Lesson 1: Introduction to The Revolt of "Mother"

Objective: Students will explain, in a 3-sentence exit ticket, how one fact about Mary E. Wilkins Freeman's life or times connects to women's rights in marriage in “The Revolt of "Mother"”, and will set up a reading journal with a prediction and a question for each of 3 themes (women's rights in marriage, home and dignity, quiet rebellion).

Author biography

Mary E. Wilkins Freeman was born in Randolph, Massachusetts, on 31 October 1852 and grew up in Randolph and Brattleboro, Vermont. After her parents' deaths left her with little money, she supported herself by writing; her collections A Humble Romance (1887) and A New England Nun (1891) portray the lives, especially women's lives, of small New England villages. In 1926 she received the William Dean Howells Medal for fiction. She died on 13 March 1930.

Historical and cultural context

Set in rural New England in the late nineteenth century, when farm wives had no legal claim to family property and few public voices. The title echoes the Revolution of 1776.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in Harper's New Monthly Magazine in September 1890; collected in A New England Nun and Other Stories (1891).

Then: Very popular; Freeman later wrote that it was unrealistic.

Now: Taught for its feminist themes and local colour.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Sarah Penn learns that her husband Adoniram is building a new barn on the spot where, forty years before, he had promised to build her a new house.

Main themes

- women's rights.
- marriage and communication.
- quiet rebellion.

Why it matters

It shows quiet, persistent resistance and invites comparisons to modern equality debates.

Spoilers · teacher only

While Adoniram is away, Sarah moves the family into the barn; he returns, is astonished, and agrees to fit it up as a house.

For forty years Sarah Penn has waited for the new house her husband Adoniram promised. Instead he builds another barn. While he is away buying a horse, she moves the family and furniture into the new barn and makes it a home. Adoniram returns, is stunned, and weeps, saying he will put up partitions and windows: he never knew she was so set on it.

Background: Published in Harper's Bazar in 1890. Freeman wrote about rural New England, where farm wives had little legal say over property.

Significance: A regionalist story about a woman's independence; often paired with A Jury of Her Peers and The Story of an Hour.

First, meaning. I read "What are they digging for, mother" slowly and put it in my own words: Sarah asks her husband what the workers are digging, and he will not answer her. Next, craft. I notice it is a simple question, and the refusal to answer it says more than a long speech. The strongest word is "digging": it is the start of the new barn, the thing that will spark her revolt. Then, effect. Why does Sarah ask what the men are digging for? My answer: Sarah asks what the men are digging for because her husband makes major decisions without telling her; her question shows how little voice she has, which drives her to act.

[DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: For forty years Sarah Penn has waited for the new house her husband Adoniram promised. Instead he builds another barn. While he is away buying a horse, she moves the family and furniture into the new barn and makes it a home. Adoniram returns, is stunned, and weeps, saying he will put up partitions…
6. As the opening story, what does “The Revolt of "Mother"” set up that the rest of The Revolt of "Mother" will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165): The end. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “I hadn't no idee you was so set on't” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 166): Adoniram. On characterization: Sarah is patient and firm; Adoniram is silent. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “How can someone stand up for themselves without shouting?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does diction / vocabulary appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with women's rights in marriage? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Look for precise or unusual word choices and their connotations.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23): The question. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Published in Harper's Bazar in 1890. Freeman wrote about rural New England, where farm wives had little legal say over property. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165): The end. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A regionalist story about a woman's independence; often paired with A Jury of Her Peers and The Story of an Hour.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23): The question. On characterization: Sarah is patient and firm; Adoniram is silent. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of “The Revolt of "Mother"” from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165): The end. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about “The Revolt of "Mother"”: one recall, one “why/how”, and one “should/what if”. Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “I hadn't no idee you was so set on't” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 166): Adoniram. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
5. Connect this story to home and dignity: is the link strong or weak so far? What would Freeman need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23): The question. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
6. Is the characterization in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165): The end. On characterization: Sarah is patient and firm; Adoniram is silent. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how “The Revolt of "Mother"” treats a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does The Revolt of "Mother" see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “I hadn't no idee you was so set on't” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 166): Adoniram. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. As the final story, does this ending resolve women's rights in marriage? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Useful evidence: “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23): The question. Theme link: she acts rather than argues. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. 12. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 8 reveal about the character or situation? “He ran his words together, and his speech was almost as inarticulate as a growl.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 8) accurately and quotes “inarticulate” and “together”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 83 reveal about the character or situation? “She had pleaded her little cause like a Webster; she had ranged from severity to pathos; but her opponent employed that obstinate silence which makes eloquence futile with mocking echoes.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 83) accurately and quotes “obstinate” and “eloquence”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze the word choice in “I hadn't no idee you was so set on't” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 166). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: Adoniram. The words “I hadn't no idee you was so set on't” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 166) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 52 shapes its tone: “"Well, I don't think you'd better, a good father an' a good home as you've got.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 52) accurately and quotes “father” and “you've”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Synthesis: trace how quiet rebellion develops from the opening of “The Revolt of "Mother"” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: She acts rather than argues: the end. The words “The Revolt of "Mother"” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues. Adoniram admits "I hadn't no idee you was so set on't," and "Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph.".

17. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · RL.9-10.3] What does Sarah do?

    A. Leaves her husband

    B. Moves the family into the new barn

C. Sells the farm

D. Burns the barn

Key: B (Moves the family into the new barn)

18. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Complete the quotation from The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was _____ by her own triumph”

Key: overcome

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · RL.9-10.3] How does Adoniram react?

A. He is furious

B. He moves out

C. He sells the barn

D. He weeps and agrees to finish it as a house

Key: D (He weeps and agrees to finish it as a house)

20. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What can you infer from this line? “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

Sample answer: The question. The words “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 31 shapes its tone: “He turned, and showed a face like his father's under his smooth crest of hair.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 31) accurately and quotes “father's” and “turned”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 98 shapes its tone: “Sammy only grunted after an odd fashion for a boy; he had learned it from his father.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 98) accurately and quotes “grunted” and “learned”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Connect this passage from paragraph 68 to the story's treatment of women's rights in marriage: “Penn led the way into the kitchen, and pointed to a chair.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 68) accurately and quotes “kitchen” and “pointed”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to women's rights in marriage and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

24. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 60? “She was going down to the store to buy some more _____ and thread.”

A. married

B. buildin

C. dishes

D. embroidery

Key: D (embroidery)

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 113 shapes its tone: “She formed a maxim for herself, although incoherently with her unlettered thoughts.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 113) accurately and quotes “incoherently” and “unlettered”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

26. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “When he had cleared the door-step, he turned and looked back with a kind of nervous _____. "I shall be back by Saturday if nothin' happens," said he.” Word bank: solemnity, inspecting, sedulous, scuttled
Key: solemnity

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Connect this passage from paragraph 139 to the story's treatment of women's rights in marriage: “At last she looked up, and her eyes showed the spirit that her meek front had covered for a lifetime.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 139) accurately and quotes “lifetime” and “covered”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to women's rights in marriage and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Connect this passage from paragraph 77 to the story's treatment of women's rights in marriage: “All my children were born there—the two that died, an' the two that's livin'.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 77) accurately and quotes “children” and “that's”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to women's rights in marriage and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Evaluate this claim about the story: “Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed.” Is it fully persuasive? Argue with evidence, including a passage that complicates it.
Sample answer: The claim is persuasive only in part. In support, “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) bears it out: Adoniram admits "I hadn't no idee you was so set on't," and "Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph.". But “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23) complicates it, because this detail (the question) gives the reader a second explanation to weigh against the claim's reading. So the claim holds only once it is qualified: it explains much of the story, but it has to account for that passage too, which it does not do on its own.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.3] Connect this passage from paragraph 128 to the story's treatment of women's rights in marriage: “She brought out cups and saucers, and put them in with the plates.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 128) accurately and quotes “saucers” and “brought”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to women's rights in marriage and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of women's rights in marriage: she acts rather than argues.

31. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] In the line “Men assembled in the store and talked it over, women with shawls over their heads scuttled into each other's houses before their work was done.”, what does “scuttled” most nearly mean?

    A. careful and persistent

    B. looking at closely; examining

    A. ran with short quick steps

    B. careful and persistent

    C. looking at closely; examining

    D. talk indistinctly; usually in a low voice

    Key: B (careful and persistent)

34. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “Nanny was to be married in the fall, and she was sewing on some white _____ and embroidery.” Word bank: cambric, sedulous, scuttled, inspecting

    Key: cambric

35. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · L.9-10.4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: The question. The words “What are they digging for, mother” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 23) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues. Adoniram admits "I hadn't no idee you was so set on't," and "Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph.".

36. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] In the line “Penn did not speak of it, and Adoniram did not mention it to her, although sometimes, upon a return from inspecting it, he bore himself with injured dignity.”, what does “inspecting” most nearly mean?

    A. ran with short quick steps

    B. careful and persistent

    C. looking at closely; examining

    Sample answer: The end. The words “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues. Adoniram admits "I hadn't no idee you was so set on't," and "Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph.".

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Revolt of "Mother",” how does Freeman show a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the characterization you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In The Revolt of "Mother", how does Freeman develop the idea of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the characterization in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how The Revolt of "Mother" develops the idea of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of characterization and conflict shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Revolt of "Mother" (where it begins, turns and ends) and its characterization shape the reader's understanding of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Revolt of "Mother" suggests about a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's characterization and conflict), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Mary E. Wilkins Freeman uses characterization in The Revolt of "Mother" to complicate the reader's understanding of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate The Revolt of "Mother" within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read The Revolt of "Mother" alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home follows or bends those conventions, using the characterization as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Revolt of "Mother" and its treatment of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's characterization and conflict, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Revolt of "Mother" as evidence for a larger claim about a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home in The Revolt of "Mother". Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Revolt of "Mother" as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of a wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Revolt of "Mother".

SAT-style questions

1. Penn did not speak of it, and Adoniram did not mention it to her, although sometimes, upon a return from inspecting it, he bore himself with injured dignity.

   As used in the text, what does the word “inspecting” most nearly mean?

   A. create by putting components or members together

   C. a trait of dignified seriousness

   D. pull back or move away or backward

2. Sarah Penn's face as she rolled her pies had that expression of meek vigor which might have characterized one of the New Testament saints. She was making mince-pies. Her husband, Adoniram Penn, liked them better than any other kind. She baked twice a week. Adoniram often liked a piece of pie between meals. She hurried this morning. It had been later than usual when she began, and she wanted to have a pie baked for dinner. However deep a resentment she might be forced to hold against her husband, she would never fail in sedulous attention to his wants.

   Which choice best states a central concern of “The Revolt of "Mother"”?

   B. A woman's brief taste of freedom

   C. A girl's first encounter with death across the class line

   D. Hope created by an act of sacrifice

SAT key: 1. B (looking at closely; examining); 2. A (A wife's quiet rebellion for a decent home)

Unit test

The Revolt of "Mother": end test · 90 minutes · 18 questions per rigor version (multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer). The class rigor level picks the version; student auto-adjust applies.

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 134 reveal about the character or situation? "There is a certain uncanny and superhuman quality about all such purely original undertakings as their mother's was to them." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 134) accurately and quotes "undertakings" and "superhuman", saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

13. [mc · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.5] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “There was a sudden dropping and enlarging of the lower part of the old man's face, as if some heavy weight had settled therein; he shut his…”

    B. “He ran his words together, and his speech was almost as inarticulate as a growl.”

    C. “The spring air, full of the smell of growing grass and unseen blossoms, came in their faces.”

    D. “She looked as immovable to him as one of the rocks in his pasture-land, bound to the earth with generations of blackberry vines.”

    Key: A (“There was a sudden dropping and enlarging of the lower part of the old man's face, as if some heavy weight had settled therein; he shut his…”)

14. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 45 reveal about the character or situation? “"Mother," said she, "don't you think it's too bad father's going to build that new barn, much as we need a decent house to live in?"” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 45) accurately and quotes “father's” and “Mother”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 76 shapes its tone: “What would you have thought, father, if we had had our weddin' in a room no better than this?” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 76) accurately and quotes “thought” and “weddin'”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 142 shapes its tone: “Hersey," said she, "but there are things people hadn't ought to interfere with.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 142) accurately and quotes “interfere” and “things”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 119 to the story's treatment of home and dignity: “"Don't you put the hay in that barn; put it in the old one."” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 119) accurately and quotes its key words, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to home and dignity and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

18. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 76 reveal about the character or situation? “I ain't never complained, an' I ain't goin' to complain now, but I'm goin' to talk plain.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 76) accurately and quotes “complained” and “complain”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

19. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 106 reveal about the character or situation? “He looked at his wife, and his manner was defiantly apologetic, "If them cows come to-day,

Sammy can drive 'em into the new barn," said he; "an' when they bring the hay up, they can pitch it in there.'" Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 106) accurately and quotes “apologetic” and “defiantly”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 136 shapes its tone: “The harness-room, with its chimney and shelves, would make a kitchen of her dreams.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 136) accurately and quotes “harness” and “kitchen”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 89 shapes its tone: “She had taken down her curl-papers, and there was a soft roll of fair hair like an aureole over her forehead; her face was as delicately fine and clear as porcelain.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 89) accurately and quotes “delicately” and “porcelain”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 59 shapes its tone: “"I don't see what you let him go for, mother," said he.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 59) accurately and quotes “mother”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 103 to the story's treatment of home and dignity: “"I hate to go off jest now, right in the midst of hayin', but the ten-acre lot's cut, an' I guess Rufus an' the others can git along without me three or four days.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 103) accurately and quotes “without” and “hayin'”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to home and dignity and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

24. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.3] What can you infer from this line? “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The end. The words “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 12 shapes its tone: “She looked as immovable to him as one of the rocks in his pasture-land, bound to the earth with generations of blackberry vines.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 12) accurately and quotes “generations” and “blackberry”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

26. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 124 shapes its tone: “"I thought father wanted them to put the hay into the new barn?" she said, wonderingly.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 124) accurately and quotes “wonderingly” and “thought”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 56 to the story's treatment of home and dignity: “Nobility of character manifests itself at loop-holes when it is not provided with large doors.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 56) accurately and quotes “manifests” and “character”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to home and dignity and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.11-12.2] Claim: Sarah's action succeeds where forty years of words failed. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165).

    Sample answer: Adoniram admits "I hadn't no idee you was so set on't," and "Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph.". The words “Sarah put her apron up to her face; she was overcome by her own triumph” (The Revolt of "Mother", paragraph 165) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 93 to the story's treatment of quiet rebellion: “"We might have the wedding in the new barn," said Nanny, with gentle pettishness.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 93) accurately and quotes “pettishness” and “wedding”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to quiet rebellion and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 146 to the story's treatment of quiet rebellion: “The children watched Adoniram leave the new horse standing in the drive while he went to the house door.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 146) accurately and quotes “Adoniram” and “standing”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to quiet rebellion and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 21 to the story's treatment of quiet rebellion: “The house, standing at right angles with the great barn and a long reach of sheds and out-buildings, was infinitesimal compared with them.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 21) accurately and quotes “infinitesimal” and “buildings”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to quiet rebellion and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of quiet rebellion: she acts rather than argues.

32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.11-12.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 79 shapes its tone: “It ain't so good as your horse's stall; it ain't so warm an' tight."” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 79) accurately and quotes “horse's”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

33. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 43 to the story's treatment of home and dignity: “She went into the pantry, and there was a clatter of dishes.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 43) accurately and quotes “clatter” and “dishes”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to home and dignity and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of home and dignity: she acts rather than argues.

Final paper

The Revolt of "Mother": final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Mary E. Wilkins Freeman develops women's rights in marriage across The Revolt of "Mother". Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Revolt of "Mother" and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to home and dignity.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Revolt of "Mother". Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Revolt of "Mother" finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of quiet rebellion. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.
Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.

Essay assignments
