
Answer: It shows the same law of life, the weak falling to wolves, and foreshadows his death.

87–90 min · Closure · I do (3 min)

Tomorrow we begin reading: The Law of Life.

Teacher notes · sources: Jack London State Historic Park, "Jack London" (https://jacklondonpark.com/jack-london/); Britannica, "Jack London" (https://www.britannica.com/biography/Jack-London); Jack London Online Collection (Sonoma State University) (https://london.sonoma.edu/)

Flags (verify before teaching):

- The depiction of the custom is London's fiction; do not present it as accurate ethnography of any specific nation.

Lesson 2: The Law of Life

Focus: accepting one's place in nature's cycle

Content note (an elder left to die, wolves): Sensitive content: An elder left to die; wolves. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail.
Student preview: Heads-up: this story includes an elder left to die; wolves.
Suggested language: "Why does the writer include this, and what does it make us notice?"

Teacher only · spoilers

Old Koskoosh, blind and frail, is left by his tribe beside a small fire with a pile of sticks as they move camp in the Arctic winter, as custom requires. He remembers the old moose he once watched wolves bring down and accepts that nature cares only for the race, not the individual. When his fire dies, wolves close in; he lets the firebrand fall.

Background: Published in McClure's in 1901 and collected in Children of the Frost (1902). London draws on, and generalizes, accounts of Indigenous Yukon peoples; teachers should discuss this outsider's perspective.

Significance: A compact statement of London's naturalism, paired often with To Build a Fire.

Lesson plan and lecture script (90 minutes)

0–8 min · Bell-ringer · You do (8 min)
Students write to the bell-ringer, then pair-share.
How should a community care for its oldest members? Write for five minutes. Starters: I think... because... / This connects to the cycle of life and death because.... Content note before we start: Heads-up: this story includes an elder left to die; wolves.
Prompt: How should a community care for its oldest members?
Sentence starters: I think… because… · This connects to the cycle of life and death because…
Strong response: A strong response takes a position and anticipates this: the individual is nothing to nature.

8–18 min · Vocabulary with etymology notes · I do (10 min)
Five key words in context, with verified word histories.
Today's words: numbness — partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction; crouched — bend one's back forward from the waist on down; retreated — pull back or move away or backward; footing — the terms of a relationship; one's position; obedient — dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority.
Words: numbness: partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction · crouched: bend one's back forward from the waist on down · retreated: pull back or move away or backward · footing: the terms of a relationship; one's position · obedient: dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority

18–28 min · Background and context · I do (10 min)
Mini-lecture (read or adapt the script).
Published in McClure's in 1901 and collected in Children of the Frost (1902). London draws on, and generalizes, accounts of Indigenous Yukon peoples; teachers should discuss this outsider's perspective. A compact statement of London's naturalism, paired often with To Build a Fire. Point of view: Limited to Koskoosh; we hear what he hears, since he is blind. Flashback: The moose hunt. Symbolism: The fire and its sticks measure his remaining life. Watch for the fire: life running out.

28–40 min · I do: modeled close reading · I do (12 min)
Model the close reading of the anchor quotation using the written think-aloud below.
I read the line once for meaning and once for craft. "Old Koskoosh listened greedily" (The Law of Life, paragraph 1). Sound. That is point of view at work: Limited to Koskoosh; we hear what he hears, since he is blind.

> Old Koskoosh listened greedily (The Law of Life, paragraph 1)

Think-aloud: I read the line once for meaning and once for craft. "Old Koskoosh listened greedily" (The Law of Life, paragraph 1). Sound. That is point of view at work: Limited to Koskoosh; we hear what he hears, since he is blind.

40–55 min · We do: guided annotation · We do (15 min)
Guided analysis of a second quotation; expected answers given.
Ask: What words in this line stand out, and what do they suggest? Expected: Personifying nature as not caring shows the naturalist view of an indifferent universe. Ask: How does this line connect to the cycle of life and death? Expected: The individual is nothing to nature. (Theme.)

> Nature did not care (The Law of Life, paragraph 18)

Ask: What words in this line stand out, and what do they suggest?
Expected answer: Personifying nature as not caring shows the naturalist view of an indifferent universe.
Ask: How does this line connect to the cycle of life and death?
Expected answer: The individual is nothing to nature. (Theme.)

55–70 min · You do: independent annotation · You do (15 min)
Independent annotation and a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph (exemplar given).
Annotate the story for point of view, flashback (three marks with a margin note each), then write one claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph: what does this story suggest about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? Then start your writing prompt at your assigned level (HS Sophomore: Analyze how The Law of Life develops the idea of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of setting and theme shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.)
Exemplar: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. When the text says "Nature did not care" (The Law of Life, paragraph 18), it shows this directly. He reflects that "Nature did not care" for the individual and that "It was the law of all flesh," so he does not fight the wolves.
Task: Annotate the story for point of view, flashback (three marks with a margin note each), then write one claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph: what does this story suggest about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? Then start your writing prompt at your assigned level (HS Sophomore: Analyze how The Law of Life develops the idea of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of setting and theme shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.)
Exemplar: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. When the text says "Nature did not care" (The Law of Life, paragraph 18), it shows this directly. He reflects that "Nature did not care" for the individual and that "It was the law of all flesh," so he does not fight the wolves.

70–80 min · Discussion · We do (10 min)
Structured discussion from the 30 tiered questions, with facilitation notes.
Anchor question: How should a community care for its oldest members? Ask: is acceptance the same as surrender?
Anchor question: How should a community care for its oldest members?
Facilitation: Ask: is acceptance the same as surrender?

80–87 min · Exit ticket / chapter quiz · You do (7 min)
Story quiz in the app and an exit ticket (answer given).
Story quiz in the app, then: In one sentence, what does this story suggest about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? Support it with one short quotation. Model answer: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. ("Nature did not care", The Law of Life, paragraph 18). Accept any defensible claim backed by a quotation from the story; the answer key for the quiz is in the Quiz section.
Exit ticket: In one sentence, what does this story suggest about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? Support it with one short quotation.
Answer: Model answer: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. ("Nature did not care", The Law of Life, paragraph 18). Accept any defensible claim backed by a quotation from the story; the answer key for the quiz is in the Quiz section.

87–90 min · Closure · I do (3 min)
Summarize the lesson and preview the next reading.
Today we saw how point of view shapes accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Key takeaway: the individual is nothing to nature.

Total: 90 minutes.

Teacher analysis (spoilers)

Literary elements

- Point of view: Limited to Koskoosh; we hear what he hears, since he is blind.
- Flashback: The moose hunt.
- Symbolism: The fire and its sticks measure his remaining life.

Themes and how they develop

- the cycle of life and death: the individual is nothing to nature.

Symbols and motifs

- the fire: life running out.

Key quotations (checked against the reading text)

- "Old Koskoosh listened greedily" (The Law of Life, paragraph 1) Sound.
- "Nature did not care" (The Law of Life, paragraph 18) Theme.
- "It was the law of all flesh" (The Law of Life, paragraph 18) Acceptance.

Model claim-evidence-reasoning

Claim: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law.
Evidence: "Nature did not care" (The Law of Life, paragraph 18)
Reasoning: He reflects that "Nature did not care" for the individual and that "It was the law of all flesh," so he does not fight the wolves.

Vocabulary with etymology notes

Word	Definition (in this sentence)	In context	Word history
numbness (noun)	partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction	First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
crouched (verb)	bend one's back forward from the waist on down	There was the time of the Great Famine, when the old men crouched empty-bellied to the fire, and let fall from their lips dim traditions of the ancient day when the Yukon ran wide open for three winters, and then lay frozen for three summers.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
retreated (verb)	pull back or move away or backward	Overcome for the nonce by his hereditary fear of man, the brute retreated, raising a prolonged call to his brothers; and greedily they answered, till a ring of crouching, jaw-slobbered gray was stretched round about.	Student look-up (not yet verified)

footing (noun)	the terms of a relationship; one's position	Twice had he been dragged down, as the snow attested, and twice had he shaken his assailants clear and gained footing once more.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
obedient (adjective)	dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority	Nature did not care; there were plenty who were obedient, and it was only the obedience in this matter, not the obedient, which lived and lived always.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
revived (verb)	came back to life; returned	Then it was the men became high-stomached, and revived ancient quarrels, and crossed the divides to the south to kill the Pellys, and to the west that they might sit by the dead fires of the Tananas.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
wonders (noun)	the feeling aroused by something strange and surprising	The shaman would see signs and wonders in this when they told him.	Student look-up (not yet verified)
concern (noun)	worry and sympathy	She had no concern for that concrete thing called the individual.	Student look-up (not yet verified)

Discussion questions

1. How should a community care for its oldest members?
2. Where does setting appear in this story, and what effect does it have? Point to one passage.
3. How does this story connect to the book's larger concern with the cycle of life and death?

Classroom discussion questions (30, tiered)

Wait time after every question (3 s for DOK 1, 5 s for DOK 2, 8 to 10 s for DOK 3 and 4); think-pair-share on DOK 3 and 4; answer each response with a follow-up probe; close with student-generated questions. Focus sets by rigor level: Middle School: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 21, 22; HS Freshman: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24; HS Sophomore: 1, 2, 3, 4, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 23, 24, 25; HS Junior: 1, 2, 3, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 24, 25, 26, 27; HS Senior: 1, 2, 3, 15, 16, 17, 18, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29; AP: 1, 2, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30; College Freshman: 1, 2, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 27, 28, 29, 30; College Sophomore: 1, 2, 11, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30; College Junior: 1, 11, 12, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30; College Senior: 1, 11, 12, 13, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 30; Graduate / PhD: 1, 11, 12, 13, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28

Literal / recall

1. Why is Koskoosh left behind? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: He is too old and weak to travel with the tribe
2. What is left with him? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A small fire and a pile of sticks
3. Who leads the tribe now? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: His son, the chief
4. What memory does Koskoosh recall? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Wolves bringing down an old moose
5. What does 'the law of life' mean in the story? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Nature cares for the race, not the individual

6. Retell the three most important events of “The Law of Life” in order, in one sentence each. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Old Koskoosh, blind and frail, is left by his tribe beside a small fire with a pile of sticks as they move camp in the Arctic winter, as custom requires. He remembers the old moose he once watched wolves bring down and accepts that nature cares only for the race, not the individual. When his fire dies, wolves close in; he lets the firebrand fall.
7. Which characters appear or are mentioned in “The Law of Life”? Name two and one thing each says or does. [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Names and actions taken from the story; check against the teacher summary.
8. Where and when does “The Law of Life” take place? Point to the line that tells you. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A place/time detail quoted from the story.
9. Reread: “First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body.” What does “numbness” mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: numbness: partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction.
10. Reread: “There was the time of the Great Famine, when the old men crouched empty-bellied to the fire, and let fall from their lips dim traditions of the ancient day when the Yukon ran wide open for three winters, and then lay…” What does “crouched” mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: crouched: bend one's back forward from the waist on down.

Inferential / analytical

1. What does “The Law of Life” suggest about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? State the inference and the line that supports it. [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A compact statement of London's naturalism, paired often with To Build a Fire.
2. Find one example of setting in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for where and when events happen and how place shapes action or feeling.
3. How does the theme in this story shape what we understand about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for statements or moments that connect to the book's big ideas.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Old Koskoosh listened greedily” (The Law of Life, paragraph 1): Sound. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “He bowed his head in content till the last noise of the complaining snow had died away, and he knew his son was beyond recall.”, why might London have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “The Law of Life”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Old Koskoosh, blind and frail, is left by his tribe beside a small fire with a pile of sticks as they move camp in the Arctic winter, as custom requires. He remembers the old moose he once watched wolves bring down and accepts that nature cares only for the race, not the individual. When his fire…

6. As the opening story, what does “The Law of Life” set up that the rest of The Law of Life will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Nature did not care” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Theme. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “It was the law of all flesh” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Acceptance. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “How should a community care for its oldest members?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does imagery appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with the cycle of life and death? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for sensory details (sight, sound, cold, light) and what mood they create.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Old Koskoosh listened greedily” (The Law of Life, paragraph 1): Sound. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Published in McClure's in 1901 and collected in Children of the Frost (1902). London draws on, and generalizes, accounts of Indigenous Yukon peoples; teachers should discuss this outsider's perspective. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Nature did not care” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Theme. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A compact statement of London's naturalism, paired often with To Build a Fire.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “It was the law of all flesh” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Acceptance. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Old Koskoosh listened greedily” (The Law of Life, paragraph 1): Sound. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of “The Law of Life” from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Nature did not care” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Theme. On point of view: Limited to Koskoosh; we hear what he hears, since he is blind. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about “The Law of Life”: one recall, one “why/how”, and one “should/what if”. Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “It was the law of all flesh” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Acceptance. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
5. Connect this story to age and community: is the link strong or weak so far? What would London need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Old Koskoosh listened greedily” (The Law of Life, paragraph 1): Sound. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
6. Is the setting in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Nature did not care” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Theme. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. Compare how “The Law of Life” treats accepting one's place in nature's cycle with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does The Law of Life see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “It was the law of all flesh” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Acceptance. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. As the final story, does this ending resolve the cycle of life and death? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Old Koskoosh listened greedily” (The Law of Life, paragraph 1): Sound. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about accepting one's place in nature's cycle? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “Nature did not care” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Theme. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. What question would you most like to ask Jack London about this story, and what answer do you think the text itself gives? [DOK 4 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · ICC-WC-1.5] Look for: A student-generated question answered from evidence.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Koskoosh accepts death because he sees it as nature's law. Useful evidence: “It was the law of all flesh” (The Law of Life, paragraph 18): Acceptance. Theme link: the individual is nothing to nature. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Annotation focus

- Setting: look for where and when events happen and how place shapes action or feeling (anchor passage in the We do segment)
- Also notice Theme: statements or moments that connect to the book's big ideas
- Also notice Imagery: sensory details (sight, sound, cold, light) and what mood they create

Chapter quiz

1. Why is Koskoosh left behind?
   A. He is being punished
   B. He is too old and weak to travel with the tribe
   C. He chooses to hunt
   D. He is sick with plague
2. What is left with him?
   A. A rifle
   B. A sled
   C. A small fire and a pile of sticks
   D. Food for a month
3. Who leads the tribe now?
   A. His son, the chief
   B. A trader
   C. His granddaughter
   D. A shaman

4. What memory does Koskoosh recall?
   A. His wedding
   B. Wolves bringing down an old moose
   C. His first trade
   D. A great flood
5. What does 'the law of life' mean in the story?
   A. Always obey the chief
   B. Nature cares for the race, not the individual
   C. Never be alone
   D. Fire protects life
6. In the line “First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body.”, what does “numbness” most nearly mean?
   A. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
   B. pull back or move away or backward
   C. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   D. the terms of a relationship; one's position
7. In the line “There was the time of the Great Famine, when the old men crouched empty-bellied to the fire, and let fall from their lips dim traditions of the ancient day when the Yukon ran wide open for three winters, and then lay frozen for three summers.”, what does “crouched” most nearly mean?
   A. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
   B. pull back or move away or backward
   C. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   D. the terms of a relationship; one's position

Answer key: 1. B (He is too old and weak to travel with the tribe); 2. C (A small fire and a pile of sticks); 3. A (His son, the chief); 4. B (Wolves bringing down an old moose); 5. B (Nature cares for the race, not the individual); 6. C (partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction); 7. A (bend one's back forward from the waist on down)

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Middle School (250 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track; this story is above the grades 6–8 complexity band, so work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Law of Life,” how does London show accepting one's place in nature's cycle? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the setting you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): In The Law of Life, how does London develop the idea of accepting one's place in nature's cycle? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the setting in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Analyze how The Law of Life develops the idea of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of setting and theme shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Law of Life (where it begins, turns and ends) and its setting shape the reader's understanding of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Law of Life suggests about accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's setting and theme), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Jack London uses setting in The Law of Life to complicate the reader's understanding of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.3, ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.1): Situate The Law of Life within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of accepting one's place in nature's cycle responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Read The Law of Life alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of accepting one's place in nature's cycle follows or bends those conventions, using the setting as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Law of Life and its treatment of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's setting and theme, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Law of Life as evidence for a larger claim about accepting one's place in nature's cycle in The Law of Life. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Law of Life as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of accepting one's place in nature's cycle. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Law of Life.

SAT-style questions

1. Overcome for the nonce by his hereditary fear of man, the brute retreated, raising a prolonged call to his brothers; and greedily they answered, till a ring of crouching, jaw-slobbered gray was stretched round about.

   As used in the text, what does the word "retreated" most nearly mean?

   A. pull back or move away or backward
   B. the feeling aroused by something strange and surprising
   C. came back to life; returned
   D. worry and sympathy

2. He bowed his head in content till the last noise of the complaining snow had died away, and he knew his son was beyond recall. Then his hand crept out in haste to the wood. It alone stood between him and the eternity that yawned in upon him. At last the measure of his life was a handful of fagots. One by one they would go to feed the fire, and just so, step by step, death would creep upon him. When the last stick had surrendered up its heat, the frost would begin to gather strength. First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body. His head would fall forward upon his knees, and he would rest. It was easy. All men must die.

   Which choice best states a central concern of "The Law of Life"?

   A. Revenge carried out with perfect control
   B. A choice the reader must make
   C. Endurance turning to justice
   D. Accepting one's place in nature's cycle

SAT key: 1. A (pull back or move away or backward); 2. D (Accepting one's place in nature's cycle)

Whole-book test

The Law of Life: whole-book test · 90 minutes

Part I: Multiple choice

1. Why is Koskoosh left behind?
   A. He is being punished
   B. He is too old and weak to travel with the tribe
   C. He chooses to hunt
   D. He is sick with plague
2. What is left with him?
   A. A rifle
   B. A sled
   C. A small fire and a pile of sticks
   D. Food for a month
3. Who leads the tribe now?
   A. His son, the chief
   B. A trader
   C. His granddaughter
   D. A shaman
4. What memory does Koskoosh recall?
   A. His wedding
   B. Wolves bringing down an old moose
   C. His first trade
   D. A great flood
5. What does 'the law of life' mean in the story?
   A. Always obey the chief
   B. Nature cares for the race, not the individual
   C. Never be alone
   D. Fire protects life
6. In the line “First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body.”, what does “numbness” most nearly mean?
   A. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
   B. pull back or move away or backward
   C. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   D. the terms of a relationship; one's position

7. In the line “There was the time of the Great Famine, when the old men crouched empty-bellied to the fire, and let fall from their lips dim traditions of the ancient day when the Yukon ran wide open for three winters, and then lay frozen for three summers.”, what does “crouched” most nearly mean?
   A. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
   B. pull back or move away or backward
   C. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   D. the terms of a relationship; one's position
8. As used in the story (“First his feet would yield, then his hands; and the numbness would travel, slowly, from the extremities to the body.”), what does “numbness” mean?
   A. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   B. dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority
   C. worry and sympathy
   D. the terms of a relationship; one's position
9. As used in the story (“There was the time of the Great Famine, when the old men crouched empty-bellied to the fire, and let fall from their lips dim traditions of ”), what does “crouched” mean?
   A. came back to life; returned
   B. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
   C. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
   D. dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority
10. As used in the story (“Overcome for the nonce by his hereditary fear of man, the brute retreated, raising a prolonged call to his brothers; and greedily they answe”), what does “retreated” mean?
    A. the feeling aroused by something strange and surprising
    B. bend one's back forward from the waist on down
    C. pull back or move away or backward
    D. came back to life; returned
11. As used in the story (“Twice had he been dragged down, as the snow attested, and twice had he shaken his assailants clear and gained footing once more.”), what does “footing” mean?
    A. worry and sympathy
    B. pull back or move away or backward
    C. the feeling aroused by something strange and surprising
    D. the terms of a relationship; one's position
12. As used in the story (“Nature did not care; there were plenty who were obedient, and it was only the obedience in this matter, not the obedient, which lived and li”), what does “obedient” mean?
    A. dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority
    B. partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction
    C. the terms of a relationship; one's position
    D. worry and sympathy

Part II: Short answer

1. Explain how the cycle of life and death develops from the beginning of the story to the end. Use two passages.
2. Explain how age and community develops from the beginning of the story to the end. Use two passages.
3. Explain how acceptance develops from the beginning of the story to the end. Use two passages.

Part III: Essay

Choose one of the story's central concerns (the cycle of life and death, age and community, acceptance) and argue how the ending reframes it.

Answer key

Answer key: 1. B (He is too old and weak to travel with the tribe); 2. C (A small fire and a pile of sticks); 3. A (His son, the chief); 4. B (Wolves bringing down an old moose); 5. B (Nature cares for the race, not the individual); 6. C (partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction); 7. A (bend one's back forward from the waist on down); 8. A (partial or total lack of sensation in a part of the body; a symptom of nerve damage or dysfunction); 9. B (bend one's back forward from the waist on down); 10. C (pull back or move away or backward); 11. D (the terms of a relationship; one's position); 12. A (dutifully complying with the commands or instructions of those in authority)

Essay assignments

Essay: The cycle of life and death

Middle School (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track): write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Law of Life teaches about the cycle of life and death. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Jack London develops the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Jack London develops the cycle of life and death across The Law of Life. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Law of Life (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of the cycle of life and death. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Jack London's choices in The Law of Life (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of the cycle of life and death, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.4, ICC-WC-1.7): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Law of Life's treatment of the cycle of life and death in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on the cycle of life and death in The Law of Life, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Essay: Age and community

Middle School (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track): write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Law of Life teaches about age and community. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Jack London develops age and community in The Law of Life. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Jack London develops age and community across The Law of Life. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Law of Life (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of age and community. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of age and community in The Law of Life. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Jack London's choices in The Law of Life (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of age and community, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.4, ICC-WC-1.7): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Law of Life's treatment of age and community in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on age and community in The Law of Life that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on age and community in The Law of Life. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about age and community in The Law of Life, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on age and community in The Law of Life, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Essay: Acceptance

Middle School (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track): write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Law of Life teaches about acceptance. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Jack London develops acceptance in The Law of Life. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Jack London develops acceptance across The Law of Life. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Law of Life (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of acceptance. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of acceptance in The Law of Life. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Jack London's choices in The Law of Life (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of acceptance, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.4, ICC-WC-1.7): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Law of Life's treatment of acceptance in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on acceptance in The Law of Life that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on acceptance in The Law of Life. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about acceptance in The Law of Life, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on acceptance in The Law of Life, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Original Liber et Libri curriculum. Quotations from the public-domain text. Vocabulary definitions are modern and contextual (curated; based on Princeton WordNet 3.0). Word histories appear only where verified (Online Etymology Dictionary, 2026-10-20); other words are student look-ups. AP and Cambridge entries are our own summaries with links, not College Board or Cambridge text; ICC-WC and LeL IDs are Liber et Libri labels. Included with every curriculum purchase and with Classroom Pro.