Essential questions

- What does Araby suggest about romantic idealism and disillusionment?
- What does Araby suggest about coming of age?
- What does Araby suggest about religion and desire?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Lesson 1: Introduction to Araby

Objective: Students will explain, in a 3-sentence exit ticket, how one fact about James Joyce's life or times connects to romantic idealism and disillusionment in “Araby”, and will set up a reading journal with a prediction and a question for each of 3 themes (romantic idealism and disillusionment, coming of age, religion and desire).

Author biography

James Joyce was born in Dublin on 2 February 1882 and educated by Jesuits. He left Ireland in 1904 with Nora Barnacle and lived in Trieste, Zurich and Paris, but wrote almost entirely about Dublin. Dubliners (1914), a collection of fifteen stories, was delayed for years by publishers' fears of libel and obscenity; it was followed by A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man (1916), Ulysses (1922) and Finnegans Wake (1939). He died in Zurich on 13 January 1941.

Historical and cultural context

Dublin around 1895 was a city under British rule, shaped by the Catholic Church and economic stagnation. Araby was a real bazaar held in Dublin in May 1894.

Publication and reception, then and now

Published in Dubliners (1914), a collection Joyce completed by 1907 that publishers rejected for years.

Then: Dubliners sold poorly.

Now: A landmark of modernist short fiction and the "epiphany."

Overview (spoiler-free)

A boy on North Richmond Street is infatuated with his friend's older sister. When she mentions the Araby bazaar, he promises to bring her a gift.

Main themes

- disillusionment.
- romantic idealism.
- paralysis.

Why it matters

Students recognize the experience of a crush and the moment idealism breaks.

Spoilers · teacher only

His uncle comes home late; the boy reaches the bazaar as it closes and finds it shabby; he realizes his romantic dream was vanity.

First, meaning. I read "North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street" slowly and put it in my own words: North Richmond Street is a quiet, dead-end street. Next, craft. I notice "blind," used for a street, which means it has no way out. The strongest word is "blind": it suggests a place without vision or escape, which matches the boy's life. Then, effect. How does this first sentence set up the boy's world? My answer: Joyce opens in a closed-in Dublin street; the boy will try to escape through his dream of Araby and fail.

A boy on North Richmond Street, Dublin, is infatuated with his friend Mangan's sister. When she mentions the Araby bazaar, he promises to bring her a gift. His uncle comes home late and drunk, and the boy reaches the bazaar as it closes. Seeing a shop girl flirt idly, he feels himself 'a creature driven and derided by vanity.'

Background: Collected in Dubliners (1914). The Araby bazaar was a real 1894 Dublin event; Joyce's stories show the 'paralysis' he saw in Irish life.

Significance: A central modernist text for epiphany; in Gale's Short Stories for Students vol. 1.

A central modernist text for epiphany; in Gale's Short Stories for Students vol. 1. Epiphany: The final sentence is a sudden self-recognition. Model the close reading of the anchor quotation using the written think-aloud below.
First, meaning. I read "I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes" slowly and put it in my own words: Running errands with his aunt, the boy pictures himself carrying a sacred cup safely through enemies. Next, craft. I notice the religious and knightly image, a chalice and foes, laid over an ordinary shopping trip. The strongest word is "chalice": a chalice holds communion wine, so his crush becomes holy in his mind. Then, effect. What does the boy imagine as he walks through the market? My answer: As he carries his aunt's parcels through the flaring streets on Saturday evenings, the boy imagines he is carrying a holy chalice through enemies, turning his feelings into a romantic quest; the bigger the fantasy, the harder his fall at the end.

> I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes (Araby, paragraph 5)

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37): Epiphany. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1): Paralysis. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “Have you ever looked forward to something that disappointed you? Why?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does symbolism appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with romantic idealism and disillusionment? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Look for objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5): Romantic quest. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Collected in Dubliners (1914). The Araby bazaar was a real 1894 Dublin event; Joyce's stories show the 'paralysis' he saw in Irish life. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity" (Araby, paragraph 37): Epiphany. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: "A central modernist text for epiphany; in Gale's Short Stories for Students vol. 1." How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: "North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street" (Araby, paragraph 1): Paralysis. Theme link: his quest collapses. 2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: "I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes" (Araby, paragraph 5): Romantic quest. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of "Araby" from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: "Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity" (Araby, paragraph 37): Epiphany. On point of view: An older narrator looks back on his younger self. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about "Araby": one recall, one "why/how", and one "should/what if". Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: "North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street" (Araby, paragraph 1): Paralysis. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
5. Connect this story to coming of age: is the link strong or weak so far? What would Joyce need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: "I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes" (Araby, paragraph 5): Romantic quest. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
6. Is the imagery in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.FIG, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37): Epiphany. On imagery: Light and darkness; religious imagery ("chalice"). Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how “Araby” treats a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does Araby see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1): Paralysis. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. As the final story, does this ending resolve romantic idealism and disillusionment? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5): Romantic quest. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37): Epiphany. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. What question would you most like to ask James Joyce about this story, and what answer do you think the text itself gives? [DOK 4 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A student-generated question answered from evidence.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Useful evidence: “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1): Paralysis. Theme link: his quest collapses. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Annotation focus

- Imagery: look for sensory details (sight, sound, cold, light) and what mood they create (anchor passage in the We do segment)
- Also notice Point of view: who is telling the story and what that narrator can and cannot know
- Also notice Symbolism: objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas

    Key: C (Imagery)
14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze the word choice in “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.
    Sample answer: Paralysis. The evidence is “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1). This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses. The words “street” and “being” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.
15. [mc · analysis · DOK 3] Which literary element does this describe in “Araby”? The final sentence is a sudden self-recognition.
    A. Epiphany
    B. Plot
    C. Simile
    D. Tone / mood

    Key: A (Epiphany)
16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Synthesis: trace how disillusionment develops from the opening of “Araby” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.
    Sample answer: Near the start, “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5) — Romantic quest. Later, “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet street” (Araby, paragraph 1) — Paralysis. His quest collapses.
17. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 3: “When we _____ to the street light from the kitchen windows had filled the areas.” Word bank: returned, changing, doorstep, adoration
    Key: returned
18. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 1: “An _____ house of two storeys stood at the blind end, detached from its neighbours in a square ground.” Word bank: summons, waiting, uninhabited, straggling

Key: uninhabited

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 3? “Her dress swung as she moved her body and the soft rope of her hair _____ from side to side.”

    A. tossed

    B. adoration

    C. drawing

    D. uninhabited

    Key: A (tossed)

20. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “I had never spoken to her, except for a few casual words, and yet her name was like a _____ to all my foolish blood.” Word bank: adoration, understand, summons, pulled

    Key: summons

21. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Romantic quest. The evidence is “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5). This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses.

22. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 1 reveal about the character or situation? “The other houses of the street, conscious of decent lives within them, gazed at one another with brown imperturbable faces.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 1) shows the situation turning on romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The words “imperturbable” and “conscious” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

23. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 6 reveal about the character or situation? “It was a dark rainy evening and there was no sound in the house.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 6) shows the situation turning on romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The words “evening” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “He had been a very charitable priest; in his will he had left all his money to institutions and the furniture of his house to his sister.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “institutions” and “charitable” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 13 to the story's treatment of romantic idealism and disillusionment: “He was fussing at the hallstand, looking for the hat-brush, and answered me curtly:” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 13) develops romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. Its words “hallstand” and “answered” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “I felt the house in bad humour and walked slowly towards the school.” (paragraph 15), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating romantic idealism and disillusionment as central.

26. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 2? “The wild garden behind the house contained a central apple-tree and a few _____ bushes under one of which I found the late tenant's rusty bicycle-pump.”

    A. straggling

    B. doorstep

    C. followed

    D. returned

    Key: A (straggling)

27. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Epiphany. The evidence is “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37). This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Claim: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5).

    Sample answer: He imagines himself bearing a "chalice safely through a throng of foes," but at the bazaar he sees himself "as a creature driven and derided by vanity.". The evidence is “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5) — Romantic quest. This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 5 to the story's treatment of romantic idealism and disillusionment: “Her image accompanied me even in places the most hostile to romance.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 5) develops romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. Its words “accompanied” and “hostile” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “My eyes were often full of tears (I could not tell why) and at times a flood from my heart seemed to pour itself out…” (paragraph 5), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating romantic idealism and disillusionment as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 12 to the story's treatment of romantic idealism and disillusionment: “I asked for leave to go to the bazaar on Saturday night.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 12) develops romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. Its words “bazaar” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “I watched my master's face pass from amiability to sternness; he hoped I was not beginning to idle.” (paragraph 12), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating romantic idealism and disillusionment as central.

31. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.STR] Complete the quotation from Araby, paragraph 1: “North Richmond Street, being blind, was a quiet _____”

    Key: street

32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “The light from the lamp opposite our door caught the white curve of her neck, lit up her hair that rested there and, falling, lit up the hand upon the railing.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “opposite” and “falling” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

33. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 3 shapes its tone: “If my uncle was seen turning the corner we hid in the shadow until we had seen him safely housed.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “turning” and “shadow” (paragraph 3) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
34. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of romantic idealism and disillusionment: “Every morning I lay on the floor in the front parlour watching her door.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. Its words “watching” and “morning” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “When she came out on the doorstep my heart leaped.” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating romantic idealism and disillusionment as central.
35. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Epiphany. The evidence is “Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity” (Araby, paragraph 37). This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses. The words “darkness” and “creature” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. He imagines himself bearing a "chalice safely through a throng of foes," but at the bazaar he sees himself "as a creature driven and derided by vanity.".
36. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “I forgot whether I answered yes or no.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “answered” and “whether” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to romantic idealism and disillusionment: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
37. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Romantic quest. The evidence is “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5). This develops disillusionment: his quest collapses. The words “imagined” and “chalice” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. He imagines himself bearing a "chalice safely through a throng of foes," but at the bazaar he sees himself "as a creature driven and derided by vanity.".
38. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line “She was an old garrulous woman, a pawnbroker's widow, who collected used stamps for some pious purpose.”, what does “garrulous” most nearly mean?
    A. came together from different directions
    B. talking too much, especially about unimportant things
    C. mocked or ridiculed
    D. to press against or strike upon

    Key: B (talking too much, especially about unimportant things)

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “Araby,” how does Joyce show a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the imagery you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In Araby, how does Joyce develop the idea of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the imagery in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how Araby develops the idea of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of imagery and point of view shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of Araby (where it begins, turns and ends) and its imagery shape the reader's understanding of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what Araby suggests about a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's imagery and point of view), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.FIG, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how James Joyce uses imagery in Araby to complicate the reader's understanding of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate Araby within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read Araby alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion follows or bends those conventions, using the imagery as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to Araby and its treatment of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's imagery and point of view, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads Araby as evidence for a larger claim about a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion in Araby. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads Araby as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of a boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on Araby.

SAT-style questions

1. Gazing up into the darkness I saw myself as a creature driven and derided by vanity; and my eyes burned with anguish and anger.

   As used in the text, what does the word “derided” most nearly mean?

   A. packages

   B. set free

   C. mocked or ridiculed

   D. a small coin of the United Kingdom worth six pennies; not minted since 1970

2. One evening I went into the back drawing-room in which the priest had died. It was a dark rainy evening and there was no sound in the house. Through one of the broken panes I heard the rain impinge upon the earth, the fine incessant needles of water playing in the sodden beds. Some distant lamp or lighted window gleamed below me. I was thankful that I could see so little. All my senses seemed to desire to veil themselves and, feeling that I was about to slip from them, I pressed the palms of my hands together until they trembled, murmuring: "O love! O love!" many times.

Which choice best states a central concern of "Araby"?

A. The cost of wanting to seem richer than you are

B. Courage in defense of home

C. A boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion

D. The futile attempt to shut out death

SAT key: 1. C (mocked or ridiculed); 2. C (A boy's romantic quest ending in disillusion)

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

Unit test: item bank (all eleven rigor versions)

1. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 3: “When the short days of winter came dusk fell before we had well eaten our _____.” Word bank: dinners, understand, summons, followed
   Key: dinners
2. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 4? “I ran to the hall, seized my books and _____ her.”
   A. drawing
   B. summons
   C. followed
   D. straggling
   Key: C (followed)
3. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 3? “Or if Mangan's sister came out on the _____ to call her brother in to his tea we watched her from our shadow peer up and down the street.”
   A. adoration
   B. returned
   C. doorstep
   D. changing
   Key: C (doorstep)
4. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 3: “She was _____ for us, her figure defined by the light from the half-opened door.” Word bank: drawing, dinners, changing, waiting
   Key: waiting
5. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 5? “Her name sprang to my lips at moments in strange prayers and praises which I myself did not _____.”
   A. waiting
   B. summons
   C. understand
   D. pulled

Key: C (understand)

6. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 3? “The space of sky above us was the colour of ever-_____ violet and towards it the lamps of the street lifted their feeble lanterns.”

   A. followed

   B. changing

   C. doorstep

   D. pulled

   Key: B (changing)

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 6? “One _____ I went into the back drawing-room in which the priest had died.”

   A. straggling

   B. adoration

   C. summons

   D. evening

   Key: D (evening)

8. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: “Among these I found a few paper-_____ books, the pages of which were curled and damp: The Abbot, by Walter Scott, The Devout Communicant and The Memoirs of Vidocq.” Word bank: uninhabited, covered, tossed, drawing

   Key: covered

9. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “The blind was _____ down to within an inch of the sash so that I could not be seen.” Word bank: changing, pulled, drawing, tossed

   Key: pulled

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 5: “I did not know whether I would ever speak to her or not or, if I spoke to her, how I could tell her of my confused _____.” Word bank: waiting, followed, adoration, dinners

    Key: adoration

11. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 2? “The former tenant of our house, a priest, had died in the back _____-room.”

    A. drawing

    B. tossed

    C. adoration

    D. summons

    Key: A (drawing)

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 12 reveal about the character or situation? “I watched my master's face pass from amiability to sternness; he hoped I was not beginning to idle.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 12) shows the situation turning on coming of age: his quest collapses. The words “amiability” and “beginning” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? “When she came out on the doorstep my heart leaped.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 4) shows the situation turning on coming of age: his quest collapses. The words “doorstep” and “leaped” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 3 reveal about the character or situation? “The cold air stung us and we played till our bodies glowed.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 3) shows the situation turning on religion and desire: his quest collapses. The words “played” and “bodies” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “Among these I found a few paper-covered books, the pages of which were curled and damp: The Abbot, by Walter Scott, The Devout Communicant…”

    B. “The wild garden behind the house contained a central apple-tree and a few straggling bushes under one of which I found the late tenant's…”

    C. “He had been a very charitable priest; in his will he had left all his money to institutions and the furniture of his house to his sister.”

    D. “I liked the last best because its leaves were yellow.”

    Key: A (“Among these I found a few paper-covered books, the pages of which were curled and damp: The Abbot, by Walter Scott, The Devout Communicant…”)

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 6 shapes its tone: “I was thankful that I could see so little.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “thankful” and “little” (paragraph 6) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to coming of age: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 5 shapes its tone: “My eyes were often full of tears (I could not tell why) and at times a flood from my heart seemed to pour itself out into my bosom.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “itself” and “seemed” (paragraph 5) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to coming of age: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

18. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of religion and desire: “When she addressed the first words to me I was so confused that I did not know what to answer.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops religion and desire: his quest collapses. Its words “addressed” and “confused” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “I forgot whether I answered yes or no.” (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating religion and desire as central.

19. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 9 reveal about the character or situation? “Her brother and two other boys were fighting for their caps and I was alone at the railings.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 9) shows the situation turning on religion and desire: his quest collapses. The words “fighting” and “railings” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 12 shapes its tone: “At night in my bedroom and by day in the classroom her image came between me and the page I strove to read.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “classroom” and “between” (paragraph 12) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to religion and desire: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 12 shapes its tone: “I had hardly any patience with the serious work of life which, now that it stood between me and my desire, seemed to me child's play, ugly monotonous child's play.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “monotonous” and “patience” (paragraph 12) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to religion and desire: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 15 shapes its tone: “I felt the house in bad humour and walked slowly towards the school.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “towards” and “school” (paragraph 15) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to coming of age: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 9 to the story's treatment of coming of age: “While she spoke she turned a silver bracelet round and round her wrist.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 9) develops coming of age: his quest collapses. Its words “bracelet” and “turned” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Her brother and two other boys were fighting for their caps and I was alone at the railings.” (paragraph 9), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating coming of age as central.
24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “I kept her brown figure always in my eye and, when we came near the point at which our ways diverged, I quickened my pace and passed her.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “quickened” and “diverged” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to religion and desire: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of coming of age: “If I go,’ I said, ‘I will bring you something.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops coming of age: his quest collapses. Its words “something” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “At night in my bedroom and by day in the classroom her image came between me and the page I strove to read.” (paragraph 12), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating coming of age as central.
26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 3 to the story's treatment of coming of age: “When we met in the street the houses had grown sombre.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 3) develops coming of age: his quest collapses. Its words “street” and “sombre” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The cold air stung us and we played till our bodies glowed.” (paragraph 3), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating coming of age as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 2 to the story's treatment of religion and desire: “I liked the last best because its leaves were yellow.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 2) develops religion and desire: his quest collapses. Its words “because” and “yellow” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He had been a very charitable priest; in his will he had left all his money to institutions and the furniture of his…” (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating religion and desire as central.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 5 to the story's treatment of religion and desire: “But my body was like a harp and her words and gestures were like fingers running upon the wires.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 5) develops religion and desire: his quest collapses. Its words “gestures” and “running” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “It was a dark rainy evening and there was no sound in the house.” (paragraph 6), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating religion and desire as central.

29. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “Air, musty from having been long enclosed, hung in all the rooms, and the waste room behind the kitchen was littered with old useless papers.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “enclosed” and “littered” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to coming of age: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 3 to the story's treatment of coming of age: “We waited to see whether she would remain or go in and, if she remained, we left our shadow and walked up to Mangan's steps resignedly.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 3) develops coming of age: his quest collapses. Its words “resignedly” and “remained” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Her brother always teased her before he obeyed and I stood by the railings looking at her.” (paragraph 3), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating coming of age as central.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 16 to the story's treatment of religion and desire: “I sat staring at the clock for some time and, when its ticking began to irritate me, I left the room.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 16) develops religion and desire: his quest collapses. Its words “irritate” and “ticking” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The other houses of the street, conscious of decent lives within them, gazed at one another with brown imperturbable…” (paragraph 1), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating religion and desire as central.

32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 3 shapes its tone: “Her brother always teased her before he obeyed and I stood by the railings looking at her.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “railings” and “looking” (paragraph 3) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to religion and desire: his quest collapses. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

33. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C4-LIT-1] In the line “Through one of the broken panes I heard the rain impinge upon the earth, the fine incessant needles of water playing in the sodden beds.”, what does “impinge” most nearly mean?

    A. mocked or ridiculed

    B. talking too much, especially about unimportant things

    C. to press against or strike upon

    D. came together from different directions

    Key: C (to press against or strike upon)

Final paper

Araby: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how James Joyce develops romantic idealism and disillusionment across Araby. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in Araby and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to coming of age.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in Araby. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether Araby finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of religion and desire. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.
Organization	15

		Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: The boy's quest ends in a painful realization of his own illusion. The text makes this visible when it says “I imagined that I bore my chalice safely through a throng of foes” (Araby, paragraph 5). He imagines himself bearing a "chalice safely through a throng of foes," but at the bazaar he sees himself "as a creature driven and derided by vanity.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Romantic idealism and disillusionment

Scaffolded support (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what Araby teaches about romantic idealism and disillusionment. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how James Joyce develops romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how James Joyce develops romantic idealism and disillusionment across Araby. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of Araby (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of romantic idealism and disillusionment. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how James Joyce's choices in Araby (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of romantic idealism and disillusionment, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places Araby's treatment of romantic idealism and disillusionment in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on romantic idealism and disillusionment in Araby, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how James Joyce develops religion and desire in Araby. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how James Joyce develops religion and desire across Araby. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of Araby (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of religion and desire. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of religion and desire in Araby. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how James Joyce's choices in Araby (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of religion and desire, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places Araby's treatment of religion and desire in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on religion and desire in Araby that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on religion and desire in Araby. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about religion and desire in Araby, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on religion and desire in Araby, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.
