

The Goophered Grapevine

Charles W. Chesnutt · 1887

First published: The Atlantic Monthly, Aug 1887

TEACHER EDITION · CURRICULUM UNIT

AP edition (standards shown for this framework only)

One 90-minute lesson (the whole story), with an optional take-home essay

Syllabus · 90-minute lesson plans · lecture scripts · vocabulary · quizzes with keys · writing prompts at eleven rigor levels · SAT-style items · whole-book test · essays

Liber et Libri · Lux et Libri LLC

Cover: Claude Monet, Springtime (1872). Public domain (Wikimedia Commons).

Contents and unit overview

1. Unit overview and the 90-minute lesson
2. Syllabus (weekly pacing)
3. Lesson 1: introduction (author, context, reception, overview)
4. Lesson plans and lecture scripts (chapters 1–1), each with vocabulary, discussion questions, annotation focus, quiz and key, writing prompts and SAT-style items
5. Unit test (eleven rigor versions) with answer keys and scoring guides
6. Final paper
7. Essay assignments at eleven rigor levels

Edition: Reading text: https://en.wikisource.org/wiki/The_Conjure_Woman/The_Goophered_Grapevine (revision 14117353), cleaned for Liber et Libri.

Grades: Grades 10–12 (scales to graduate via rigor levels). Short story: read whole in one 90-minute lesson (assign longer stories as pre-reading). The scaffolded-support track works from the full text with scaffolds. Weeks: 1. Class days: 2 × 90 minutes (1 chapter lessons plus seminar, test and essay days).

Essential questions

- What does The Goophered Grapevine suggest about slavery and its memory?
- What does The Goophered Grapevine suggest about storytelling as resistance?
- What does The Goophered Grapevine suggest about race and economics?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Standards: AP

AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.SET, AP-LIT.STR, AP-LIT.NAR, AP-LIT.FIG, AP-LIT.LAN

AP English Literature and Composition big ideas (our summaries; apcentral.collegeboard.org)

Assessments: Daily story quizzes (auto-graded); Weekly writing prompt (rubric); Socratic seminars (scheduled days); Whole-story test (scheduled day); Final essay (scheduled day); College Sophomore and above write one essay of the five Differentiation: Every prompt and quiz has eleven rigor levels (Scaffolded support through Graduate / PhD); the app applies student override, then class standard, then the automatic level. Each prompt is tagged for Common Core, Indiana 2023, Dual Credit (Indiana College Core), AP and Cambridge where they apply.
Materials: Liber et Libri reader; Annotation journal; Story lecture slides or script

The 90-minute lesson

#	Segment	Mode	Minutes	Clock
1	Bell-ringer	You do	8	0–8
2	Vocabulary with etymology notes	I do	10	8–18
3	Background and context	I do	10	18–28
4	I do: modeled close reading	I do	12	28–40
5	We do: guided annotation	We do	15	40–55
6	You do: independent annotation	You do	15	55–70
7	Discussion	We do	10	70–80
8	Exit ticket / chapter quiz	You do	7	80–87
9	Closure	I do	3	87–90
	Total		90

Syllabus

Week	Chapters	Lessons	Focus and activities	Assessment
1	Introduction: author, context and reception The Goophered Grapevine	2 × 90 min (180 min)	slavery and its memory • Daily 90-minute lesson: bell-ringer, vocabulary and word histories, background, I do / We do / You do, discussion, exit ticket, closure • Story quizzes in the app • Introduction: author, context and reception • Writing prompt at assigned rigor (one graded per week)	Quiz average plus one graded writing prompt

Lesson plans and lecture scripts

Each chapter is one 90-minute class. Scripts are a starting point; adapt them to your students. Teacher summaries contain spoilers.

Lesson 1: Introduction to The Goophered Grapevine

Objective: Students will explain, in a 3-sentence exit ticket, how one fact about Charles W. Chesnutt's life or times connects to slavery and its memory in “The Goophered Grapevine”, and will set up a reading journal with a prediction and a question for each of 3 themes (slavery and its memory, storytelling as resistance, race and economics).

Standards: AP: see the unit standards

Author biography

Charles W. Chesnutt was born in Cleveland, Ohio, on 20 June 1858 to free Black parents from North Carolina and grew up in Fayetteville, where he became a teacher and school principal. He returned to Cleveland, passed the Ohio bar and ran a successful court-reporting business while writing. His conjure stories, the first of which was "The Goophered Grapevine" in The Atlantic Monthly (1887), were collected in The Conjure Woman (1899); his story The Marrow of Tradition (1901) depicts the 1898 Wilmington massacre. He received the NAACP's Spingarn Medal in 1928 and died on 15 November 1932.

Historical and cultural context

Set in North Carolina after Reconstruction, when Northern investors were buying up Southern land. The storyteller, Uncle Julius, is a formerly enslaved man who recounts plantation days in dialect. White writers of the period such as Joel Chandler Harris used similar storytellers to romanticize slavery; Chesnutt reworks the form to expose its cruelty and to show Julius's own shrewdness.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in The Atlantic Monthly in August 1887, making Chesnutt one of the first African American writers published there; collected in The Conjure Woman (1899).

Then: Most readers did not know Chesnutt was Black; his race was publicized only later.

Now: Recognized as a landmark of African American literature and a subtle critique of the plantation tradition.

Overview (spoiler-free)

A Northern businessman, John, considers buying a run-down vineyard in North Carolina. Uncle Julius warns him that the vines are "goophered" (bewitched) and tells the story of Henry, an enslaved man whose life became tied to the vines.

Main themes

- the economics of slavery.
- storytelling as resistance.
- exploitation.

Why it matters

Students learn to read layered narration and to see how dialect and frame stories can carry hidden critique.

Spoilers · teacher only

John buys the vineyard anyway, and reveals that Julius had been profiting from the grapes himself; the tale was partly a strategy to protect his livelihood.

Lesson plan (90 minutes)

0–8 min · Bell-ringer · You do (8 min)
Students write to the bell-ringer, then pair-share.
Before we open The Goophered Grapevine: Have you ever told a story to persuade someone without saying what you really wanted?
Prompt: Before we open The Goophered Grapevine: Have you ever told a story to persuade someone without saying what you really wanted?

8–18 min · Key terms · I do (10 min)
Key literary terms for the unit.
frame narrative; dialect; conjure; trickster; plantation tradition.

18–28 min · Mini-lecture: author, context, reception · I do (10 min)
Mini-lecture on the author, the historical context and the reception (read or adapt the script).
About the author. Charles W. Chesnutt was born in Cleveland, Ohio, on 20 June 1858 to free Black parents from North Carolina and grew up in Fayetteville, where he became a teacher and school principal. He returned to Cleveland, passed the Ohio bar and ran a successful court-reporting business while writing. His conjure stories, the first of which was "The Goophered Grapevine" in The Atlantic Monthly (1887), were collected in The Conjure Woman (1899); his story The Marrow of Tradition (1901) depicts the 1898 Wilmington massacre. He received the NAACP's Spingarn Medal in 1928 and died on 15 November 1932. The world of the book. Set in North Carolina after Reconstruction, when Northern investors were buying up Southern land. The storyteller, Uncle Julius, is a formerly enslaved man who recounts plantation days in dialect. White writers of the period such as Joel Chandler Harris used similar storytellers to romanticize slavery; Chesnutt reworks the form to expose its cruelty and to show Julius's own shrewdness. Publication and reception. First published in The Atlantic Monthly in August 1887, making Chesnutt one of the first African American writers published there; collected in The Conjure Woman (1899). Then: Most readers did not know Chesnutt was Black; his race was publicized only later. Now: Recognized as a landmark of African American literature and a subtle critique of the plantation tradition.

28–40 min · I do: the book in one passage · I do (12 min)
Model a close reading of one passage using the written think-aloud below.
First, meaning. I read "Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit confidence, advised a change..." slowly and put it in my own words: The narrator explains that he moved because of his wife's health and his trusted doctor's advice. Next, craft. I notice the long, polite sentence full of formal phrases like "implicit confidence," which sounds like a careful businessman. The strongest word is "implicit": it shows a man who trusts authorities and plans, which sets him up to underestimate Julius. Then, effect. What does this opening sentence tell us about the narrator, and why does that matter? My answer: Chesnutt frames the story with a well-off white Northern narrator so that Julius's tale, told inside it, can quietly expose the slavery and greed the narrator does not see.

> Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit confidence, advised a change of climate. (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 1)

Think-aloud: First, meaning. I read "Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit confidence, advised a change…" slowly and put it in my own words: The narrator explains that he moved because of his wife's health and his trusted doctor's advice. Next, craft. I notice the long, polite sentence full of formal phrases like "implicit confidence," which sounds like a careful businessman. The strongest word is "implicit": it shows a man who trusts authorities and plans, which sets him up to underestimate Julius. Then, effect. What does this opening sentence tell us about the narrator, and why does that matter? My answer: Chesnutt frames the story with a well-off white Northern narrator so that Julius's tale, told inside it, can quietly expose the slavery and greed the narrator does not see.

40–55 min · We do: overview and themes · We do (15 min)
Read the spoiler-free overview together and name the themes to track.
What the book is about (no spoilers): A Northern businessman, John, considers buying a run-down vineyard in North Carolina. Uncle Julius warns him that the vines are "goophered" (bewitched) and tells the story of Henry, an enslaved man whose life became tied to the vines. Themes to track: the economics of slavery.: storytelling as resistance.: exploitation.:

55–70 min · You do: reading journal · You do (15 min)
Set up a reading journal: one page per theme, with a prediction and a question (example given).
Set up a reading journal: one page per theme with a prediction and a question. Page: storytelling as resistance. Prediction: Uncle Julius tells his tale about the vineyard for a reason he does not admit to the Northern buyer. Question: what does Julius gain by telling this story, and does the narrator notice?
Task: Set up a reading journal for The Goophered Grapevine: one page per theme, each with a prediction and a question.
Exemplar: Page: storytelling as resistance. Prediction: Uncle Julius tells his tale about the vineyard for a reason he does not admit to the Northern buyer. Question: what does Julius gain by telling this story, and does the narrator notice?

70–80 min · Discussion · We do (10 min)
Whole-class discussion: why the book is still taught.
Why does The Goophered Grapevine still matter? Students learn to read layered narration and to see how dialect and frame stories can carry hidden critique.
Anchor question: Why might The Goophered Grapevine still be taught today?
Facilitation: Students learn to read layered narration and to see how dialect and frame stories can carry hidden critique.

80–87 min · Exit ticket · You do (7 min)
Exit ticket on the author and context (answer given).
Chesnutt was an African American writer who published this story in The Atlantic Monthly in 1887. Why was it significant that it appeared there, and how might he have reached a white audience? Answer: Accept answers such as: it was one of the first stories by a Black writer in a major literary magazine; he used a white narrator's frame and a folk tale so readers would enjoy it while noticing the cruelty of slavery.
Exit ticket: Chesnutt was an African American writer who published this story in The Atlantic Monthly in 1887. Why was it significant that it appeared there, and how might he have reached a white audience?
Answer: Accept answers such as: it was one of the first stories by a Black writer in a major literary magazine; he used a white narrator's frame and a folk tale so readers would enjoy it while noticing the cruelty of slavery.

87–90 min · Closure · I do (3 min)
Preview the first reading.
Tomorrow we begin reading: The Goophered Grapevine.

Teacher notes · sources: The Charles Chesnutt Digital Archive (https://chesnuttarchive.org/); Britannica, "Charles W. Chesnutt" (https://www.britannica.com/biography/Charles-W-Chesnutt); The Charles Chesnutt Digital Archive (https://www.chesnuttarchive.org/)

Flags (verify before teaching):

- Content note: the dialect passages include a racial slur used by and about enslaved characters. Teaching note: the dialect reflects nineteenth-century conventions; prepare students for it and discuss why Chesnutt used it.

Lesson 2: The Goophered Grapevine

Focus: a story told to protect a livelihood

Objective: Students will analyze how point of view develops in "The Goophered Grapevine" by writing a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph that cites at least 2 quotations from the section, and will score at least 80% on the section quiz.

Standards: AP: see the unit standards

Content note (slavery, heavy dialect, a racial slur used by the characters, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Slavery; heavy dialect; a racial slur used by the characters. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. The text quotes racial slurs in period dialogue: decide in advance that no one reads them aloud, and name why the author records them. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…Mars Dugal' made a thousan' gallon er scuppernon' wine eve'y year. "Now, ef dey's an'thing a n…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.
Student preview: Heads-up: this story includes slavery; heavy dialect; a racial slur used by the characters.
Suggested language: "Why does the writer include this, and what does it make us notice?"

Teacher only · spoilers

A white Northerner, John, considers buying a run-down North Carolina vineyard. Julius McAdoo, a formerly enslaved man, tells him it is 'goophered' (conjured): before the war, an enslaved man named Henry ate its grapes, and his life rose and fell with the vines until he died. John buys anyway and later suspects Julius told the tale because he profited from the grapes; he hires Julius as coachman.

Background: Published in The Atlantic Monthly in 1887, the first story by an African American writer in that magazine; collected in The Conjure Woman (1899).

Significance: Chesnutt reworks the 'plantation tradition' frame to expose slavery's cruelty and Black economic agency.

Lesson plan and lecture script (90 minutes)

0–8 min · Bell-ringer · You do (8 min)
Students write to the bell-ringer, then pair-share.
Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true? Write for five minutes. Starters: I think... because... / This connects to the economics of slavery because.... Content note before we start: Heads-up: this story includes slavery; heavy dialect; a racial slur used by the characters.
Prompt: Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true?
Sentence starters: I think… because… · This connects to the economics of slavery because…
Strong response: A strong response takes a position and anticipates this: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.

8–18 min · Vocabulary with etymology notes · I do (10 min)
Five key words in context, with verified word histories.
Today's words: desuetude — a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up; trellises — frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow; shiftless — lazy and lacking ambition; monologue — a long speech by one person; shyness — a feeling of fear of embarrassment. "trellises": Origin of "trellis": Anglo-Norman treslis; earlier Latin trichila ("arbor").
Words: desuetude: a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up · trellises: frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow · shiftless: lazy and lacking ambition · monologue: a long speech by one person · shyness: a feeling of fear of embarrassment

18–28 min · Background and context · I do (10 min)
Mini-lecture (read or adapt the script).
Published in The Atlantic Monthly in 1887, the first story by an African American writer in that magazine; collected in The Conjure Woman (1899). Chesnutt reworks the 'plantation tradition' frame to expose slavery's cruelty and Black economic agency. FrameNarrative: John narrates in standard English; Julius's tale is told in dialect, letting two worldviews collide. Irony: The "superstitious" story is economically shrewd. Characterization: Julius is a trickster figure, wiser than John realizes. Watch for the grapevine: Henry's life and the plantation economy.

28–40 min · I do: modeled close reading · I do (12 min)
Model the close reading of the anchor quotation using the written think-aloud below.
First, meaning. I read "goophered" slowly and put it in my own words: Julius tells the Northern newcomer that the grapevines are bewitched by a conjure spell. Next, craft. I notice the word is dialect from African American folk belief, set inside the narrator's polished standard English. The strongest word is "goophered": the whole story turns on this one unfamiliar word, which the outsider has to have explained. Then, effect. What does Julius mean when he says the vineyard is "goophered"? My answer: Julius uses the conjure tale to make the vineyard seem dangerous, partly to protect the grapes he has been enjoying; the word shows he is cleverer than the narrator thinks.

> goophered (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17)

Think-aloud: First, meaning. I read "goophered" slowly and put it in my own words: Julius tells the Northern newcomer that the grapevines are bewitched by a conjure spell. Next, craft. I notice the word is dialect from African American folk belief, set inside the narrator's polished standard English. The strongest word is "goophered": the whole story turns on this one unfamiliar word, which the outsider has to have explained. Then, effect. What does Julius mean when he says the vineyard is "goophered"? My answer: Julius uses the conjure tale to make the vineyard seem dangerous, partly to protect the grapes he has been enjoying; the word shows he is cleverer than the narrator thinks.

40–55 min · We do: guided annotation · We do (15 min)
Guided analysis of a second quotation; expected answers given.
Ask: What words in this line stand out, and what do they suggest? Expected: Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Look at the craft: The "superstitious" story is economically shrewd. Ask: How does this line connect to the economics of slavery? Expected: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. (Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines.)

> Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40)

Ask: What words in this line stand out, and what do they suggest?
Expected answer: Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Look at the craft: The "superstitious" story is economically shrewd.
Ask: How does this line connect to the economics of slavery?
Expected answer: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. (Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines.)

55–70 min · You do: independent annotation · You do (15 min)
Independent annotation and a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph (exemplar given).
Annotate the story for framenarrative, irony (three marks with a margin note each), then write one claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph: what does this story suggest about a story told to protect a livelihood? Then start your writing prompt at your assigned level (HS Sophomore: Analyze how The Goophered Grapevine develops the idea of a story told to protect a livelihood. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of point of view and diction / vocabulary shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.) Exemplar: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. When the text says "Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40), it shows this directly. The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop.
Task: Annotate the story for framenarrative, irony (three marks with a margin note each), then write one claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph: what does this story suggest about a story told to protect a livelihood? Then start your writing prompt at your assigned level (HS Sophomore: Analyze how The Goophered Grapevine develops the idea of a story told to protect a livelihood. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of point of view and diction / vocabulary shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.)
Exemplar: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. When the text says "Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40), it shows this directly. The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop.

70–80 min · Discussion · We do (10 min)
Structured discussion from the 30 tiered questions, with facilitation notes.
Anchor question: Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true? Ask: who is the smartest character?
Anchor question: Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true?
Facilitation: Ask: who is the smartest character?

> 80–87 min · Exit ticket / chapter quiz · You do (7 min)
> Story quiz in the app and an exit ticket (answer given).
> Story quiz in the app, then: In one sentence, what does this story suggest about a story told to protect a livelihood? Support it with one short quotation. Model answer: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. (“Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars”, The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40). Accept any defensible claim backed by a quotation from the story; the answer key for the quiz is in the Quiz section.
> Exit ticket: In one sentence, what does this story suggest about a story told to protect a livelihood? Support it with one short quotation.
> Answer: Model answer: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. (“Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars”, The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40). Accept any defensible claim backed by a quotation from the story; the answer key for the quiz is in the Quiz section.

> 87–90 min · Closure · I do (3 min)
> Summarize the lesson and preview the next reading.
> Today we saw how framenarrative shapes a story told to protect a livelihood. Key takeaway: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.

Total: 90 minutes.

Teacher analysis (spoilers)

Literary elements

- FrameNarrative: John narrates in standard English; Julius's tale is told in dialect, letting two worldviews collide.
- Irony: The "superstitious" story is economically shrewd.
- Characterization: Julius is a trickster figure, wiser than John realizes.

Themes and how they develop

- the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.

Symbols and motifs

- the grapevine: Henry's life and the plantation economy.

Key quotations (checked against the reading text)

- “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17) The bewitchment.
- “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40) Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines.
- “he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31) Conjure as a business arrangement.

Model claim-evidence-reasoning

Claim: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance.
Evidence: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40)
Reasoning: The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop.

Vocabulary with etymology notes

Word	Definition (in this sentence)	In context	Word history
desuetude (noun)	a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up	Several planters thereabouts had attempted it on a commercial scale, in former years, with greater or less success; but like most Southern industries, it had felt the blight of war and had fallen into desuetude.
trellises (noun)	frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow	The vines—here partly supported by decayed and broken-down trellises, there twining themselves among the branches of the slender saplings which had sprung up among them—grew in wild and unpruned luxuriance, and the few scattered grapes they bore were the undisputed prey of the first comer.	“trellises”: Origin of “trellis”: Anglo-Norman treslis; earlier Latin trichila (“arbor”). (Liber et Libri origin note, https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/trellis#Etymology)
shiftless (adjective)	lazy and lacking ambition	The estate had been for years involved in litigation between disputing heirs, during which period shiftless cultivation had well-nigh exhausted the soil.
monologue (noun)	a long speech by one person	As he became more and more absorbed in the narrative, his eyes assumed a dreamy expression, and he seemed to lose sight of his auditors, and to be living over again in monologue his life on the old plantation.
shyness (noun)	a feeling of fear of embarrassment	After a little patient investigation, necessary to overcome the child's shyness, we learned what we wished to know, and at the end of about five miles from the town reached our destination.
imparted (verb)	gave; passed on	He imparted this information with such solemn earnestness, and with such an air of confidential mystery, that I felt somewhat interested, while Annie was evidently much impressed, and drew closer to me.	“imparted”: Origin of “impart”: Middle French impartir; earlier Late Latin impartiō. (Liber et Libri origin note, https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/impart#Etymology)

litigation (noun)	the process of taking a dispute to court	The estate had been for years involved in litigation between disputing heirs, during which period shiftless cultivation had well-nigh exhausted the soil.	"litigation": Origin: Latin līt̄igātiō. (Liber et Libri origin note, https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/litigation#Etymology)
luscious (adjective)	richly sweet and delicious	The luscious scuppernong holds first rank among our grapes, though we cultivate a great many other varieties, and our income from grapes packed and shipped to the Northern markets is quite considerable.
hospitably (adverb)	in a warm, welcoming way toward guests	We found the weather delightful at that season, the end of summer, and were hospitably entertained.
doubtfully (adverb)	in an uncertain or unsure way	"Is that story true?" asked Annie doubtfully, but seriously, as the old man concluded his narrative.	"doubtfully": Origin of "doubtful": an English formation from doubt + -ful. (Liber et Libri origin note, https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/doubtful#Etymology)

Discussion questions

1. Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true?
2. Where does point of view appear in this story, and what effect does it have? Point to one passage.
3. How does this story connect to the book's larger concern with slavery and its memory?

Classroom discussion questions (30, tiered)

Wait time after every question (3 s for DOK 1, 5 s for DOK 2, 8 to 10 s for DOK 3 and 4); think-pair-share on DOK 3 and 4; answer each response with a follow-up probe; close with student-generated questions. Focus sets by rigor level: Scaffolded support: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 21, 22; HS Freshman: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 12, 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24; HS Sophomore: 1, 2, 3, 4, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 23, 24, 25; HS Junior: 1, 2, 3, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 24, 25, 26, 27; HS Senior: 1, 2, 3, 15, 16, 17, 18, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29; AP: 1, 2, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30; College Freshman: 1, 2, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 27, 28, 29, 30; College Sophomore: 1, 2, 11, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30; College Junior: 1, 11, 12, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 29, 30; College Senior: 1, 11, 12, 13, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 30; Graduate / PhD: 1, 11, 12, 13, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28

Literal / recall

1. Why does John come to North Carolina? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: His wife needs a milder climate and he seeks a business
2. Who tells the tale of the vineyard? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: Uncle Julius McAdoo
3. What is a 'goopher'? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: A conjure spell
4. What happens to Henry with the seasons? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: He grows young and strong with the vines, then weak
5. What does John suspect about Julius's story? [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: Julius profited from the grapes and wanted to keep them

6. Retell the three most important events of “The Goophered Grapevine” in order, in one sentence each. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: A white Northerner, John, considers buying a run-down North Carolina vineyard. Julius McAdoo, a formerly enslaved man, tells him it is 'goophered' (conjured): before the war, an enslaved man named Henry ate its grapes, and his life rose and fell with the vines until he died. John buys anyway and later suspects Julius told the tale because he profited from the grapes; he hires Julius as coachman.
7. Which characters appear or are mentioned in “The Goophered Grapevine”? Name two and one thing each says or does. [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: Names and actions taken from the story; check against the teacher summary.
8. Where and when does “The Goophered Grapevine” take place? Point to the line that tells you. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: A place/time detail quoted from the story.
9. Reread: “Several planters thereabouts had attempted it on a commercial scale, in former years, with greater or less success; but like most Southern industries, it had felt the blight of war and had fallen into desuetude.” What does “desuetude” mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: desuetude: a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up.
10. Reread: “The vines—here partly supported by decayed and broken-down trellises, there twining themselves among the branches of the slender saplings which had sprung up among them—grew in wild and unpruned luxuriance, and the few…” What does “trellises” mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: trellises: frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow.

Inferential / analytical

1. What does “The Goophered Grapevine” suggest about a story told to protect a livelihood? State the inference and the line that supports it. [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: Chesnutt reworks the 'plantation tradition' frame to expose slavery's cruelty and Black economic agency.
2. Find one example of point of view in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: Look for who is telling the story and what that narrator can and cannot know.
3. How does the diction / vocabulary in this story shape what we understand about a story told to protect a livelihood? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Look for precise or unusual word choices and their connotations.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17): The bewitchment. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “We found the weather delightful at that season, the end of summer, and were hospitably entertained.”, why might Chesnutt have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “The Goophered Grapevine”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A white Northerner, John, considers buying a run-down North Carolina vineyard. Julius McAdoo, a formerly enslaved man, tells him it is 'goophered' (conjured): before the war, an enslaved man named Henry ate its grapes, and his life rose and fell with the vines until he died. John buys anyway and…

6. As the opening story, what does “The Goophered Grapevine” set up that the rest of The Goophered Grapevine will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40): Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31): Conjure as a business arrangement. On characterization: Julius is a trickster figure, wiser than John realizes. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “Why might someone tell a story that is not literally true?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does irony appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with slavery and its memory? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: Look for gaps between what characters expect or say and what is true.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17): The bewitchment. On irony: The "superstitious" story is economically shrewd. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Published in The Atlantic Monthly in 1887, the first story by an African American writer in that magazine; collected in The Conjure Woman (1899). How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40): Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “Chesnutt reworks the 'plantation tradition' frame to expose slavery's cruelty and Black economic agency.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31): Conjure as a business arrangement. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17): The bewitchment. On characterization: Julius is a trickster figure, wiser than John realizes. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of “The Goophered Grapevine” from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about a story told to protect a livelihood? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40): Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about “The Goophered Grapevine”: one recall, one “why/how”, and one “should/what if”. Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31): Conjure as a business arrangement. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
5. Connect this story to storytelling as resistance: is the link strong or weak so far? What would Chesnutt need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17): The bewitchment. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
6. Is the point of view in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40): Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. Compare how “The Goophered Grapevine” treats a story told to protect a livelihood with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does The Goophered Grapevine see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31): Conjure as a business arrangement. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. As the final story, does this ending resolve slavery and its memory? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: "goophered" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17): The bewitchment. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about a story told to protect a livelihood? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: "Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40): Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. What question would you most like to ask Charles W. Chesnutt about this story, and what answer do you think the text itself gives? [DOK 4 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A student-generated question answered from evidence.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Useful evidence: "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31): Conjure as a business arrangement. Theme link: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Annotation focus

- Point of view: look for who is telling the story and what that narrator can and cannot know (anchor passage in the We do segment)
- Also notice Diction / vocabulary: precise or unusual word choices and their connotations
- Also notice Irony: gaps between what characters expect or say and what is true

Chapter quiz: item bank (all eleven rigor versions)

1. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "He _____ this information with such solemn earnestness, and with such an air of confidential mystery, that I felt somewhat interested, while Annie was evidently much impressed, and drew closer to me." Word bank: trellises, desuetude, shiftless, imparted Key: imparted

2. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 1? “I wrote to a cousin who had gone into the _____ business in central North Carolina.”

   A. turpentine

   B. apparently

   C. reasonably

   D. yander

   Key: A (turpentine)

3. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “The estate had been for years involved in _____ between disputing heirs, during which period shiftless cultivation had well-nigh exhausted the soil.” Word bank: shiftless, desuetude, trellises, litigation

   Key: litigation

4. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Who tells the tale of the vineyard?

   A. Uncle Julius McAdoo

   B. Henry

   C. The narrator's wife

   D. Aunt Peggy

   Key: A (Uncle Julius McAdoo)

5. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Why does John come to North Carolina?

   A. His wife needs a milder climate and he seeks a business

   B. To fight in a war

   C. To visit family

   D. To teach

   Key: A (His wife needs a milder climate and he seeks a business)

6. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 1: “Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit _____, advised a change of climate.” Word bank: northern, venerable, turpentine, confidence

   Key: confidence

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What is a 'goopher'?

   A. A ghost

   B. A conjure spell

   C. A kind of grape

   D. A plantation tool

   Key: B (A conjure spell)

8. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “After a little patient investigation, necessary to overcome the child's _____, we learned what we wished to know, and at the end of about five miles from the town reached our destination.” Word bank: trellises, shiftless, desuetude, shyness

   Key: shyness

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 9? “There was a shrewdness in his eyes, too, which was not altogether African, and which, as we afterwards learned from experience, was indicative of a _____ shrewdness in his character.”

   A. apparently

   B. turpentine

   C. corresponding

   D. settlement

   Key: C (corresponding)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 14: “I am looking at it,’ I replied; ‘but I don't know that I shall care to buy unless I can be _____ sure of making something out of it.” Word bank: venerable, reasonably, settlement, approached

    Key: reasonably

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 1 reveal about the character or situation? “The doctor's advice was that we seek, not a temporary place of sojourn, but a permanent residence, in a warmer and more equable climate.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 1) shows the situation turning on slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “temporary” and “permanent” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 26 reveal about the character or situation? “I reckon it ain' so much so nowadays, but befo' de wah, in slab'ry times, a nigger did n' mine goin' fi' er ten mile in a night, w'en dey wuz sump'n good ter eat at de yuther een'.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 26) shows the situation turning on slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “nowadays” and “slab'ry” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The bewitchment. The evidence is “goophered” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17). This develops the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 30 shapes its tone: “W'en we hearn de noos, Aun' Lucy, de cook, she up 'n say she seed de strange nigger eat'n' er de scuppernon's behine de smoke-house; en den we knowed de goopher had b'en er wukkin'.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “scuppernon's” and “goopher” (paragraph 30) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 1 shapes its tone: “He gave us a cordial invitation to come and visit him while we looked into the matter.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “invitation” and “cordial” (paragraph 1) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 36 to the story's treatment of slavery and its memory: “I doan know; dey wa'n't no hams on de plantation 'cep'n' w'at 'uz in de smoke-house, but I never see Henry 'bout de smoke-house.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 36) develops slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “plantation” and “cep'n'” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “A small card, resembling a currycomb in construction, and used by negroes in the rural districts instead of a comb.” (paragraph 38), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating slavery and its memory as central.

17. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What happens to Henry with the seasons?

    A. He is sold

    B. He escapes north

    C. He becomes free

    D. He grows young and strong with the vines, then weak

    Key: D (He grows young and strong with the vines, then weak)

18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 26? “Dere wuz ole Mars Henry Brayboy's niggers, en ole Mars Jeems McLean's niggers, en Mars Dugal's own niggers; den dey wuz a _____ er free niggers en po' buckrahs down by de Wim'l'ton Road, en Mars Dugal' had de only vimya'd in de naberhood.”

    A. settlement

    B. northern

    C. adjoining

    D. confidence

    Key: A (settlement)

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does John suspect about Julius's story?

    A. Julius wanted to buy the land

    B. Julius profited from the grapes and wanted to keep them

    C. It was all true

    D. Julius was afraid

    Key: B (Julius profited from the grapes and wanted to keep them)

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 28 shapes its tone: “She could wuk de mos' powerfulles' kin' er goopher,—could make people hab fits, er rheumatiz, er make 'em des dwinel away en die; en dey say she went out ridin' de niggers at night, fer she wuz a witch 'sides bein' a cunjuh 'oman.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “powerfulles'” and “rheumatiz” (paragraph 28) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Claim: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40).

    Sample answer: The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop. The evidence is “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40) — Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. This develops the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.

22. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Synthesis: trace how the economics of slavery develops from the opening of "The Goophered Grapevine" to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.
    Sample answer: Near the start, "goophered" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17) — The bewitchment. Later, "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31) — Conjure as a business arrangement. Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines.
23. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "The _____ scuppernong holds first rank among our grapes, though we cultivate a great many other varieties, and our income from grapes packed and shipped to the Northern markets is quite considerable." Word bank: shiftless, desuetude, luscious, trellises
    Key: luscious
24. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31: "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de _____"
    Key: grapevimes
25. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: "He held on his knees a hat full of grapes, over which he was smacking his lips with great gusto, and a pile of grapeskins near him indicated that the performance was no new thing." Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words "performance" and "grapeskins" (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of "goophered" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: The bewitchment. The evidence is "goophered" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 17). This develops the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop.
27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of "Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Henry sold as property, his price tied to the vines. The evidence is "Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40). This develops the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words "hunder'" and "fifteen" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop.
28. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Complete the quotation from paragraph 7: "One end of the log was already occupied by a _____-looking colored man." Word bank: market, corresponding, venerable, occurred
    Key: venerable
29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 9 to the story's treatment of slavery and its memory: "He went on eating the grapes, but did not seem to enjoy himself quite so well as he had apparently done before he became aware of our presence." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 9) develops slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words "apparently" and "presence" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "Do you know anything about the time when this vineyard was cultivated?" (paragraph 12), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating slavery and its memory as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 33 to the story's treatment of slavery and its memory: "Co'se he smell de grapes en see de vimes, an atter dahk de fus' thing he done wuz ter slip off ter de grapevimes 'dout sayin' nuffin ter nobody." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 33) develops slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words "grapevimes" and "sayin'" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "En Aun' Peggy say dat bein' ez Henry did n' know 'bout de goopher, en et de grapes in ign'ance er de conseq'ences, she…" (paragraph 35), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating slavery and its memory as central.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 15 to the story's treatment of slavery and its memory: "Well, suh, you is a stranger ter me, en I is a stranger ter you, en we is bofe strangers ter one anudder, but 'f I 'uz in yo' place, I wouldn' buy dis vimya'd." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 15) develops slavery and its memory: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words "strangers" and "stranger" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "But ef you en young miss dere doan' min' lis'nin' ter a ole nigger run on a minute er two w'ile you er restin', I kin…" (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating slavery and its memory as central.

32. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] In the line "As he became more and more absorbed in the narrative, his eyes assumed a dreamy expression, and he seemed to lose sight of his auditors, and to be living over again in monologue his life on the old plantation.", what does "monologue" most nearly mean?

A. a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up

B. frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow

C. a long speech by one person

D. lazy and lacking ambition

Key: C (a long speech by one person)

33. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.NAR] Which literary element does this describe in "The Goophered Grapevine"? The 'superstitious' story is economically shrewd.

A. Tone / mood

B. Irony

C. Diction / vocabulary

D. Simile

Key: B (Irony)

34. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] In the line "The vines—here partly supported by decayed and broken-down trellises, there twining themselves among the branches of the slender saplings which had sprung up among them—grew in wild and unpruned luxuriance, and the few…", what does "trellises" most nearly mean?

A. a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up

B. frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow

C. lazy and lacking ambition

D. a long speech by one person

Key: B (frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow)

35. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Analyze the word choice in "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

Sample answer: Conjure as a business arrangement. The evidence is "he paid Aun' Peggy ten dollars fer to goopher de grapevimes" (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 31). This develops the economics of slavery: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words "grapevimes" and "goopher" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

36. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line "Several planters thereabouts had attempted it on a commercial scale, in former years, with greater or less success; but like most Southern industries, it had felt the blight of war and had fallen into desuetude.", what does "desuetude" most nearly mean?

A. a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up

B. frames of crossed strips on which climbing plants grow

C. lazy and lacking ambition

D. a long speech by one person

Key: A (a state of disuse; no longer being used or kept up)

37. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] Which literary element does this describe in "The Goophered Grapevine"? John narrates in standard English; Julius's tale is told in dialect, letting two worldviews collide.

A. Theme

B. Allusion

C. FrameNarrative

D. Conflict

Key: C (FrameNarrative)

Rigor version	Items (in order)	Mix
Scaffolded support	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16	recall 10, inference 3, analysis 2, synthesis 1
HS Freshman	7, 10, 17, 9, 2, 3, 18, 8, 19, 11, 13, 12, 14, 20, 21, 22	recall 9, inference 3, analysis 3, synthesis 1
HS Sophomore	2, 8, 5, 23, 4, 7, 9, 24, 13, 12, 11, 20, 25, 15, 26, 27	recall 8, inference 3, analysis 3, synthesis 2
HS Junior	4, 17, 3, 7, 5, 8, 28, 13, 12, 11, 15, 14, 25, 20, 29, 30	recall 7, inference 3, analysis 4, synthesis 2
HS Senior	17, 5, 28, 2, 23, 9, 13, 11, 12, 25, 15, 14, 20, 26, 31, 29	recall 6, inference 3, analysis 4, synthesis 3
AP	3, 17, 32, 8, 5, 13, 11, 21, 20, 14, 33, 25, 30, 29, 26, 31	recall 5, inference 2, analysis 5, synthesis 4
College Freshman	28, 10, 34, 5, 4, 7, 11, 15, 35, 20, 14, 25, 26, 29, 16, 31	recall 6, inference 1, analysis 5, synthesis 4

College Sophomore	18, 4, 8, 1, 36, 12, 14, 25, 20, 15, 33, 29, 30, 26, 16, 31	recall 5, inference 1, analysis 5, synthesis 5
College Junior	17, 23, 8, 5, 4, 7, 12, 14, 25, 20, 29, 16, 30, 26, 22, 31	recall 6, inference 1, analysis 3, synthesis 6
College Senior	36, 8, 5, 4, 7, 6, 20, 25, 14, 35, 29, 22, 26, 16, 31, 30	recall 6, inference 0, analysis 4, synthesis 6
Graduate / PhD	17, 1, 5, 4, 8, 13, 37, 14, 15, 25, 29, 16, 30, 26, 27, 31	recall 5, inference 1, analysis 4, synthesis 6

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Goophered Grapevine,” how does Chesnutt show a story told to protect a livelihood? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the point of view you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In The Goophered Grapevine, how does Chesnutt develop the idea of a story told to protect a livelihood? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the point of view in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how The Goophered Grapevine develops the idea of a story told to protect a livelihood. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of point of view and diction / vocabulary shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Goophered Grapevine (where it begins, turns and ends) and its point of view shape the reader's understanding of a story told to protect a livelihood. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Goophered Grapevine suggests about a story told to protect a livelihood. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's point of view and diction / vocabulary), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.NAR, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Charles W. Chesnutt uses point of view in The Goophered Grapevine to complicate the reader's understanding of a story told to protect a livelihood. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate The Goophered Grapevine within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of a story told to protect a livelihood responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read The Goophered Grapevine alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of a story told to protect a livelihood follows or bends those conventions, using the point of view as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Goophered Grapevine and its treatment of a story told to protect a livelihood. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's point of view and diction / vocabulary, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Goophered Grapevine as evidence for a larger claim about a story told to protect a livelihood in The Goophered Grapevine. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Goophered Grapevine as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of a story told to protect a livelihood. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Goophered Grapevine.

SAT-style questions

1. The estate had been for years involved in litigation between disputing heirs, during which period shiftless cultivation had well-nigh exhausted the soil.

   As used in the text, what does the word “shiftless” most nearly mean?

   A. lazy and lacking ambition

   B. in an uncertain or unsure way

   C. in a warm, welcoming way toward guests

   D. richly sweet and delicious

2. We found the weather delightful at that season, the end of summer, and were hospitably entertained. Our host was a man of means and evidently regarded our visit as a pleasure, and we were therefore correspondingly at our ease, and in a position to act with the coolness of judgment desirable in making so radical a change in our lives. My cousin placed a horse and buggy at our disposal, and himself acted as our guide until I became somewhat familiar with the country.

   Which choice best states a central concern of “The Goophered Grapevine”?

   A. A story told to protect a livelihood

   B. Superstition used against a credulous man

   C. The cost of wanting to seem richer than you are

   D. Revenge carried out with perfect control

SAT key: 1. A (lazy and lacking ambition); 2. A (A story told to protect a livelihood)

Unit test

The Goophered Grapevine: end test · 90 minutes · 18 questions per rigor version (multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer). The class rigor level picks the version; student auto-adjust applies.

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

Unit test: item bank (all eleven rigor versions)

1. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 11: “I lives des ober _____, behine de nex' san'-hill, on de Lumberton plank-road.’” Word bank: corresponding, yander, settlement, apparently Key: yander
2. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 9: “While he had been standing, I had observed that he was a tall man, and, though slightly bowed by the weight of years, _____ quite vigorous.” Word bank: market, corresponding, apparently, yander
   Key: apparently
3. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 13? “Dey ain' na'er a man in dis _____ w'at won' tell you ole Julius McAdoo 'uz bawn en raise' on dis yer same plantation.”
   A. venerable
   B. settlement
   C. turpentine
   D. goophered

   Key: B (settlement)
4. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 17? “Well, I dunno whe'r you b'lieves in cunj'in' er not,—some er de w'ite folks don't, er says dey don't,—but de truf er de matter is dat dis yer ole vimya'd is _____.”
   A. market
   B. corresponding
   C. goophered
   D. venerable

   Key: C (goophered)
5. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 1: “There was a red brick _____-house in the public square, with a tall tower, which held a four-faced clock that struck the hours, and from which there pealed out a curfew at nine o'clock.” Word bank: settlement, turpentine, goophered, market
   Key: market

6. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 7? “We alighted from the buggy, walked about the yard for a while, and then wandered off into the _____ vineyard.”

   A. corresponding

   B. approached

   C. settlement

   D. adjoining

   Key: D (adjoining)

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 1? “I was engaged at the time in grape-culture in _____ Ohio, and, as I liked the business and had given it much study, I decided to look for some other locality suitable for carrying it on.”

   A. settlement

   B. occurred

   C. northern

   D. scuppernon

   Key: C (northern)

8. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 1: “It _____ to me that I might find what I wanted in some one of our own Southern States.” Word bank: confidence, occurred, corresponding, scuppernon

   Key: occurred

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 7? “We _____ him at an angle from the rear, and were close to him before he perceived us.”

   A. northern

   B. occurred

   C. apparently

   D. approached

   Key: D (approached)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 24: “De vimes growed monst'us fas', en Mars Dugal' made a thousan' gallon er _____' wine eve'y year.” Word bank: market, scuppernon, corresponding, settlement

    Key: scuppernon

11. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “I thought of sunny France, of sleepy Spain, of Southern California, but there were objections to them all.”

    B. “Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit confidence, advised a change of…”

    C. “The doctor's advice was that we seek, not a temporary place of sojourn, but a permanent residence, in a warmer and more equable climate.”

    D. “I was engaged at the time in grape-culture in northern Ohio, and, as I liked the business and had given it much study, I decided to look…”

    Key: B (“Some years ago my wife was in poor health, and our family doctor, in whose skill and honesty I had implicit confidence, advised a change of…”)

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 7 reveal about the character or situation? “Upon Annie's complaining of weariness I led the way back to the yard, where a pine log, lying under a spreading elm, afforded a shady though somewhat hard seat.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 7) shows the situation turning on race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “complaining” and “spreading” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 12 reveal about the character or situation? “Do you know anything about the time when this vineyard was cultivated?” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 12) shows the situation turning on storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “cultivated” and “vineyard” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 29 reveal about the character or situation? “De niggers seed her slippin' 'roun', en dey soon foun' out what she 'uz doin' dere.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 29) shows the situation turning on race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “slippin'” and “niggers” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 1 shapes its tone: “I thought of sunny France, of sleepy Spain, of Southern California, but there were objections to them all.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “objections” and “thought” (paragraph 1) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 13 shapes its tone: “Is you de Norv'n gemman w'at's gwine ter buy de ole vimya'd?'” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “vimya'd” and “gemman” (paragraph 13) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 28 to the story's treatment of storytelling as resistance: “One day in de spring er de year, ole miss pack' up a basket er chick'n en poun'-cake, en a bottle er scuppernon' wine, en Mars Dugal' tuk it in his buggy en driv ober ter Aun' Peggy's cabin.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 28) develops storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “scuppernon'” and “chick'n” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “De niggers seed her slippin' 'roun', en dey soon foun' out what she 'uz doin' dere.” (paragraph 29), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating storytelling as resistance as central.

18. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 35 reveal about the character or situation? “En Aun' Peggy say dat bein' ez Henry did n' know 'bout de goopher, en et de grapes in ign'ance er de conseq'ences, she reckon she mought be able fer ter take de goopher off'n him.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 35) shows the situation turning on storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The words “conseq'ences” and “ign'ance” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “He was not entirely black, and this fact, together with the quality of his hair, which was about six inches long and very bushy, except on the top of his head, where he was quite bald, suggested a slight strain of other than negro blood.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “suggested” and “entirely” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 6 to the story's treatment of storytelling as resistance: “The house itself, we had been informed, had fallen a victim to the fortunes of war.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 6) develops storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “fortunes” and “informed” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Upon Annie's complaining of weariness I led the way back to the yard, where a pine log, lying under a spreading elm,…” (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating storytelling as resistance as central.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 32 shapes its tone: “He wuz er ole nigger, er de color er a gingy-cake, en ball ez a hoss-apple on de top er his head.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “nigger” (paragraph 32) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 38 shapes its tone: “A small card, resembling a currycomb in construction, and used by negroes in the rural districts instead of a comb.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “construction” and “resembling” (paragraph 38) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 1 to the story's treatment of race and economics: “It was a sufficient time after the war for conditions in the South to have become somewhat settled; and I was enough of a pioneer to start a new industry, if I could not find a place where grape-culture had been tried.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 1) develops race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “sufficient” and “conditions” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He gave us a cordial invitation to come and visit him while we looked into the matter.” (paragraph 1), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating race and economics as central.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 30 to the story's treatment of storytelling as resistance: “W'ite folks say he die' er de fevuh, but de niggers knowed it wuz de goopher.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 30) develops storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “goopher” and “niggers” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He wuz er ole nigger, er de color er a gingy-cake, en ball ez a hoss-apple on de top er his head.” (paragraph 32), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating storytelling as resistance as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 22 shapes its tone: “But ef you en young miss dere doan' min' lis'nin' ter a ole nigger run on a minute er two w'ile you er restin', I kin 'splain to you how it all happen'.’” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “lis'nin'” and “restin'” (paragraph 22) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 27 to the story's treatment of race and economics: “I dunner how it happen, but it happen des like I tell you, en de grapes kep' on a-goin' des de same.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 27) develops race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “happen” and “dunner” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “She could wuk de mos' powerfulles' kin' er goopher,—could make people hab fits, er rheumatiz, er make 'em des dwinel…” (paragraph 28), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating race and economics as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of storytelling as resistance: “He respectfully rose as we drew near, and was moving away, when I begged him to keep his seat.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “respectfully” and “moving” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He was not entirely black, and this fact, together with the quality of his hair, which was about six inches long and…” (paragraph 9), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating storytelling as resistance as central.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 27 shapes its tone: “Mars Dugal' sot spring guns en steel traps, en he en de oberseah sot up nights once't er twice't, tel one night Mars Dugal'—he 'uz a monst'us keerless man—got his leg shot full er cow-peas.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “monst'us” and “keerless” (paragraph 27) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to storytelling as resistance: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 39 to the story's treatment of race and economics: “But dat summer he got des ez spry en libely ez any young nigger on de plantation; fac', he got so biggity dat Mars Jackson, de oberseah, ha' ter th'eaten ter whip 'im, ef he did n' stop cuttin' up his didos en behave hisse'f.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 39) develops race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “plantation” and “oberseah” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The doctor's advice was that we seek, not a temporary place of sojourn, but a permanent residence, in a warmer and more…” (paragraph 1), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating race and economics as central.

30. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 35 shapes its tone: “He manage ter git it down; he say it tas'e like whiskey wid sump'n bitter in it.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words “whiskey” and “manage” (paragraph 35) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 25 to the story's treatment of race and economics: “Dey ain' nuffin dat kin stan' up side'n de scuppernon' fer sweetness; sugar ain't a suckumstance ter scuppernon'.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 25) develops race and economics: Henry is treated as property whose value rises and falls with the vines. Its words “suckumstance” and “scuppernon'” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “I reckon it ain' so much so nowadays, but befo' de wah, in slab'ry times, a nigger did n' mine goin' fi' er ten mile in…” (paragraph 26), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating race and economics as central.

Rigor version	Items (in order)	Mix
Scaffolded support	1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 11, 15, 16, 17	recall 10, inference 5, analysis 2, synthesis 1
HS Freshman	7, 9, 5, 8, 2, 10, 1, 4, 6, 3, 12, 11, 11, 18, 16, 15, 19, 20	recall 10, inference 4, analysis 3, synthesis 1
HS Sophomore	5, 9, 8, 4, 10, 6, 7, 12, 18, 11, 14, 13, 11, 19, 21, 22, 23, 24	recall 7, inference 6, analysis 3, synthesis 2
HS Junior	9, 7, 8, 2, 1, 6, 18, 11, 13, 12, 14, 11, 15, 25, 21, 16, 26, 27	recall 6, inference 6, analysis 4, synthesis 2
HS Senior	7, 2, 3, 9, 8, 11, 18, 14, 12, 11, 13, 28, 19, 22, 16, 23, 29, 17	recall 5, inference 6, analysis 4, synthesis 3
AP	9, 8, 7, 11, 12, 18, 13, 16, 19, 25, 30, 22, 21, 24, 31, 20, 27, 26	recall 3, inference 4, analysis 6, synthesis 5
College Freshman	7, 3, 1, 12, 14, 11, 13, 28, 21, 15, 22, 30, 25, 17, 27, 31, 20, 29	recall 3, inference 4, analysis 6, synthesis 5
College Sophomore	5, 7, 6, 14, 13, 28, 21, 25, 15, 22, 19, 20, 17, 23, 31, 24, 27, 26	recall 3, inference 2, analysis 6, synthesis 7
College Junior	5, 3, 18, 11, 11, 25, 30, 28, 21, 22, 16, 23, 26, 20, 27, 17, 29, 24	recall 2, inference 3, analysis 6, synthesis 7
College Senior	8, 7, 12, 28, 25, 21, 16, 19, 30, 15, 20, 24, 26, 27, 31, 23, 29, 17	recall 2, inference 1, analysis 7, synthesis 8
Graduate / PhD	8, 7, 16, 25, 28, 22, 30, 15, 19, 21, 31, 24, 27, 17, 26, 23, 20, 29	recall 2, inference 0, analysis 8, synthesis 8

Final paper

The Goophered Grapevine: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Charles W. Chesnutt develops slavery and its memory across The Goophered Grapevine. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Goophered Grapevine and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to storytelling as resistance.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Goophered Grapevine. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Goophered Grapevine finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of race and economics. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.

Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Julius's tale is both entertainment and an act of resistance. The text makes this visible when it says “Mars Dugal' up 'n tuk Henry ter town, en sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars” (The Goophered Grapevine, paragraph 40). The "goophered" vines protect his own income, and the detail that the master "sole 'im fer fifteen hunder' dollars" when Henry was strong exposes an economy that treated a man like a crop. A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Slavery and its memory

Scaffolded support (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Goophered Grapevine teaches about slavery and its memory. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Charles W. Chesnutt develops slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Charles W. Chesnutt develops slavery and its memory across The Goophered Grapevine. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Goophered Grapevine (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of slavery and its memory. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Charles W. Chesnutt's choices in The Goophered Grapevine (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of slavery and its memory, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Goophered Grapevine's treatment of slavery and its memory in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on slavery and its memory in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Essay: Storytelling as resistance

Scaffolded support (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Goophered Grapevine teaches about storytelling as resistance. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Charles W. Chesnutt develops storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Charles W. Chesnutt develops storytelling as resistance across The Goophered Grapevine. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Goophered Grapevine (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of storytelling as resistance. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Charles W. Chesnutt's choices in The Goophered Grapevine (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of storytelling as resistance, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Goophered Grapevine's treatment of storytelling as resistance in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on storytelling as resistance in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Essay: Race and economics

Scaffolded support (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Goophered Grapevine teaches about race and economics. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Charles W. Chesnutt develops race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Charles W. Chesnutt develops race and economics across The Goophered Grapevine. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Goophered Grapevine (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of race and economics. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Charles W. Chesnutt's choices in The Goophered Grapevine (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of race and economics, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Goophered Grapevine's treatment of race and economics in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on race and economics in The Goophered Grapevine, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Rubric: Claim · Evidence · Analysis · Organization · Conventions

Original Liber et Libri curriculum. Quotations from the public-domain text. Vocabulary definitions are modern and contextual (curated; based on Princeton WordNet 3.0). Word histories appear only where verified: short origin notes in our own words, with the facts (language, form, meaning) checked against the Online Etymology Dictionary or Wiktionary; no dictionary text is reproduced, and unverified ones are left out. AP and Cambridge entries are our own summaries with links, not College Board or Cambridge text; ICC-WC and LeL IDs are Liber et Libri labels. Included with every curriculum purchase and with Classroom Pro.

Built from curriculum-v5.9.2 (f0080de7).