Lesson 1: Introduction to The Gift of the Magi

Author biography

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter, born on 11 September 1862 in Greensboro, North Carolina. He trained as a pharmacist, moved to Texas, and worked as a draftsman, bank teller and humorous journalist. Convicted of embezzling from the Austin bank where he had worked (he maintained his innocence), he served about three years in the Ohio Penitentiary (1898–1901), where he began publishing stories as O. Henry. In New York he wrote a story a week for the New York World and produced hundreds of tales of ordinary city people, famous for their warmth, wordplay and twist endings. He died in New York on 5 June 1910.

Historical and cultural context

Set in a cheap furnished flat in New York at the start of the twentieth century, when millions of clerks and shop workers lived on a few dollars a week. The title refers to the Magi of the Gospel of Matthew, who brought gifts to the infant Jesus, the origin of Christmas gift-giving.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in the New York Sunday World on 10 December 1905; collected in The Four Million (1906), whose title answers the claim that only "four hundred" people in New York society mattered.

Then: Immediately popular; it helped make O. Henry the best-known story writer in America.

Now: One of the most adapted and anthologized Christmas stories, the classic example of situational irony and the "twist ending."

Overview (spoiler-free)

Della has one dollar and eighty-seven cents to buy her husband Jim a Christmas present. Each of them owns one treasure: her long hair and his gold watch.

Main themes

- sacrificial love.
- poverty and dignity.
- the meaning of gifts.

Why it matters

Students learn how irony shapes meaning and think about what makes a gift valuable.

Spoilers · teacher only

Della sells her hair to buy Jim a chain for his watch; Jim sells his watch to buy her combs for her hair. The narrator calls them the wisest of givers.

On Christmas Eve Della Young has only $1.87 to buy a present for her husband Jim. She sells her long, beautiful hair for twenty dollars and buys a platinum fob chain for Jim's prized gold watch. Jim comes home and reveals he has sold the watch to buy Della a set of tortoise-shell combs for her hair. The narrator calls the two foolish children but declares them the wisest of givers: they are the magi.

Background: O. Henry wrote the story in 1905 for the New York Sunday World. A flat at $8 a week and a $20 salary cut place the Youngs among New York's struggling clerks.

Significance: A classic of situational irony and a Common Core Appendix B grades 9–10 exemplar.

Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.) Exemplar: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. When the text says "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45), it shows this directly. Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let's put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest."

10. Background: O. Henry wrote the story in 1905 for the New York Sunday World. A flat at $8 a week and a $20 salary cut place the Youngs among New York's struggling clerks. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: “let’s put our Christmas presents away and keep’em a while” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44): Jim's gentle response. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Middle School (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track; this story is above the grades 6–8 complexity band, so work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Gift of the Magi,” how does Henry show love measured by sacrifice? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In The Gift of the Magi, how does Henry develop the idea of love measured by sacrifice? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how The Gift of the Magi develops the idea of love measured by sacrifice. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Gift of the Magi (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of love measured by sacrifice. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Gift of the Magi suggests about love measured by sacrifice. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and symbolism), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.NAR, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how O. Henry uses irony in The Gift of the Magi to complicate the reader's understanding of love measured by sacrifice. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate The Gift of the Magi within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of love measured by sacrifice responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read The Gift of the Magi alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of love measured by sacrifice follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Gift of the Magi and its treatment of love measured by sacrifice. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and symbolism, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Gift of the Magi as evidence for a larger claim about love measured by sacrifice in The Gift of the Magi. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Gift of the Magi as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of love measured by sacrifice. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Gift of the Magi.

SAT-style questions

1. Had the Queen of Sheba lived in the flat across the airshaft, Della would have let her hair hang out the window some day to dry just to depreciate Her Majesty's jewels and gifts.

   As used in the text, what does the word "depreciate" most nearly mean?

   A. to belittle; to speak of as unimportant

   B. showy but cheap or without real value

   C. not important

   D. things that decorate or beautify

2. While the mistress of the home is gradually subsiding from the first stage to the second, take a look at the home. A furnished flat at $8 per week. It did not exactly beggar description, but it certainly had that word on the lookout for the mendicancy squad.

   Which choice best states a central concern of "The Gift of the Magi"?

   A. Love measured by sacrifice

   B. Hope created by an act of sacrifice

   C. A symbol of hidden sin that isolates its wearer

   D. Science that poisons love

SAT key: 1. A (to belittle; to speak of as unimportant); 2. A (Love measured by sacrifice)
