Essential questions

- What does The Masque of the Red Death suggest about the inevitability of death?
- What does The Masque of the Red Death suggest about privilege and isolation?
- What does The Masque of the Red Death suggest about time?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Edgar Allan Poe was born in Boston on 19 January 1809 to touring actors; orphaned before he was three, he was raised in Richmond, Virginia, by the merchant John Allan, with whom he later quarrelled bitterly. He attended the University of Virginia, served in the U.S. Army and was dismissed from West Point, then lived by his pen as a poet, critic and magazine editor (the Southern Literary Messenger, Graham's Magazine) in Richmond, Philadelphia and New York. He married his young cousin Virginia Clemm, who died of tuberculosis in 1847. "The Raven" (1845) made him famous but never prosperous. He is credited with inventing the modern detective story ("The Murders in the Rue Morgue," 1841) and argued that a short story should create a single "unity of effect." He died in Baltimore on 7 October 1849; the cause of his death is unknown.

Historical and cultural context

Poe wrote the story in 1842, the year his wife Virginia first coughed blood from tuberculosis, a disease that killed many in his family. Cholera epidemics had swept American cities in 1832. The plot, a prince sealing himself away from plague, recalls Boccaccio's Decameron and older traditions of the "dance of death."

Publication and reception, then and now

First published as "The Mask of the Red Death: A Fantasy" in Graham's Magazine (Philadelphia) in May 1842; retitled "The Masque" in 1845.

Then: Little notice at publication.

Now: It is read as an allegory of death that no wealth can wall out, and gained new attention during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Overview (spoiler-free)

While a plague called the Red Death kills half the land, Prince Prospero and a thousand courtiers lock themselves in a fortified abbey for a lavish masked ball in seven strangely coloured rooms.

Main themes

- the inevitability of death: no wall keeps it out.
- privilege and isolation: the rich abandon the poor.
- time: the ebony clock interrupts every pleasure.

Why it matters

The story asks what the powerful owe others during a crisis, a question students lived through in 2020.

Spoilers · teacher only

At midnight a masked figure dressed as a Red Death corpse appears; Prospero pursues it and dies, and the guests discover the costume is empty; the Red Death claims them all.

First, meaning. I read "The external world could take care of itself" slowly and put it in my own words: The narrator says the world outside the abbey could look after itself. Next, craft. I notice how plain and brief it is next to Poe's lavish descriptions of the rooms. The strongest word is "itself": it throws responsibility back onto the dying, which shows Prospero's selfishness. Then, effect. Why might Poe give this careless sentence so much weight? My answer: The line states the theme early: the powerful think they can escape what everyone else suffers, and the story will prove they cannot.

Content note (plague deaths, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Plague deaths. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…there were musicians, there was Beauty, there was wine. All these and security were within. Wi…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.

While a plague called the Red Death kills a third of his realm, Prince Prospero walls himself and a thousand nobles inside a fortified abbey. He throws a masked ball in seven colored rooms running east to west, the last black with blood-red windows and a great ebony clock. At midnight a guest disguised as a Red Death corpse appears; Prospero chases him into the black room and dies, and the revelers find the costume empty. The Red Death has entered, and all die.

Background: Poe wrote it in 1842, in a century of cholera epidemics; his wife Virginia was showing signs of tuberculosis that year.

Significance: It is read as an allegory: the rooms as stages of life, the clock as time, the stranger as death no wealth can bar.

Poe wrote it in 1842, in a century of cholera epidemics; his wife Virginia was showing signs of tuberculosis that year. It is read as an allegory: the rooms as stages of life, the clock as time, the stranger as death no wealth can bar. Symbolism: Seven rooms running east to west (blue to black) are often read as the stages of life; the last, black with blood-red windows, contains the clock. Setting: The sealed abbey with welded gates is a world of artificial pleasure built to deny death. Imagery: Colour and light (stained glass lit by braziers) and the clock's chime dominate the senses. Watch for the ebony clock: time and death; each hour the dancers freeze.

First, meaning. I read "The external world could take care of itself" slowly and put it in my own words: Locked in his abbey, Prospero decides that the world outside can take care of itself while the plague kills it. Next, craft. I notice the short, careless sentence, which sounds like a shrug. The strongest word is "external": it divides the world into inside and outside, the safe rich and the dying poor. Then, effect. What does Prospero's attitude toward "the external world" tell us? My answer: Prospero's attitude that the external world could take care of itself tells us he thinks wealth and walls can shut out death; his indifference to suffering is the arrogance the story will punish.

- Symbolism: Seven rooms running east to west (blue to black) are often read as the stages of life; the last, black with blood-red windows, contains the clock.
- Setting: The sealed abbey with welded gates is a world of artificial pleasure built to deny death.
- Imagery: Colour and light (stained glass lit by braziers) and the clock's chime dominate the senses.

Themes and how they develop

- privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed.

Symbols and motifs

- the ebony clock: time and death; each hour the dancers freeze.

Key quotations (checked against the reading text)

- "The external world could take care of itself" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2) Prospero's indifference.
- "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14) The final sentence: personified triumph.
- "the musicians of the orchestra were constrained to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5) The clock's power.

Model claim-evidence-reasoning

Claim: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death.
Evidence: "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14)
Reasoning: Prospero declares that "the external world could take care of itself," but the clock forces even his musicians "to pause ... to harken to the sound," and the final sentence gives "the Red Death" "illimitable dominion over all."

7. Which characters appear or are mentioned in "The Masque of the Red Death"? Name two and one thing each says or does. [DOK 1 · coldCallWithSupport · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: Names and actions taken from the story; check against the teacher summary.
8. Where and when does "The Masque of the Red Death" take place? Point to the line that tells you. [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: A place/time detail quoted from the story.
9. Reread: "And one by one dropped the revellers in the blood-bedewed halls of their revel, and died each in the despairing posture of his fall." What does "bedewed" mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: bedewed: wet with drops, as of dew or tears.
10. Reread: "His vesture was dabbled in blood—and his broad brow, with all the features of the face, was besprinkled with the scarlet horror." What does "dabbled" mean here, and what is literally happening in this line? [DOK 1 · turnAndTalk · wait 3 s · AP: unit standards] Look for: dabbled: splashed, spattered.

Inferential / analytical

1. What does "The Masque of the Red Death" suggest about the futile attempt to shut out death? State the inference and the line that supports it. [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: It is read as an allegory: the rooms as stages of life, the clock as time, the stranger as death no wealth can bar.
2. Find one example of symbolism in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Look for objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas.
3. How does the setting in this story shape what we understand about the futile attempt to shut out death? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: Look for where and when events happen and how place shapes action or feeling.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "The external world could take care of itself" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2): Prospero's indifference. On setting: The sealed abbey with welded gates is a world of artificial pleasure built to deny death. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins "The "Red Death"", why might Poe have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in "The Masque of the Red Death", and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: While a plague called the Red Death kills a third of his realm, Prince Prospero walls himself and a thousand nobles inside a fortified abbey. He throws a masked ball in seven colored rooms running east to west, the last black with blood-red windows and a great ebony clock. At midnight a guest…

6. As the opening story, what does "The Masque of the Red Death" set up that the rest of The Masque of the Red Death will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14): The final sentence: personified triumph. Theme link: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "the musicians of the orchestra were constrained to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5): The clock's power. Theme link: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: "Why do people sometimes try to ignore a danger instead of facing it?" Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does imagery appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with the inevitability of death? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Look for sensory details (sight, sound, cold, light) and what mood they create.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "The external world could take care of itself" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2): Prospero's indifference. On imagery: Colour and light (stained glass lit by braziers) and the clock's chime dominate the senses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Poe wrote it in 1842, in a century of cholera epidemics; his wife Virginia was showing signs of tuberculosis that year. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14): The final sentence: personified triumph. On setting: The sealed abbey with welded gates is a world of artificial pleasure built to deny death. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
6. Is the symbolism in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14): The final sentence: personified triumph. On symbolism: Seven rooms running east to west (blue to black) are often read as the stages of life; the last, black with blood-red windows, contains the clock. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how "The Masque of the Red Death" treats the futile attempt to shut out death with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does The Masque of the Red Death see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Useful evidence: "the musicians of the orchestra were constrained to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5): The clock's power. Theme link: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. As the final story, does this ending resolve the inevitability of death? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. 9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 2? “When his dominions were half _____, he summoned to his presence a thousand hale and light-hearted friends from among the knights and dames of his court, and with these retired to the deep seclusion of one of his castellated abbeys.”

   A. depopulated
   B. magnificence
   C. extremity
   D. appearances

   Key: A (depopulated)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “The seventh apartment was closely shrouded in black velvet _____ that hung all over the ceiling and down the walls, falling in heavy folds upon a carpet of the same material and hue.” Word bank: devastated, depopulated, scarlet, tapestries

    Key: tapestries

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 1 reveal about the character or situation? “No pestilence had ever been so fatal, or so hideous.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 1) shows the situation turning on the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “pestilence” and “hideous” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “The external world could take care of itself” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Prospero's indifference. The evidence is “The external world could take care of itself” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 5 reveal about the character or situation? “It was in this apartment, also, that there stood against the western wall, a gigantic clock of ebony.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 5) shows the situation turning on the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “apartment” and “gigantic” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 6 shapes its tone: “It was necessary to hear and see and touch him to be sure that he was not.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “necessary” (paragraph 6) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “And these—the dreams—writhed in, and about, taking hue from the rooms, and causing the wild music of the orchestra to seem as the echo of their steps.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “orchestra” and “writhed” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of the inevitability of death: “But in this chamber only, the color of the windows failed to correspond with the decorations.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “decorations” and “correspond” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Now in no one of the seven apartments was there any lamp or candelabrum, amid the profusion of golden ornaments that…” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the inevitability of death as central.
17. [mc · recall · DOK 1] How is the mysterious guest disguised?
    A. As a corpse marked by the Red Death
    B. As the prince
    C. As a jester
    D. As a monk

    Key: A (As a corpse marked by the Red Death)
18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 4? “There was a sharp turn at every _____ or thirty yards, and at each turn a novel effect.”
    A. straight
    B. twenty
    C. magnificence
    D. precautions

    Key: B (twenty)
19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] How many rooms are in the imperial suite?
    A. One
    B. Seven
    C. Twelve
    D. Three

    Key: B (Seven)
20. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: “The prince had provided all the _____ of pleasure.” Word bank: twenty, tapestries, appearances, appliances
    Key: appliances
21. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “To the right and left, in the middle of each wall, a tall and narrow Gothic window looked out upon a closed corridor which pursued the _____ of the suite.” Word bank: bedewed, windings, bizarre, dabbled
    Key: windings
22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “A strong and lofty wall girdled it in.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “girdled” and “strong” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “There were buffoons, there were improvisatori, there were ballet-dancers, there were musicians, there was Beauty, there was wine." Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words "improvisatori" and "musicians" (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of "The external world could take care of itself" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Prospero's indifference. The evidence is "The external world could take care of itself" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 2). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words "external" and "itself" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Prospero declares that "the external world could take care of itself," but the clock forces even his musicians "to pause ... to harken to the sound," and the final sentence gives "the Red Death" "illimitable dominion over all.".

25. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "There were sharp pains, and sudden dizziness, and then _____ bleeding at the pores, with dissolution." Word bank: bizarre, dabbled, profuse, bedewed

    Key: profuse

26. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage most clearly show? "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14) Answer in two or three sentences, quoting one word or phrase.

    Sample answer: The final sentence: personified triumph. The evidence is "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 8 to the story's treatment of the inevitability of death: "But these other apartments were densely crowded, and in them beat feverishly the heart of life." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 8) develops the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words "feverishly" and "apartments" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "But now there were twelve strokes to be sounded by the bell of the clock; and thus it happened, perhaps that more of..." (paragraph 8), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the inevitability of death as central.

28. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.STR] Complete the quotation from The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5: "the musicians of the orchestra were _____ to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound"

    Key: constrained

29. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Claim: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14).

    Sample answer: Prospero declares that "the external world could take care of itself," but the clock forces even his musicians "to pause ... to harken to the sound," and the final sentence gives "the Red Death" "illimitable dominion over all.". The evidence is "And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14), which shows the final sentence: personified triumph. This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed.

30. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze the word choice in "the musicians of the orchestra were constrained to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

Sample answer: The clock's power. The evidence is "the musicians of the orchestra were constrained to pause, momentarily, in their performance, to harken to the sound" (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 5). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words "performance" and "constrained" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 9 to the story's treatment of the inevitability of death: "Even with the utterly lost, to whom life and death are equally jests, there are matters of which no jest can be made." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 9) develops the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words "equally" and "matters" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The figure was tall and gaunt, and shrouded from head to foot in the habiliments of the grave." (paragraph 9), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the inevitability of death as central.

32. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "And then the music ceased, as I have told; and the evolutions of the waltzers were quieted; and there was an uneasy _____ of all things as before." Word bank: cessation, bedewed, bizarre, dabbled

    Key: cessation

33. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] In the line "And one by one dropped the revellers in the blood-bedewed halls of their revel, and died each in the despairing posture of his fall.", what does "bedewed" most nearly mean?

    A. wet with drops, as of dew or tears

    B. produced or growing in extreme abundance

    C. becoming frantic or enraged

    D. conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual

    Key: A (wet with drops, as of dew or tears)

34. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Which literary element does this describe in "The Masque of the Red Death"? Seven rooms running east to west (blue to black) are often read as the stages of life; the last, black with blood-red windows, contains the clock.

    B. Metaphor

    C. Foreshadowing

    Key: D (Symbolism)

35. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of the inevitability of death: "These windows were of stained glass whose color varied in accordance with the prevailing hue of the decorations of the chamber into which it opened." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops the inevitability of death: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words "decorations" and "accordance" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The second chamber was purple in its ornaments and tapestries, and here the panes were purple." (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the inevitability of death as central.

    Key: D (The futile attempt to shut out death)

39. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: The final sentence: personified triumph. The evidence is “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “illimitable” and “dominion” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Prospero declares that "the external world could take care of itself," but the clock forces even his musicians "to pause ... to harken to the sound," and the final sentence gives "the Red Death" "illimitable dominion over all.".

40. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] What can you infer from this line? “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The final sentence: personified triumph. The evidence is “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14). This develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Masque of the Red Death,” how does Poe show the futile attempt to shut out death? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the symbolism you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In The Masque of the Red Death, how does Poe develop the idea of the futile attempt to shut out death? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the symbolism in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how The Masque of the Red Death develops the idea of the futile attempt to shut out death. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of symbolism and setting shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Masque of the Red Death (where it begins, turns and ends) and its symbolism shape the reader's understanding of the futile attempt to shut out death. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Masque of the Red Death suggests about the futile attempt to shut out death. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's symbolism and setting), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.FIG, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Edgar Allan Poe uses symbolism in The Masque of the Red Death to complicate the reader's understanding of the futile attempt to shut out death. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate The Masque of the Red Death within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of the futile attempt to shut out death responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read The Masque of the Red Death alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of the futile attempt to shut out death follows or bends those conventions, using the symbolism as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Masque of the Red Death and its treatment of the futile attempt to shut out death. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's symbolism and setting, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Masque of the Red Death as evidence for a larger claim about the futile attempt to shut out death in The Masque of the Red Death. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Masque of the Red Death as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of the futile attempt to shut out death. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Masque of the Red Death.

SAT-style questions

1. Here the case was very different; as might have been expected from the duke's love of the bizarre.

   As used in the text, what does the word “bizarre” most nearly mean?

   A. propriety in manners and conduct

   B. odd; unusual in behavior

   C. conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual

   D. a stopping

2. The “Red Death” had long devastated the country. No pestilence had ever been so fatal, or so hideous. Blood was its Avator and its seal—the redness and the horror of blood. There were sharp pains, and sudden dizziness, and then profuse bleeding at the pores, with dissolution. The scarlet stains upon the body and especially upon the face of the victim, were the pest ban which shut him out from the aid and from the sympathy of his fellowmen. And the whole seizure, progress and termination of the disease, were the incidents of half an hour.

Which choice best states a central concern of "The Masque of the Red Death"?

B. The arrogance and loneliness of seeing differently

C. The foolishness of wishing to be young again

SAT key: 1. C (conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual); 2. D (The futile attempt to shut out death)

   Key: emanating

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: “The _____, having entered, brought furnaces and massy hammers and welded the bolts.” Word bank: courtiers, tapestries, straight, extremity

    Key: courtiers

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 8 reveal about the character or situation? “But now there were twelve strokes to be sounded by the bell of the clock; and thus it happened, perhaps that more of thought crept, with more of time, into the meditations of the thoughtful among those who revelled.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 8) shows the situation turning on privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “meditations” and “thoughtful” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “When his dominions were half depopulated, he summoned to his presence a thousand hale and light-hearted friends from among the knights and…”

    B. “And the whole seizure, progress and termination of the disease, were the incidents of half an hour.”

    C. “A strong and lofty wall girdled it in.”

    D. “But the Prince Prospero was happy and dauntless and sagacious.”

    Key: B (“And the whole seizure, progress and termination of the disease, were the incidents of half an hour.”)

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 2 reveal about the character or situation? “In the meantime it was folly to grieve, or to think.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 2) shows the situation turning on time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “meantime” and “grieve” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? “The second chamber was purple in its ornaments and tapestries, and here the panes were purple.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 4) shows the situation turning on privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “tapestries” and “ornaments” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “The fourth was furnished and lighted with orange—the fifth with white—the sixth with violet.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “furnished” and “lighted” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “The apartments were so irregularly disposed that the vision embraced but little more than one at a time.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “irregularly” and “apartments” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of privilege and isolation: “There were much glare and glitter and piquancy and phantasm—much of what has been since seen in ‘Hernani.’ There were arabesque figures with unsuited limbs and appointments.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “appointments” and “arabesque” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “There were much of the beautiful, much of the wanton, much of the bizarre, something of the terrible, and not a little…” (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating privilege and isolation as central.
18. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 7 reveal about the character or situation? “There were much of the beautiful, much of the wanton, much of the bizarre, something of the terrible, and not a little of that which might have excited disgust.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 7) shows the situation turning on time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The words “something” and “beautiful” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “Now in no one of the seven apartments was there any lamp or candelabrum, amid the profusion of golden ornaments that lay scattered to and fro or depended from the roof.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “candelabrum” and “apartments” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “The figure was tall and gaunt, and shrouded from head to foot in the habiliments of the grave.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “habiliments” and “shrouded” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “And now again the music swells, and the dreams live, and writhe to and fro more merrily than ever, taking hue from the many tinted windows through which stream the rays from the tripods.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “merrily” and “through” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “In an assembly of phantasms such as I have painted, it may well be supposed that no ordinary appearance could have excited such sensation.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “appearance” and “phantasms” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 2 to the story's treatment of privilege and isolation: “They resolved to leave means neither of ingress or egress to the sudden impulses of despair or of frenzy from within.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 2) develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “impulses” and “resolved” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “In the meantime it was folly to grieve, or to think.” (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating privilege and isolation as central.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of time: “But in the corridors that followed the suite, there stood, opposite to each window, a heavy tripod, bearing a brazier of fire, that projected its rays through the tinted glass and so glaringly illumined the room.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “projected” and “corridors” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “It was in this apartment, also, that there stood against the western wall, a gigantic clock of ebony.” (paragraph 5), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 6 shapes its tone: “But, in spite of these things, it was a gay and magnificent revel.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “magnificent” and “things” (paragraph 6) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of privilege and isolation: “And then, for a moment, all is still, and all is silent save the voice of the clock.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “moment” and “silent” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “And now again the music swells, and the dreams live, and writhe to and fro more merrily than ever, taking hue from the…” (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating privilege and isolation as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 9 to the story's treatment of time: “And yet all this might have been endured, if not approved, by the mad revellers around.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 9) develops time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “revellers” and “approved” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “No pestilence had ever been so fatal, or so hideous.” (paragraph 1), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 1 shapes its tone: “The scarlet stains upon the body and especially upon the face of the victim, were the pest ban which shut him out from the aid and from the sympathy of his fellow-men.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “especially” and “sympathy” (paragraph 1) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 2 to the story's treatment of time: “But the Prince Prospero was happy and dauntless and sagacious.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 2) develops time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “dauntless” and “sagacious” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “A strong and lofty wall girdled it in.” (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of privilege and isolation: “But first let me tell of the rooms in which it was held.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops privilege and isolation: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words its wording carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The apartments were so irregularly disposed that the vision embraced but little more than one at a time.” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating privilege and isolation as central.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Connect this passage from paragraph 6 to the story's treatment of time: “His plans were bold and fiery, and his conceptions glowed with barbaric lustre.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 6) develops time: Prospero's withdrawal is selfish and doomed. Its words “conceptions” and “barbaric” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “It was necessary to hear and see and touch him to be sure that he was not.” (paragraph 6), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating time as central.

32. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line “Here the case was very different; as might have been expected from the duke's love of the bizarre.”, what does “bizarre” most nearly mean?

    A. wet with drops, as of dew or tears

    B. conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual

    C. becoming frantic or enraged

    D. splashed, spattered

    Key: B (conspicuously or grossly unconventional or unusual)

33. Final paper

The Masque of the Red Death: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Edgar Allan Poe develops the inevitability of death across The Masque of the Red Death. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Masque of the Red Death and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to privilege and isolation.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Masque of the Red Death. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Masque of the Red Death finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of time. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.

Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: The story's setting and symbols show that wealth cannot protect anyone from death. The text makes this visible when it says “And Darkness and Decay and the Red Death held illimitable dominion over all” (The Masque of the Red Death, paragraph 14). Prospero declares that "the external world could take care of itself," but the clock forces even his musicians "to pause ... to harken to the sound," and the final sentence gives "the Red Death" "illimitable dominion over all.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.
