Essential questions

- What does The Necklace suggest about vanity and appearance?
- What does The Necklace suggest about class?
- What does The Necklace suggest about honesty?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Guy de Maupassant was born in Normandy, France, on 5 August 1850. After serving in the Franco-Prussian War he worked as a government clerk in Paris and was mentored by the storyist Gustave Flaubert, a friend of his mother's. His story "Boule de Suif" (1880) made his name, and in about a decade he published some 300 stories and six stories, known for their precise realism and irony. He suffered from syphilis, which affected his mind; after a suicide attempt he was confined to an asylum and died in Paris on 6 July 1893.

Historical and cultural context

Paris in the 1880s was a society of rigid class distinctions; minor civil servants like Monsieur Loisel lived on small salaries, and social events such as a ministry ball were chances to display status.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published as "La Parure" in the newspaper Le Gaulois on 17 February 1884.

Then: Very popular in France and soon translated.

Now: One of the most famous twist endings, widely taught on irony, materialism and class.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Mathilde Loisel, a clerk's wife who dreams of luxury, borrows a diamond necklace from a rich friend for a ball, and loses it.

Main themes

- appearance versus reality.
- pride and vanity.
- class.

Why it matters

The story questions consumer culture and the cost of pretending.

Spoilers · teacher only

The Loisels borrow heavily to replace it and spend ten years in poverty paying the debt; then Mathilde learns the original was fake.

Mathilde Loisel, a clerk's wife who dreams of luxury, borrows a diamond necklace from her rich friend Madame Forestier for a ministry ball. She loses it, and the Loisels secretly buy a replacement for 36,000 francs, sinking into poverty for ten years to repay the debt. Worn and aged, Mathilde meets Madame Forestier and tells her the truth. The original was paste, worth at most five hundred francs.

First, meaning. I read "She suffered ceaselessly, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries" slowly and put it in my own words: Mathilde is always unhappy because she believes she was born to live in luxury. Next, craft. I notice "ceaselessly" and "all... all," words of excess that match her endless wanting. The strongest word is "delicacies": it is a word for fine things, and she feels entitled to them rather than lucky to have them. Then, effect. Why does Mathilde suffer ceaselessly? My answer: Mathilde suffers ceaselessly because she believes she was born for luxury and measures her modest life against that fantasy; her self-made pain sets up the choice to borrow the necklace.

5. What causes the main turn in “The Necklace”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Mathilde Loisel, a clerk's wife who dreams of luxury, borrows a diamond necklace from her rich friend Madame Forestier for a ministry ball. She loses it, and the Loisels secretly buy a replacement for 36,000 francs, sinking into poverty for ten years to repay the debt. Worn and aged, Mathilde meets…
6. As the opening story, what does “The Necklace” set up that the rest of The Necklace will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130): The reveal. Theme link: everyone is fooled by appearances. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108): The narrator's reflection. On characterization: Mathilde changes from vain to hard-working; Loisel is loyal. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “Why do people sometimes pretend to be more than they are?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does theme appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with vanity and appearance? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for statements or moments that connect to the book's big ideas.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “She suffered ceaselessly, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries” (The Necklace, paragraph 5): Character. Theme link: everyone is fooled by appearances. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Published in Le Gaulois in 1884. Translation: Jonathan Sturges, in The Odd Number (1889), public domain in the US. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130): The reveal. Theme link: everyone is fooled by appearances. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “One of the best-known twist endings; on Glencoe grade 9 lesson plans.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. 6. Is the irony in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130): The reveal. On irony: The fake necklace costs ten real years. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how “The Necklace” treats the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does The Necklace see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Useful evidence: “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108): The narrator's reflection. Theme link: everyone is fooled by appearances. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. As the final story, does this ending resolve vanity and appearance? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her.    Key: A (She becomes worn and coarse from hard work)

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] How long do the Loisels work to repay the debt?

   A. Ten years

   B. One year

C. Thirty years

D. Six months

Key: A (Ten years)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 23: “Only I have no dress, and _____ I can't go to this ball.” Word bank: descended, therefore, occasions, contrasted

    Key: therefore

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? “Natural fineness, instinct for what is elegant, suppleness of wit, are the sole hierarchy, and make from women of the people the equals of the very greatest ladies.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 4) shows the situation turning on vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “suppleness” and “hierarchy” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The reveal. The evidence is “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130). This develops appearance versus reality: everyone is fooled by appearances.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 61 reveal about the character or situation? “When they were in the street they did not find a carriage; and they began to look for one, shouting after the cabmen whom they saw passing by at a distance.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 61) shows the situation turning on vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “shouting” and “distance” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 13 shapes its tone: “Instead of being delighted, as her husband hoped, she threw the invitation on the table with disdain, murmuring:” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “invitation” and “delighted” (paragraph 13) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze the word choice in “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: The narrator's reflection. The evidence is “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108). This develops appearance versus reality: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “little” and “needed” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 98 to the story's treatment of vanity and appearance: “When Mme. Loisel took back the necklace Mme. Forestier said to her, with a chilly manner:” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 98) develops vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “necklace” and “chilly” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “If she had detected the substitution, what would she have thought, what would she have said?” (paragraph 100), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating vanity and appearance as central.

17. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from The Necklace, paragraph 5: “She suffered _____, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries”

    Key: ceaselessly

18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does Madame Forestier reveal?

    A. She wants it back

    B. The original necklace was fake

    C. She knew all along

    D. She found the necklace

    Key: B (The original necklace was fake)

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What is Mathilde's husband's job?

    A. A banker

    B. A clerk in the Ministry of Public Instruction

    C. A shopkeeper

    D. A soldier

    Key: B (A clerk in the Ministry of Public Instruction)

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Claim: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108).

    Sample answer: She hides the loss instead of confessing, and only later learns "my necklace was paste"; the narrator reflects "How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved.". The evidence is “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108) — The narrator's reflection. This develops appearance versus reality: everyone is fooled by appearances.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 81 shapes its tone: “She sat waiting on a chair in her ball dress, without strength to go to bed, overwhelmed, without fire, without a thought.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “overwhelmed” and “strength” (paragraph 81) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 93 shapes its tone: “Then they went from jeweller to jeweller, searching for a necklace like the other, consulting their memories, sick both of them with chagrin and with anguish.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “consulting” and “searching” (paragraph 93) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “She _____ plainly because she could not dress well, but she was as unhappy as though she had really fallen from her proper station; since with women there is neither caste nor rank; and beauty, grace, and charm act instead of family and birth.” Word bank: descended, distress, dressed, schoolmate

    Key: dressed

24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 23 shapes its tone: “Give your card to some colleague whose wife is better equipped than I.’” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “colleague” and “equipped” (paragraph 23) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 41 to the story's treatment of vanity and appearance: “Go look up your friend Mme. Forestier, and ask her to lend you some jewels.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 41) develops vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “friend” and “jewels” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Mme. Forestier went to a wardrobe with a glass door, took out a large jewel-box, brought it back, opened it, and said…” (paragraph 45), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating vanity and appearance as central.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 102 to the story's treatment of vanity and appearance: “She washed the dirty linen, the shirts, and the dish-cloths, which she dried upon a line; she carried the slops down to the street every morning, and carried up the water, stopping for breath at every landing.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 102) develops vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “stopping” and “morning” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Each month they had to meet some notes, renew others, obtain more time.” (paragraph 103), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating vanity and appearance as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “She suffered ceaselessly, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries” (The Necklace, paragraph 5) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Character. The evidence is “She suffered ceaselessly, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries” (The Necklace, paragraph 5). This develops appearance versus reality: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “ceaselessly” and “delicacies” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. She hides the loss instead of confessing, and only later learns "my necklace was paste"; the narrator reflects "How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved.".

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Synthesis: trace how appearance versus reality develops from the opening of “The Necklace” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: Near the start, “She suffered ceaselessly, feeling herself born for all the delicacies and all the luxuries” (The Necklace, paragraph 5) — Character. Later, “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108) — The narrator's reflection. Everyone is fooled by appearances.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 55 to the story's treatment of vanity and appearance: “She was prettier than them all, elegant, gracious, smiling, and crazy with joy.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 55) develops vanity and appearance: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “gracious” and “prettier” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Her husband had been sleeping since mid-night, in a little deserted ante-room, with three other gentlemen whose wives…” (paragraph 57), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating vanity and appearance as central.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] In the line “Yes, I felt it in the vestibule of the palace.”, what does “vestibule” most nearly mean?

    A. bands or chains worn around the wrist

    B. oriented toward home

    C. making one feel ashamed and foolish

    D. an entrance hall

Key: D (an entrance hall)

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: The reveal. The evidence is “Why, my necklace was paste” (The Necklace, paragraph 130). This develops appearance versus reality: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “necklace” and “paste” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. She hides the loss instead of confessing, and only later learns "my necklace was paste"; the narrator reflects "How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved.".

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Necklace,” how does Maupassant show the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): In The Necklace, how does Maupassant develop the idea of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea. Read in the public-domain translation by Jonathan Sturges.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Analyze how The Necklace develops the idea of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and characterization shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim. Read in the public-domain translation by Jonathan Sturges.

HS Junior (550 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO3): Analyze how the structure of The Necklace (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5): Two readers disagree about what The Necklace suggests about the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and characterization), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Guy de Maupassant uses irony in The Necklace to complicate the reader's understanding of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Situate The Necklace within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Read The Necklace alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Necklace and its treatment of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and characterization, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Necklace as evidence for a larger claim about the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are in The Necklace. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Necklace as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of the cost of wanting to seem richer than you are. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Necklace.

SAT-style questions

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 100 reveal about the character or situation? "If she had detected the substitution, what would she have thought, what would she have said?" Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 100) shows the situation turning on class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “substitution” and “detected” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 45 reveal about the character or situation? “Mme. Forestier went to a wardrobe with a glass door, took out a large jewel-box, brought it back, opened it, and said to Mme. Loisel:” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 45) shows the situation turning on class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “wardrobe” and “brought” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 91 reveal about the character or situation? “The next day they took the box which had contained it, and they went to the jeweller whose name was found within.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 91) shows the situation turning on honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “contained” and “jeweller” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 102 shapes its tone: “She came to know what heavy house-work meant and the odious cares of the kitchen.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “kitchen” and “odious” (paragraph 102) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “She would so have liked to please, to be envied, to be charming, to be sought after.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “charming” and “sought” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 73 to the story's treatment of honesty: “You 're sure you had it on when you left the ball?” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 73) develops honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words its wording carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “She sat waiting on a chair in her ball dress, without strength to go to bed, overwhelmed, without fire, without a…” (paragraph 81), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating honesty as central.
18. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 50 shapes its tone: “She fastened it around her throat, outside her high-necked dress, and remained lost in ecstasy at the sight of herself.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “remained” and “fastened” (paragraph 50) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 103 shapes its tone: “Each month they had to meet some notes, renew others, obtain more time.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “obtain” and “others” (paragraph 103) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral.

That weight points the reader to class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 29 shapes its tone: “He had grown a little pale, because he was laying aside just that amount to buy a gun and treat himself to a little shooting next summer on the plain of Nanterre, with several friends who went to shoot larks down there, of a Sunday.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “shooting” and “because” (paragraph 29) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 16 to the story's treatment of class: “She looked at him with an irritated eye, and she said, impatiently:” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 16) develops class: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “impatiently” and “irritated” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “But, by a violent effort, she had conquered her grief, and she replied, with a calm voice, while she wiped her wet…” (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating class as central.
22. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 22 reveal about the character or situation? “But, by a violent effort, she had conquered her grief, and she replied, with a calm voice, while she wiped her wet cheeks:” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 22) shows the situation turning on honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The words “conquered” and “violent” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
23. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 57 shapes its tone: “Her husband had been sleeping since mid-night, in a little deserted ante-room, with three other gentlemen whose wives were having a very good time.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “gentlemen” and “deserted” (paragraph 57) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 95 to the story's treatment of class: “So they begged the jeweller not to sell it for three days yet.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 95) develops class: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “jeweller” and “begged” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He did borrow, asking a thousand francs of one, five hundred of another, five louis here, three louis there.” (paragraph 97), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating class as central.
25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 97 shapes its tone: “He did borrow, asking a thousand francs of one, five hundred of another, five louis here, three louis there.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “thousand” and “another” (paragraph 97) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
26. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 64 shapes its tone: “She removed the wraps, which covered her shoulders, before the glass, so as once more to see herself in all her glory.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words “shoulders” and “covered” (paragraph 64) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to class: everyone is fooled by appearances. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of honesty: “She tore the paper sharply, and drew out a printed card which bore these words:” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “printed” and “sharply” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Instead of being delighted, as her husband hoped, she threw the invitation on the table with disdain, murmuring:” (paragraph 13), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating honesty as central.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 106 to the story's treatment of honesty: “At the end or ten years they had paid everything, everything, with the rates of usury, and the accumulations of the compound interest.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 106) develops honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “accumulations” and “everything” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Natural fineness, instinct for what is elegant, suppleness of wit, are the sole hierarchy, and make from women of the…” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating honesty as central.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 26 to the story's treatment of class: “She reflected several seconds, making her calculations and wondering also what sum she could ask without drawing on herself an immediate refusal and a frightened exclamation from the economical clerk.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 26) develops class: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “calculations” and “exclamation” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He had grown a little pale, because he was laying aside just that amount to buy a gun and treat himself to a little…” (paragraph 29), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating class as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 84 to the story's treatment of class: “She waited all day, in the same condition of mad fear before this terrible calamity.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 84) develops class: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “condition” and “terrible” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The next day they took the box which had contained it, and they went to the jeweller whose name was found within.” (paragraph 91), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating class as central.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 58 to the story's treatment of honesty: “She felt this and wanted to escape so as not to be remarked by the other women, who were enveloping themselves in costly furs.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 58) develops honesty: everyone is fooled by appearances. Its words “enveloping” and “themselves” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “When they were in the street they did not find a carriage; and they began to look for one, shouting after the cabmen…” (paragraph 61), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating honesty as central.

Final paper

The Necklace: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Guy de Maupassant develops vanity and appearance across The Necklace. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Necklace and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to class.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Necklace. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Necklace finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of honesty. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.
Organization	15

		Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Mathilde's pride, not bad luck, ruins her. The text makes this visible when it says “How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved” (The Necklace, paragraph 108). She hides the loss instead of confessing, and only later learns "my necklace was paste"; the narrator reflects "How little a thing is needed for us to be lost or to be saved.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Vanity and appearance

Scaffolded support (600 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Necklace teaches about vanity and appearance. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Guy de Maupassant develops vanity and appearance in The Necklace. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Guy de Maupassant develops vanity and appearance across The Necklace. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Necklace (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of vanity and appearance. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO5): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of vanity and appearance in The Necklace. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Guy de Maupassant's choices in The Necklace (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of vanity and appearance, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Necklace's treatment of vanity and appearance in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on vanity and appearance in The Necklace that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on vanity and appearance in The Necklace. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about vanity and appearance in The Necklace, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on vanity and appearance in The Necklace, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.
