Lesson 1: Introduction to Rikki-Tikki-Tavi

Author biography

Rudyard Kipling was born in Bombay (Mumbai), India, on 30 December 1865, was sent to England for schooling at five, and returned to India at sixteen as a journalist. His stories and poems of British India made him famous; The Jungle Book (1894), which includes "Rikki-Tikki-Tavi," was written while he lived in Vermont. In 1907 he became the first English-language writer to win the Nobel Prize in Literature. His work is admired for its craft and criticized for its celebration of empire. He died in London on 18 January 1936.

Historical and cultural context

Set in a British bungalow in colonial India (the Raj), with an English family as the mongoose's protected household. Kipling grew up partly in India.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in The Jungle Book (1894), possibly earlier in magazines.

Then: Popular immediately.

Now: A beloved animal adventure, also discussed critically for its colonial viewpoint.

Overview (spoiler-free)

A young mongoose is rescued by an English family and guards their garden against two cobras, Nag and Nagaina.

Main themes

- courage.
- loyalty and protection.
- good versus evil.

Why it matters

Students learn about conflict and characterization, and can discuss perspective.

Spoilers · teacher only

Rikki kills Nag in the bathroom, destroys the eggs and follows Nagaina into her hole, killing her.

Mini-lecture (read or adapt the script).
Published in The Jungle Book (1894). Kipling, born in Bombay, wrote from within British colonial India; teachers may discuss that perspective. A widely taught middle-school story for conflict, characterization and personification. Personification: The animals speak, scheme and grieve (Darzee the tailorbird sings victory songs; Nagaina plots revenge), so the garden becomes a battlefield with characters. Conflict: Rikki against the cobras; each battle (Karait, Nag, the eggs, Nagaina) raises the stakes. Characterization: Rikki is curious, brave and loyal; Nagaina is cunning; Darzee is foolish but loyal. Watch for the garden: an Eden with serpents in it, which Rikki defends.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Middle School (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Excerpt-based (Middle School support track; this story is above the grades 6–8 complexity band, so work from the passage your teacher selects). In “Rikki-Tikki-Tavi,” how does Kipling show courage in defense of home? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the characterization you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In Rikki-Tikki-Tavi, how does Kipling develop the idea of courage in defense of home? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the characterization in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how Rikki-Tikki-Tavi develops the idea of courage in defense of home. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of characterization and conflict shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of Rikki-Tikki-Tavi (where it begins, turns and ends) and its characterization shape the reader's understanding of courage in defense of home. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what Rikki-Tikki-Tavi suggests about courage in defense of home. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's characterization and conflict), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Rudyard Kipling uses characterization in Rikki-Tikki-Tavi to complicate the reader's understanding of courage in defense of home. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate Rikki-Tikki-Tavi within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of courage in defense of home responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read Rikki-Tikki-Tavi alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of courage in defense of home follows or bends those conventions, using the characterization as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to Rikki-Tikki-Tavi and its treatment of courage in defense of home. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's characterization and conflict, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads Rikki-Tikki-Tavi as evidence for a larger claim about courage in defense of home in Rikki-Tikki-Tavi. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads Rikki-Tikki-Tavi as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of courage in defense of home. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on Rikki-Tikki-Tavi.

SAT-style questions

1. Rikki-tikki licked his lips. "This is a splendid hunting-ground," he said, and his tail grew bottle-brushy at the thought of it, and he scuttled up and down the garden, snuffing here and there till he heard very sorrowful voices in a thorn-bush.

   As used in the text, what does the word “scuttled” most nearly mean?

   A. ran with short quick steps

   B. came back to life; returned

   C. drifting on water

   D. to claim

2. THIS is the story of the great war that Rikki-tikki-tavi fought single-handed, through the bath-rooms of the big bungalow in Segowlee cantonment. Darzee, the tailor-bird, helped him, and Chuchundra, the muskrat, who never comes out into the middle of the floor, but always creeps round by the wall, gave him advice; but Rikki-tikki did the real fighting.

Which choice best states a central concern of "Rikki-Tikki-Tavi"?

A. A boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion

B. Wishes that defy fate

C. Courage in defense of home

D. A choice the reader must make

SAT key: 1. A (ran with short quick steps); 2. C (Courage in defense of home)
