Essential questions

- What does An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge suggest about illusion and reality?
- What does An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge suggest about war and death?
- What does An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge suggest about time?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Ambrose Bierce was born in Meigs County, Ohio, on 24 June 1842. He fought for the Union in the Civil War, at Shiloh and Chickamauga, and was seriously wounded in the head at Kennesaw Mountain in 1864. Afterwards he became a sharp-tongued San Francisco journalist and columnist, known as "Bitter Bierce," and wrote war stories and ghost stories collected in Tales of Soldiers and Civilians (1891) and the satirical Devil's Dictionary (1906; 1911). In late 1913 he travelled into revolutionary Mexico and disappeared; his fate is unknown.

Historical and cultural context

The story is set in northern Alabama during the American Civil War (1861–1865). Union forces held railroads in the region and executed civilians caught sabotaging them. Bierce had fought for the Union at Shiloh and Chickamauga, and his war stories are known for their unsentimental view of death.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in the San Francisco Examiner on 13 July 1890; collected in Tales of Soldiers and Civilians (1891, later retitled In the Midst of Life).

Then: Admired by a limited audience; Bierce's grim war fiction did not sell widely.

Now: One of the most famous American short stories, a landmark of non-linear structure and the twist ending; Robert Enrico's French film adaptation (1962) won an Academy Award and aired on The Twilight Zone in 1964.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Peyton Farquhar, a Southern planter, is about to be hanged from a railroad bridge by Union soldiers. The story moves back in time to explain why, then follows him as the rope breaks and he tries to escape home to his wife.

Main themes

- perception and time.
- the romance and reality of war.
- illusion versus reality.

Why it matters

Students learn to track point of view and time shifts, and to question narrators, skills useful for film as well as fiction.

Spoilers · teacher only

The escape takes place only in his mind in the moments before death; the final line reveals his body hanging from the bridge.

First, meaning. I read "Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side beneath the timbers of the Owl Creek bridge" slowly and put it in my own words: The last sentence tells us flatly that Farquhar was dead, his body swinging under the bridge. Next, craft. I notice the calm, factual words ("was dead," "swung gently") come right after pages of rushing escape, so the flat tone itself is the shock. The strongest word is "gently": it is a soft, almost peaceful word set beside "a broken neck," and the clash makes the ending colder. Then, effect. What does this sentence reveal about how Bierce built the whole story? My answer: Bierce, a Civil War veteran, writes the escape as a dream and then states the hard fact plainly; the whole story is a trap about how war treats a hopeful mind.

Lesson 2: An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge

Focus: the mind's final escape at the moment of death

Objective: Students will analyze how structure develops in "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" by writing a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph that cites at least 2 quotations from the section, and will score at least 80% on the section quiz.

Standards: Cambridge International: see the unit standards

Content note (execution by hanging, civil war violence, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Execution by hanging; Civil War violence. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…-clad soldier rode up to the gate and asked for a drink of water. Mrs. Farquhar was only too ha…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.
Student preview: Heads-up: this story includes execution by hanging; Civil War violence.
Suggested language: "Why does the writer include this, and what does it make us notice?"

Peyton Farquhar, a Southern planter, stands on a railroad bridge in Alabama about to be hanged by Union soldiers. Part II flashes back: a disguised Union scout tempted him to try burning the bridge. In Part III the rope seems to break; he swims, dodges bullets, and walks all night to his home, where his wife waits. As he reaches for her, a blow falls: he is dead, his body swinging beneath the bridge.

Background: Bierce fought for the Union at Shiloh and Chickamauga; the story (1890) is in Tales of Soldiers and Civilians.

Significance: A celebrated experiment with time and point of view; the twist depends on shifting from objective to subjective narration.

Mini-lecture (read or adapt the script).
Bierce fought for the Union at Shiloh and Chickamauga; the story (1890) is in Tales of Soldiers and Civilians. A celebrated experiment with time and point of view; the twist depends on shifting from objective to subjective narration. Structure: Three parts: the present (the execution), a flashback (the scout's trap), and the escape, which turns out to be imagined. Point of view: Part I is objective, like a camera; Part III moves deep into Farquhar's mind, so the reader shares his illusion. Foreshadowing: The ticking watch, his heightened senses and the dream-like road all hint that the escape is unreal. Watch for the bridge: the line between life and death.

28–40 min · I do: modeled close reading · I do (12 min)
Model the close reading of the anchor quotation using the written think-aloud below.
First, meaning. I read "What he heard was the ticking of his watch" slowly and put it in my own words: Standing on the bridge with the noose around his neck, Farquhar hears a sharp, slow sound and only then realizes it is his own watch. Next, craft. I notice the sentence holds back the answer until its last words, so we hear the sound before we know what it is, just as he does. The strongest word is "ticking": it is a tiny, ordinary sound, and the story blows it up into something as loud as a hammer, which shows how his senses have sharpened under terror. Then, effect. Why does the narrator say the sound is "the ticking of his watch"? My answer: The narrator says the sound is the ticking of his watch because fear has made Farquhar's senses so heightened that time itself becomes loud; this prepares us for an escape that happens in an instant.

> What he heard was the ticking of his watch (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5)

Literary elements

- Structure: Three parts: the present (the execution), a flashback (the scout's trap), and the escape, which turns out to be imagined.
- Point of view: Part I is objective, like a camera; Part III moves deep into Farquhar's mind, so the reader shares his illusion.
- Foreshadowing: The ticking watch, his heightened senses and the dream-like road all hint that the escape is unreal.

Themes and how they develop

- perception and time: the whole escape happens in a moment.

Symbols and motifs

- the bridge: the line between life and death.

Key quotations (checked against the reading text)

- "What he heard was the ticking of his watch" (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5) Slowed time.
- "As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck" (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36) The rope.
- "Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side" (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37) The reality.

Model claim-evidence-reasoning

Claim: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion.
Evidence: "As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck" (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36)
Reasoning: Part III stays in his mind, with heightened sound ("What he heard was the ticking of his watch"); the switch to the present tense ("As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow") and the objective last line expose the illusion.

2. Why is he being executed? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: He tried to interfere with the railroad bridge
3. Who tempted him to attack the bridge? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: A Federal scout disguised as a Confederate soldier
4. What does Farquhar seem to experience in Part III? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: An escape home to his wife
5. What is the truth at the end? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: He has died by hanging
6. Retell the three most important events of "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" in order, in one sentence each. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: Peyton Farquhar, a Southern planter, stands on a railroad bridge in Alabama about to be hanged by Union soldiers. Part II flashes back: a disguised Union scout tempted him to try burning the bridge. In Part III the rope seems to break; he swims, dodges bullets, and walks all night to his home, where his wife waits. As he reaches for her, a blow falls: he is dead, his body swinging beneath the…
7. Which characters appear or are mentioned in "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge"? Name two and one thing each says or does. [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: Names and actions taken from the story; check against the teacher summary.
8. Where and when does "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" take place? Point to the line that tells you. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: A place/time detail quoted from the story.
9. Reread: "He felt his head emerge; his eyes were blinded by the sunlight; his chest expanded convulsively, and with a supreme and crowning agony his lungs engulfed a great draught of air, which instantly he expelled in a shriek!" What does "engulfed" mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: engulfed: swallowed up completely.
10. Reread: "How coldly and pitilessly—with what an even, calm intonation, presaging, and enforcing tranquillity in the men—with what accurately measured intervals fell those cruel words:" What does "pitilessly" mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · CAIE-9695.AO1] Look for: pitilessly: without pity or mercy.

Inferential / analytical

1. What does "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge" suggest about the mind's final escape at the moment of death? State the inference and the line that supports it. [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A celebrated experiment with time and point of view; the twist depends on shifting from objective to subjective narration.
2. Find one example of structure in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for how the story is ordered and why it begins and ends where it does.
3. How does the point of view in this story shape what we understand about the mind's final escape at the moment of death? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for who is telling the story and what that narrator can and cannot know.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5): Slowed time. On point of view: Part I is objective, like a camera; Part III moves deep into Farquhar's mind, so the reader shares his illusion. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

4. In the passage that begins “The man who was engaged in being hanged was apparently about thirty-five years of age.”, why might Bierce have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Peyton Farquhar, a Southern planter, stands on a railroad bridge in Alabama about to be hanged by Union soldiers. Part II flashes back: a disguised Union scout tempted him to try burning the bridge. In Part III the rope seems to break; he swims, dodges bullets, and walks all night to his home,…
6. As the opening story, what does “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge” set up that the rest of An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36): The rope. On structure: Three parts: the present (the execution), a flashback (the scout's trap), and the escape, which turns out to be imagined. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37): The reality. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “Time can feel slow or fast. When has a moment seemed to last forever?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does imagery appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with illusion and reality? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for sensory details (sight, sound, cold, light) and what mood they create.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5): Slowed time. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Bierce fought for the Union at Shiloh and Chickamauga; the story (1890) is in Tales of Soldiers and Civilians. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36): The rope. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A celebrated experiment with time and point of view; the twist depends on shifting from objective to subjective narration.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37): The reality. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5): Slowed time. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge” from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about the mind's final escape at the moment of death? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36): The rope. On point of view: Part I is objective, like a camera; Part III moves deep into Farquhar's mind, so the reader shares his illusion. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge”: one recall, one “why/how”, and one “should/what if”. Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37): The reality. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
5. Connect this story to war and death: is the link strong or weak so far? What would Bierce need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5): Slowed time. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

6. Is the structure in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36): The rope. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge” treats the mind's final escape at the moment of death with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37): The reality. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. As the final story, does this ending resolve illusion and reality? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5): Slowed time. On foreshadowing: The ticking watch, his heightened senses and the dream-like road all hint that the escape is unreal. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about the mind's final escape at the moment of death? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36): The rope. Theme link: the whole escape happens in a moment. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. What question would you most like to ask Ambrose Bierce about this story, and what answer do you think the text itself gives? [DOK 4 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A student-generated question answered from evidence.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Useful evidence: "Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side" (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37): The reality.     D. A Federal scout disguised as a Confederate soldier

    Key: D (A Federal scout disguised as a Confederate soldier)
11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 28 reveal about the character or situation? "The two sentinels fired again, independently and ineffectually." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 28) shows the situation turning on war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words "independently" and "ineffectually" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 6 reveal about the character or situation? "My home, thank God, is as yet outside their lines; my wife and little ones are still beyond the invader's farthest advance.'" Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 6) shows the situation turning on war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words "invader's" and "farthest" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
13. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?
    A. "It was attached to a stout cross-timber above his head and the slack fell to the level of his knees."
    B. "A man stood upon a railroad bridge in northern Alabama, looking down into the swift water twenty feet below."
    C. "At a short remove upon the same temporary platform was an officer in the uniform of his rank, armed."

D. “Beyond one of the sentinels nobody was in sight; the railroad ran straight away into a forest for a hundred yards, then, curving, was lost…”

Key: B (“A man stood upon a railroad bridge in northern Alabama, looking down into the swift water twenty feet below.”)

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 33 shapes its tone: “The water, the banks, the forests, the now distant bridge, fort and men—all were commingled and blurred.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: The words “commingled” and “distant” (paragraph 33) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “Beyond one of the sentinels nobody was in sight; the railroad ran straight away into a forest for a hundred yards, then, curving, was lost to view.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: The words “sentinels” and “railroad” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Synthesis: trace how perception and time develops from the opening of “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.
Sample answer: Near the start, “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5) — Slowed time. Later, “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37) — The reality. The whole escape happens in a moment.

17. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 5? “He awaited each stroke with impatience and he knew not why—_____.”

A. preparations
B. plantation
C. accomplish
D. apprehension

Key: D (apprehension)

18. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “Evidently this was no vulgar _____.”
Word bank: inhaled, pitilessly, engulfed, assassin
Key: assassin

19. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37: “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a _____ neck, swung gently from side to side”
Key: broken

20. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
Sample answer: Slowed time. The evidence is “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5). This develops perception and time: the whole escape happens in a moment.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 20 shapes its tone: “The power of thought was restored; he knew that the rope had broken and he had fallen into the stream.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: The words “restored” and “thought” (paragraph 20) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral.

That weight points the reader to war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 18 shapes its tone: “The lady had now brought the water, which the soldier drank.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “brought” and “soldier” (paragraph 18) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 3 to the story's treatment of war and death: “He wore a mustache and pointed beard, but no whiskers; his eyes were large and dark gray, and had a kindly expression which one would hardly have expected in one whose neck was in the hemp.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 3) develops war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “expression” and “whiskers” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “These movements left the condemned man and the sergeant standing on the two ends of the same plank, which spanned three…” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating war and death as central.
24. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “In the code of military _____ silence and fixity are forms of deference.” Word bank: etiquette, pitilessly, engulfed, inhaled
    Key: etiquette
25. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5: “What he heard was the _____ of his watch”
    Key: ticking
26. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Claim: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36).
    Sample answer: Part III stays in his mind, with heightened sound ("What he heard was the ticking of his watch"); the switch to the present tense ("As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow") and the objective last line expose the illusion. The evidence is “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36) — The rope. This develops perception and time: the whole escape happens in a moment.
27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Slowed time. The evidence is “What he heard was the ticking of his watch” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 5). This develops perception and time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words “ticking” and “watch” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Part III stays in his mind, with heightened sound ("What he heard was the ticking of his watch"); the switch to the present tense ("As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow") and the objective last line expose the illusion.
28. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] Why is he being executed?
    A. He stole horses
    B. He deserted the army
    C. He tried to interfere with the railroad bridge
    D. He shot an officer

    Key: C (He tried to interfere with the railroad bridge)

29. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “This plank had been held in place by the weight of the captain; it was now held by that of the _____.” Word bank: respected, sentinels, sergeant, apprehension

    Key: sergeant

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 23 to the story's treatment of war and death: “Their movements were grotesque and horrible, their forms gigantic.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 23) develops war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “movements” and “grotesque” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He observed that it was a gray eye and remembered having read that gray eyes were keenest, and that all famous markmen…” (paragraph 24), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating war and death as central.

31. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Which literary element does this describe in “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge”? Three parts: the present (the execution), a flashback (the scout's trap), and the escape, which turns out to be imagined.

    A. Structure

    B. Conflict

    C. Personification

    D. Imagery

    Key: A (Structure)

32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze the word choice in “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: The reality. The evidence is “Peyton Farquhar was dead; his body, with a broken neck, swung gently from side to side” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 37). This develops perception and time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words “broken” and “gently” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

33. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 5 to the story's treatment of war and death: “He closed his eyes in order to fix his last thoughts upon his wife and children.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 5) develops war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “thoughts” and “children” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He wondered what it was, and whether immeasurably distant or near by—it seemed both.” (paragraph 5), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating war and death as central.

34. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 21 to the story's treatment of war and death: “His neck ached horribly; his brain was on fire; his heart, which had been fluttering faintly, gave a great leap, trying to force itself out at his mouth.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 21) develops war and death: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “fluttering” and “horribly” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Something in the awful disturbance of his organic system had so exalted and refined them that they made record of…” (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating war and death as central.

35. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] In the line “How softly the turf had carpeted the untraveled avenue—he could no longer feel the roadway beneath his feet!”, what does “carpeted” most nearly mean?

    A. covered as if with a carpet

    B. without pity or mercy

    C. breathed in

    D. swallowed up completely

    Key: A (covered as if with a carpet)

36. [mc · inference · DOK 2 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Which choice best states a central concern of “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge”?

    A. A story so convincing it becomes real

    B. The mind's final escape at the moment of death

    C. The futile attempt to shut out death

    D. A girl's first encounter with death across the class line

    Key: B (The mind's final escape at the moment of death)

37. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line “How coldly and pitilessly—with what an even, calm intonation, presaging, and enforcing tranquillity in the men—with what accurately measured intervals fell those cruel words:”, what does “pitilessly” most nearly mean?

    A. without pity or mercy

    B. swallowed up completely

    C. covered as if with a carpet

    D. breathed in

    Key: A (without pity or mercy)

38. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] In the line “The trees upon the bank were giant garden plants; he noted a definite order in their arrangement, inhaled the fragrance of their blooms.”, what does “inhaled” most nearly mean?

    A. breathed in

    B. without pity or mercy

    C. covered as if with a carpet

    D. swallowed up completely

    Key: A (breathed in)

39. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] In the line “He felt his head emerge; his eyes were blinded by the sunlight; his chest expanded convulsively, and with a supreme and crowning agony his lungs engulfed a great draught of air, which instantly he expelled in a shriek!”, what does “engulfed” most nearly mean?

    A. without pity or mercy

    B. covered as if with a carpet

    C. breathed in

    D. swallowed up completely

    Key: D (swallowed up completely)

40. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] Which literary element does this describe in “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge”? Part I is objective, like a camera; Part III moves deep into Farquhar's mind, so the reader shares his illusion.

    A. Plot

    B. Personification

    C. Metaphor

    D. Point of view

    Key: D (Point of view)

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge,” how does Bierce show the mind's final escape at the moment of death? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the structure you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): In An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, how does Bierce develop the idea of the mind's final escape at the moment of death? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the structure in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Analyze how An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge develops the idea of the mind's final escape at the moment of death. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of structure and point of view shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO3): Analyze how the structure of An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge (where it begins, turns and ends) and its structure shape the reader's understanding of the mind's final escape at the moment of death. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5): Two readers disagree about what An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge suggests about the mind's final escape at the moment of death. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's structure and point of view), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Ambrose Bierce uses structure in An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge to complicate the reader's understanding of the mind's final escape at the moment of death. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Situate An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of the mind's final escape at the moment of death responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Read An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of the mind's final escape at the moment of death follows or bends those conventions, using the structure as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge and its treatment of the mind's final escape at the moment of death. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's structure and point of view, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge as evidence for a larger claim about the mind's final escape at the moment of death in An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of the mind's final escape at the moment of death. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge.

SAT-style questions

1. The trees upon the bank were giant garden plants; he noted a definite order in their arrangement, inhaled the fragrance of their blooms.

As used in the text, what does the word "inhaled" most nearly mean?

A. a soldier standing guard

B. breathed in

C. getting involved in other people's affairs

D. unbearable

2. The man who was engaged in being hanged was apparently about thirty-five years of age. He was a civilian, if one might judge from his habit, which was that of a planter. His features were good—a straight nose, firm mouth, broad forehead, from which his long, dark hair was combed straight back, falling behind his ears to the collar of his well-fitting frock-coat. He wore a mustache and pointed beard, but no whiskers; his eyes were large and dark gray, and had a kindly expression which one would hardly have expected in one whose neck was in the hemp. Evidently this was no vulgar assassin. The liberal military code makes provision for hanging many kinds of persons, and gentlemen are not excluded.

Which choice best states a central concern of "An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge"?

A. The arrogance and loneliness of seeing differently

B. Self-destruction and the urge to do wrong

C. Racial pride destroying love

D. The mind's final escape at the moment of death

SAT key: 1. B (breathed in); 2. D (The mind's final escape at the moment of death)

   Key: disturbance

6. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 6: “He _____ his eyes and saw again the water below him.” Word bank: sentinels, railroad, unclosed, respected

   Key: unclosed

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 9? “Peyton Farquhar was a well-to-do planter, of an old and highly _____ Alabama family.”

   A. accomplish

   B. railroad

   C. apprehension

   D. respected

   Key: D (respected)

8. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 20: “These pains appeared to flash along well-defined lines of ramification and to beat with an _____ rapid periodicity.” Word bank: inconceivably, disturbance, respected, preparations

   Key: inconceivably

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 4? “He looked a moment at his ‘_____ footing,’ then let his gaze wander to the swirling water of the stream racing madly beneath his feet.”

   A. sergeant

   B. accomplish

   C. unsteadfast

   D. plantation

   Key: C (unsteadfast)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: “Midway of the slope between bridge and fort were the _____—a single company of infantry in line, at ‘parade rest,’ the butts of the rifles on the ground, the barrels inclining slightly backward against the right shoulder, the hands crossed upon the stock.” Word bank: plantation, inconceivably, spectators, civilian

    Key: spectators

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 20 reveal about the character or situation? “As to his head, he was conscious of nothing but a feeling of fulness—of congestion.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 20) shows the situation turning on illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words “congestion” and “conscious” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 1 reveal about the character or situation? “It was attached to a stout cross-timber above his head and the slack fell to the level of his knees.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 1) shows the situation turning on illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words “attached” and “timber” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? “These movements left the condemned man and the sergeant standing on the two ends of the same plank, which spanned three of the cross-ties of the bridge.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 4) shows the situation turning on time: the whole escape happens in a moment.

The words “movements” and “condemned” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 22 reveal about the character or situation? “Something in the awful disturbance of his organic system had so exalted and refined them that they made record of things never before perceived.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 22) shows the situation turning on time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The words “disturbance” and “perceived” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “Death is a dignitary who when he comes announced is to be received with formal manifestations of respect, even by those most familiar with him.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “manifestations” and “dignitary” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “That opportunity, he felt, would come, as it comes to all in war time.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “opportunity” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
17. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 21 shapes its tone: “He gave the struggle his attention, as an idler might observe the feat of a juggler, without interest in the outcome.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “attention” and “struggle” (paragraph 21) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
18. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 31 to the story's treatment of illusion and reality: “The cannon had taken a hand in the game.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 31) develops illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “cannon” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The water, the banks, the forests, the now distant bridge, fort and men—all were commingled and blurred.” (paragraph 33), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating illusion and reality as central.
19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 5 shapes its tone: “He wondered what it was, and whether immeasurably distant or near by—it seemed both.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “immeasurably” and “wondered” (paragraph 5) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 30 shapes its tone: “He has probably already given the command to fire at will.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “probably” and “command” (paragraph 30) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 2 to the story's treatment of time: “Excepting the group of four at the centre of the bridge, not a man moved.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 2) develops time: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “bridge” and “centre” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Death is a dignitary who when he comes announced is to be received with formal manifestations of respect, even by those…” (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 22 shapes its tone: “The humming of the gnats that danced above the eddies of the stream, the beating of the dragon-flies' wings, the strokes of the water-spiders' legs, like oars which had lifted their boat—all these made audible music.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “spiders'” and “audible” (paragraph 22) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 27 to the story's treatment of illusion and reality: “Some of them touched him on the face and hands, then fell away, continuing their descent.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 27) develops illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “continuing” and “touched” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The two sentinels fired again, independently and ineffectually.” (paragraph 28), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating illusion and reality as central.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 33 to the story's treatment of time: “The sudden arrest of his motion, the abrasion of one of his hands on the gravel, restored him, and he wept with delight.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 33) develops time: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words “restored” and “abrasion” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “It was attached to a stout cross-timber above his head and the slack fell to the level of his knees.” (paragraph 1), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “The arrangement commended itself to his judgment as simple and effective.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “arrangement” and “effective” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 24 shapes its tone: “He observed that it was a gray eye and remembered having read that gray eyes were keenest, and that all famous markmen had them.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “remembered” and “observed” (paragraph 24) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: the whole escape happens in a moment. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of illusion and reality: “They have reached the Owl Creek bridge, put it in order and built a stockade on the north bank.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words "stockade" and "reached" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The lady had now brought the water, which the soldier drank." (paragraph 18), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating illusion and reality as central.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 20 to the story's treatment of time: "He was still sinking, for the light became fainter and fainter until it was a mere glimmer." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 20) develops time: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words "glimmer" and "fainter" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "He gave the struggle his attention, as an idler might observe the feat of a juggler, without interest in the outcome." (paragraph 21), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 20 to the story's treatment of time: "From this state he was awakened—ages later, it seemed to him—by the pain of a sharp pressure upon his throat, followed by a sense of suffocation." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 20) develops time: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words "suffocation" and "awakened" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "As to his head, he was conscious of nothing but a feeling of fulness—of congestion." (paragraph 20), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 5 to the story's treatment of illusion and reality: "With their greater infrequency the sounds increased in strength and sharpness." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 5) develops illusion and reality: the whole escape happens in a moment. Its words "infrequency" and "increased" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "My home, thank God, is as yet outside their lines; my wife and little ones are still beyond the invader's farthest…" (paragraph 6), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating illusion and reality as central.

Final paper

An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Ambrose Bierce develops illusion and reality across An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to war and death.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of time. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words

Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.

Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Bierce uses point of view to trick the reader into sharing Farquhar's illusion. The text makes this visible when it says “As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow upon the back of the neck” (An Occurrence at Owl Creek Bridge, paragraph 36). Part III stays in his mind, with heightened sound ("What he heard was the ticking of his watch"); the switch to the present tense ("As he is about to clasp her he feels a stunning blow") and the objective last line expose the illusion. A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.
