Grades: Grades 9–12 (accessible text, well suited to the scaffolded-support track; scales to graduate via rigor levels). Short story: read whole in one 90-minute lesson (assign longer stories as pre-reading). The scaffolded-support track works from the full text with scaffolds. Weeks: 1. Class days: 2 × 90 minutes (1 chapter lessons plus seminar, test and essay days).

Essential questions

- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about youth and folly?
- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about the desire to relive the past?
- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about human nature?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in Salem, Massachusetts, on 4 July 1804; his ancestor John Hathorne was a judge in the Salem witch trials of 1692, a family history Hawthorne felt as a burden. He later changed the spelling of his surname to Hawthorne; why is uncertain, though many link it to his discomfort with his ancestors. After graduating from Bowdoin College in 1825 he spent years writing in near-seclusion in Salem, publishing Twice-Told Tales in 1837. He lived briefly at the utopian Brook Farm community, worked at the Salem Custom House, and achieved fame with The Scarlet Letter (1850) and The House of the Seven Gables (1851). He served as U.S. consul in Liverpool and died on 19 May 1864 in Plymouth, New Hampshire.

Historical and cultural context

The story plays on the legend of the Fountain of Youth, which tradition (not evidence) links to the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de León in Florida. The 1830s were also a time of popular quack medicine and "scientific" curiosity.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published as "The Fountain of Youth" in the Knickerbocker magazine in January 1837; collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837) under its present title.

Then: One of the tales that made Twice-Told Tales a modest success.

Now: Often taught with "The Minister's Black Veil" as a short, clear example of Hawthorne's allegory and irony.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vanity, greed or pleasure, to test water from the Fountain of Youth.

Main themes

- failure to learn from experience.
- vanity and the desire for youth.
- science and folly.

Why it matters

The story questions whether people really change, and pokes at today's obsession with staying young.

Spoilers · teacher only

They grow young and repeat all their old follies, fighting over the widow; the vase breaks, the effect fades, and instead of learning the lesson they resolve to go to Florida and drink there forever.

Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vice, to test water from the Fountain of Youth. A withered rose revives in it. The guests drink, grow young, and repeat their old follies: flirting with the widow Wycherly and fighting over her until they knock the vase to the floor. The effect wears off; the rose withers. The doctor has learned his lesson, but the guests resolve to go to Florida to drink from the fountain.

Background: Collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837); Ponce de León's legendary search in Florida is the allusion.

Significance: A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.

[DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.

2. Find one example of irony in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for gaps between what characters expect or say and what is true.
3. How does the symbolism in this story shape what we understand about the foolishness of wishing to be young again? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13): The legend. On symbolism: The withered rose that blooms and withers again mirrors the guests. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “'This rose,' said Dr.”, why might Hawthorne have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vice, to test water from the Fountain of Youth. A withered rose revives in it. The guests drink, grow young, and repeat their old follies: flirting with the widow Wycherly and fighting over her until they knock the vase to the floor…
6. As the opening story, what does “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment” set up that the rest of Dr. Heidegger's Experiment will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): Heidegger's lesson. Theme link: they resolve to go to Florida. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): His conclusion. On characterization: Each guest stands for a vice: Mr. Medbourne (greed), Colonel Killigrew (pleasure), Mr. Gascoigne (political ambition), Widow Wycherly (vanity). Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “If you could be ten years older or younger for a day, what would you do differently?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does characterization appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with youth and folly? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for what characters say, do and think, and how others react to them.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13): The legend. On characterization: Each guest stands for a vice: Mr. Medbourne

(greed), Colonel Killigrew (pleasure), Mr. Gascoigne (political ambition), Widow Wycherly (vanity). Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. Background: Collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837); Ponce de León's legendary search in Florida is the allusion. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): Heidegger's lesson. Theme link: they resolve to go to Florida. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.

11. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.1] What does this passage from paragraph 25 reveal about the character or situation? "Heidegger, who sat watching the experiment, with philosophic coolness. 'You have been a long time growing old." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 25) accurately and quotes "philosophic" and "experiment", saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.1] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? "On the summer afternoon of our tale, a small round table, as black as ebony, stood in the centre of the room, sustaining a cut-glass vase, of beautiful form and elaborate workmanship." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 4) accurately and quotes "workmanship" and "sustaining", saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It then states the inference in one sentence and backs it with that detail.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.1] What can you infer from this line? “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The legend. The words “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself.
14. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 37 shapes its tone: “'Pray excuse me,' answered the doctor, quietly. 'I am old and rheumatic, and my dancing days were over long ago.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 37) accurately and quotes “rheumatic” and “answered”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 27 shapes its tone: “'My dear widow, you are charming!' cried Colonel Killigrew, whose eyes had been fixed upon her face, while the shadows of age were flitting from it like darkness from the crimson daybreak.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 27) accurately and quotes “Killigrew” and “charming”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Connect this passage from paragraph 42 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “Still keeping hold of the fair prize, they grappled fiercely at one another's throats.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 42) accurately and quotes “another's” and “grappled”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to youth and folly and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
17. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 7? “_____ hobbled across the chamber, and returned with the same ponderous folio, bound in black leather, which common report affirmed to be a book of magic.”

    A. Heidegger
    B. inscriptions
    C. reflected
    D. wondrous

    Key: A (Heidegger)
18. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: “Heidegger, motioning them to be seated, 'I am desirous of your assistance in one of those little _____ with which I amuse myself here in my study.'” Word bank: ridiculous, Heidegger, experiments, eccentricity
    Key: experiments
19. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze the word choice in “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.
    Sample answer: His conclusion. The words “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida.

20. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Connect this passage from paragraph 44 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “Heidegger, who sat in his carved arm-chair, holding the rose of half a century, which he had rescued from among the fragments of the shattered vase.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 44) accurately and quotes “shattered” and “fragments”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to youth and folly and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
21. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · L.9-10.4] Complete the quotation from paragraph 14: “'But did Ponce De Leon ever find it?' said the Widow _____.” Word bank: Wycherly, reflected, respectable, trouble
    Key: Wycherly
22. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · L.9-10.4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Heidegger's lesson. The words “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida. The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.".

    Key: D (A dried rose from fifty-five years ago)
24. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 15 shapes its tone: “The famous Fountain of Youth, if I am rightly informed, is situated in the southern part of the Floridian peninsula, not far from Lake Macaco.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 15) accurately and quotes “peninsula” and “Floridian”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Connect this passage from paragraph 17 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “With your permission, therefore, I will merely watch the progress of the experiment.'” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 17) accurately and quotes “experiment” and “permission”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to youth and folly and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Synthesis: trace how failure to learn from experience develops from the opening of “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.
    Sample answer: They resolve to go to Florida. The words “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida. The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.".

27. [short · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.1] What can you infer from this line? “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: Heidegger's lesson. The words “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself.
28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · L.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “'Nonsense!' said the Widow Wycherly, with a peevish toss of her head. 'You might as well ask whether an old woman's wrinkled face could ever bloom again.'” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 9) accurately and quotes “'Nonsense” and “wrinkled”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It explains the tone those words create (for example, whether they make the moment tense, ironic or tender) and why the author chose them. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Connect this passage from paragraph 22 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “They drank off the water, and replaced their glasses on the table.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: A model answer paraphrases the passage (paragraph 22) accurately and quotes “replaced” and “glasses”, saying what those words show about the speaker or situation at that moment. It links the passage to youth and folly and to one other named moment in the story. The unit's reading of youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida.
30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · RL.9-10.1] Evaluate this claim about the story: “Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes.” Is it fully persuasive? Argue with evidence, including a passage that complicates it.
    Sample answer: The claim is persuasive only in part. In support, “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) bears it out: The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.". But “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) complicates it, because this detail (his conclusion) gives the reader a second explanation to weigh against the claim's reading. So the claim holds only once it is qualified: it explains much of the story, but it has to account for that passage too, which it does not do on its own.
31. [mc · inference · DOK 2 · RL.9-10.1] Which choice best states a central concern of “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment”?

    A. A choice the reader must make
    B. Guilt that the mind cannot hide
    C. The hunter becoming the hunted
    D. The foolishness of wishing to be young again

    Key: D (The foolishness of wishing to be young again)
32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · RL.9-10.1] Claim: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51).
    Sample answer: The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.". The words “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) are the evidence: their wording makes this point in the text itself. This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment,” how does Hawthorne show the foolishness of wishing to be young again? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): In Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, how does Hawthorne develop the idea of the foolishness of wishing to be young again? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Analyze how Dr. Heidegger's Experiment develops the idea of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO3): Analyze how the structure of Dr. Heidegger's Experiment (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5): Two readers disagree about what Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggests about the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and symbolism), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Nathaniel Hawthorne uses irony in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment to complicate the reader's understanding of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Situate Dr. Heidegger's Experiment within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Read Dr. Heidegger's Experiment alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of the foolishness of wishing to be young again follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to Dr. Heidegger's Experiment and its treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and symbolism, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads Dr. Heidegger's Experiment as evidence for a larger claim about the foolishness of wishing to be young again in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads Dr. Heidegger's Experiment as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on Dr. Heidegger's Experiment.

SAT-style questions

1. As for the Widow Wycherly, tradition tells us that she was a great beauty in her day; but, for a long while past, she had lived in deep seclusion, on account of certain scandalous stories, which had prejudiced the gentry of the town against her.

   As used in the text, what does the word "scandalous" most nearly mean?

   A. speaking about briefly
   B. giving offense to moral sensibilities and injurious to reputation
   C. in an uncertain or unsure way
   D. a woman of good family and manners

2. 'This rose,' said Dr. Heidegger, with a sigh, 'this same withered and crumbling flower, blossomed five-and-fifty years ago. It was given me by Sylvia Ward, whose portrait hangs yonder; and I meant to wear it in my bosom at our wedding. Five-and-fifty years it has been treasured between the leaves of this old volume. Now, would you deem it possible that this rose of half a century could ever bloom again?'

   Which choice best states a central concern of "Dr. Heidegger's Experiment"?

   A. A symbol of hidden sin that isolates its wearer
   B. A story told to protect a livelihood
   C. Self-destruction and the urge to do wrong
   D. The foolishness of wishing to be young again

SAT key: 1. B (giving offense to moral sensibilities and injurious to reputation); 2. D (The foolishness of wishing to be young again)

Final paper

Dr. Heidegger's Experiment: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Nathaniel Hawthorne develops youth and folly across Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to the desire to relive the past.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether Dr. Heidegger's Experiment finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of human nature. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.
