Grades: Grades 9–12 (accessible text, well suited to the scaffolded-support track; scales to graduate via rigor levels). Short story: read whole in one 90-minute lesson (assign longer stories as pre-reading). The scaffolded-support track works from the full text with scaffolds. Weeks: 1. Class days: 2 × 90 minutes (1 chapter lessons plus seminar, test and essay days).

Essential questions

- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about youth and folly?
- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about the desire to relive the past?
- What does Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggest about human nature?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in Salem, Massachusetts, on 4 July 1804; his ancestor John Hathorne was a judge in the Salem witch trials of 1692, a family history Hawthorne felt as a burden. He later changed the spelling of his surname to Hawthorne; why is uncertain, though many link it to his discomfort with his ancestors. After graduating from Bowdoin College in 1825 he spent years writing in near-seclusion in Salem, publishing Twice-Told Tales in 1837. He lived briefly at the utopian Brook Farm community, worked at the Salem Custom House, and achieved fame with The Scarlet Letter (1850) and The House of the Seven Gables (1851). He served as U.S. consul in Liverpool and died on 19 May 1864 in Plymouth, New Hampshire.

Historical and cultural context

The story plays on the legend of the Fountain of Youth, which tradition (not evidence) links to the Spanish explorer Juan Ponce de León in Florida. The 1830s were also a time of popular quack medicine and "scientific" curiosity.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published as "The Fountain of Youth" in the Knickerbocker magazine in January 1837; collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837) under its present title.

Then: One of the tales that made Twice-Told Tales a modest success.

Now: Often taught with "The Minister's Black Veil" as a short, clear example of Hawthorne's allegory and irony.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vanity, greed or pleasure, to test water from the Fountain of Youth.

Main themes

- failure to learn from experience.
- vanity and the desire for youth.
- science and folly.

Why it matters

The story questions whether people really change, and pokes at today's obsession with staying young.

Spoilers · teacher only

They grow young and repeat all their old follies, fighting over the widow; the vase breaks, the effect fades, and instead of learning the lesson they resolve to go to Florida and drink there forever.

Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vice, to test water from the Fountain of Youth. A withered rose revives in it. The guests drink, grow young, and repeat their old follies: flirting with the widow Wycherly and fighting over her until they knock the vase to the floor. The effect wears off; the rose withers. The doctor has learned his lesson, but the guests resolve to go to Florida to drink from the fountain.

Background: Collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837); Ponce de León's legendary search in Florida is the allusion.

Significance: A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.

[DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.

2. Find one example of irony in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for gaps between what characters expect or say and what is true.
3. How does the symbolism in this story shape what we understand about the foolishness of wishing to be young again? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13): The legend. On symbolism: The withered rose that blooms and withers again mirrors the guests. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “'This rose,' said Dr.”, why might Hawthorne have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Old Dr. Heidegger invites four elderly friends, each ruined by vice, to test water from the Fountain of Youth. A withered rose revives in it. The guests drink, grow young, and repeat their old follies: flirting with the widow Wycherly and fighting over her until they knock the vase to the floor…
6. As the opening story, what does “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment” set up that the rest of Dr. Heidegger's Experiment will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): Heidegger's lesson. Theme link: they resolve to go to Florida. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): His conclusion. On characterization: Each guest stands for a vice: Mr. Medbourne (greed), Colonel Killigrew (pleasure), Mr. Gascoigne (political ambition), Widow Wycherly (vanity). Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “If you could be ten years older or younger for a day, what would you do differently?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does characterization appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with youth and folly? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: Look for what characters say, do and think, and how others react to them.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “the "Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13): The legend. On characterization: Each guest stands for a vice: Mr. Medbourne

(greed), Colonel Killigrew (pleasure), Mr. Gascoigne (political ambition), Widow Wycherly (vanity). Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. Background: Collected in Twice-Told Tales (1837); Ponce de León's legendary search in Florida is the allusion. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO2] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Useful evidence: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51): Heidegger's lesson. Theme link: they resolve to go to Florida. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A tidy moral tale often paired with discussion of whether people learn from experience.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.

   D. Thank the doctor

   Key: A (Travel to Florida to find the fountain)
2. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: "On the summer afternoon of our tale, a small round table, as black as ebony, stood in the centre of the room, sustaining a cut-glass vase, of beautiful form and elaborate _____." Word bank: grandchildren, appearing, workmanship, ponderous
   Key: workmanship
3. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 17: "With your _____, therefore, I will merely watch the progress of the experiment.'" Word bank: permission, eccentricity, adjusted, healthful
   Key: permission
4. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "In the obscurest corner of the room stood a tall and narrow oaken closet, with its door ajar, within which _____ appeared a skeleton." Word bank: exuberant, doubtfully, blossomed, scandalous
   Key: doubtfully
5. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What happens when the vase breaks?
   A. The water spills and the effect fades
   B. The doctor dies
   C. Nothing changes
   D. They become babies

   Key: A (The water spills and the effect fades)

6. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51: “Such is the _____ ye have taught me”

   Key: lesson

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 23? “There was a _____ suffusion on their cheeks, instead of the ashen hue that had made them look so corpse-like.”

   A. adjusted

   B. exhilarating

   C. healthful

   D. replaced

   Key: C (healthful)

8. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 26: “Even while the _____ was passing down their throats, it seemed to have wrought a change on their whole systems.” Word bank: passionate, workmanship, draught, peninsula

   Key: draught

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does the doctor test first?

   A. His own hand

   B. A butterfly

   C. A dead mouse

   Key: D (A dried rose from fifty-five years ago)

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “It is a circumstance worth _____, that each of these three old gentlemen, Mr.” Word bank: blossomed, exuberant, scandalous, mentioning

    Key: mentioning

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 26 reveal about the character or situation? “Their eyes grew clear and bright; a dark shade deepened among their silvery locks; they sat around the table, three gentlemen, of middle age, and a woman, hardly beyound her buxom prime.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 26) shows the situation turning on youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “gentlemen” and “deepened” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 4 reveal about the character or situation? “The sunshine came through the window, between the heavy festoons of two faded damask curtains, and fell directly across this vase; so that a mild splendor was reflected from it on the ashen visages of the five old people who sat around.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 4) shows the situation turning on youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “reflected” and “festoons” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “the ‘Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The legend. The evidence is “the ‘Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13). This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 37 shapes its tone: “But either of these gay young gentlemen will be glad of so pretty a partner.’” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “gentlemen” and “partner” (paragraph 37) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze the word choice in “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: His conclusion. The evidence is “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “lesson” and “taught” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Heidegger's lesson. The evidence is “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “stoop” and “would” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.".

17. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Whom do the three men fight over?

    A. No one
    B. A maid
    C. The doctor's niece
    D. The Widow Wycherly

    Key: D (The Widow Wycherly)

18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 41? “One caught both her hands in his _____ grasp—another threw his arm about her waist—the third buried his hand among the glossy curls that clustered beneath the widow's cap.”

    A. healthful
    B. adjusted
    C. ridiculous
    D. passionate

    Key: D (passionate)

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What is in the vase?

    A. Water from the Fountain of Youth
    B. Wine
    C. Poison
    D. Rose oil

    Key: A (Water from the Fountain of Youth)

20. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

Sample answer: Heidegger's lesson. The evidence is “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 11 shapes its tone: “The crushed and dried petals stirred, and assumed a deepening tinge of crimson, as if the flower were reviving from a death-like slumber; the slender stalk and twigs of foliage became green; and there was the rose of half a century,…” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “deepening” and “reviving” (paragraph 11) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “When the doctor's four guests heard him talk of his proposed experiment, they anticipated nothing more wonderful than the murder of a mouse in an air-pump, or the examination of a cobweb by the microscope, or some similar nonsense, with…” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “examination” and “anticipated” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “the ‘Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: The legend. The evidence is “the ‘Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13). This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida. The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.".
24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 42 shapes its tone: “As they struggled to and fro, the table was overturned, and the vase dashed into a thousand fragments.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “overturned” and “fragments” (paragraph 42) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 19 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “Think what a sin and shame it would be, if, with your peculiar advantages, you should not become patterns of virtue and wisdom to all the young people of the age!'” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 19) develops youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words “advantages” and “patterns” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The liquor, if it really possessed such virtues as Dr. Heidegger imputed to it, could not have been bestowed on four…” (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating youth and folly as central.
26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 23 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “Assuredly there was an almost immediate improvement in the aspect of the party, not unlike what might have been produced by a glass of generous wine, together with a sudden glow of cheerful sunshine, brightening over all their visages at…” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 23) develops youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words “brightening” and “improvement” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “They gazed at one another, and fancied that some magic power had really begun to smooth away the deep and sad…” (paragraph 23), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating youth and folly as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 44 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “They looked at old Dr. Heidegger, who sat in his carved arm-chair, holding the rose of half a century, which he had rescued from among the fragments of the shattered vase.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 44) develops youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words “shattered” and “fragments” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Even while the party were looking at it, the flower continued to shrivel up, till it became as dry and fragile as when…” (paragraph 46), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating youth and folly as central.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Claim: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51).

    Sample answer: The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.". The evidence is “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) — Heidegger's lesson. This develops failure to learn from experience: they resolve to go to Florida.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Synthesis: trace how failure to learn from experience develops from the opening of “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: Near the start, “the ‘Fountain of Youth” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 13) — The legend. Later, “Such is the lesson ye have taught me” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51) — His conclusion. They resolve to go to Florida.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 48 to the story's treatment of youth and folly: “They gazed at one another, and fancied that each fleeting moment snatched away a charm, and left a deepening furrow where none had been before.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 48) develops youth and folly: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words “deepening” and “fleeting” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The Water of Youth possessed merely a virtue more transient than that of wine.” (paragraph 50), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating youth and folly as central.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment,” how does Hawthorne show the foolishness of wishing to be young again? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): In Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, how does Hawthorne develop the idea of the foolishness of wishing to be young again? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Analyze how Dr. Heidegger's Experiment develops the idea of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO3): Analyze how the structure of Dr. Heidegger's Experiment (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5): Two readers disagree about what Dr. Heidegger's Experiment suggests about the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and symbolism), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Nathaniel Hawthorne uses irony in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment to complicate the reader's understanding of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Situate Dr. Heidegger's Experiment within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Read Dr. Heidegger's Experiment alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of the foolishness of wishing to be young again follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to Dr. Heidegger's Experiment and its treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and symbolism, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads Dr. Heidegger's Experiment as evidence for a larger claim about the foolishness of wishing to be young again in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads Dr. Heidegger's Experiment as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of the foolishness of wishing to be young again. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on Dr. Heidegger's Experiment.

SAT-style questions

1. As for the Widow Wycherly, tradition tells us that she was a great beauty in her day; but, for a long while past, she had lived in deep seclusion, on account of certain scandalous stories, which had prejudiced the gentry of the town against her.

   As used in the text, what does the word “scandalous” most nearly mean?

   A. speaking about briefly

   B. giving offense to moral sensibilities and injurious to reputation

   C. in an uncertain or unsure way

2. 'This rose,' said Dr. Heidegger, with a sigh, 'this same withered and crumbling flower, blossomed five-and-fifty years ago. It was given me by Sylvia Ward, whose portrait hangs yonder; and I meant to wear it in my bosom at our wedding. Five-and-fifty years it has been treasured between the leaves of this old volume. Now, would you deem it possible that this rose of half a century could ever bloom again?'

   Which choice best states a central concern of “Dr. Heidegger's Experiment”?

   B. A story told to protect a livelihood

   C. Self-destruction and the urge to do wrong

D. The foolishness of wishing to be young again

SAT key: 1. B (giving offense to moral sensibilities and injurious to reputation); 2. D (The foolishness of wishing to be young again)

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

Unit test: item bank (all eleven rigor versions)

1. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 7: “But without waiting for a reply, Dr. Heidegger hobbled across the chamber, and returned with the same _____ folio, bound in black leather, which common report affirmed to be a book of magic.” Word bank: healthful, enchantment, eccentricity, ponderous

   Key: replaced

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 20? “The doctor's four venerable friends made him no answer, except by a feeble and tremulous laugh; so very _____ was the idea, that, knowing how closely repentance treads behind the steps of error, they should ever go astray again.”

   C. workmanship
   D. eccentricity

   Key: A (ridiculous)

8. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 15? “An _____ of mine, knowing my curiosity in such matters, has sent me what you see in the vase.'”

   A. exhilarating
   B. eccentricity
   C. replaced
   D. acquaintance

   Key: D (acquaintance)

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 26? “Again he filled their glasses with the liquor of youth, enough of which still remained in the vase to turn half the old people in the city to the age of their own _____.”

   A. peninsula
   C. enchantment
   D. grandchildren

   Key: D (grandchildren)

10. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 6? “Now Dr. Heidegger was a very strange old gentleman, whose _____ had become the nucleus for a thousand fantastic stories.”

    C. ponderous

    Key: A (eccentricity)

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 41 reveal about the character or situation? “Yet, by a strange deception, owing to the duskiness of the chamber, and the antique dresses which they still wore, the tall mirror is said to have reflected the figures of the three old, gray, withered grandsires, ridiculously contending…” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 41) shows the situation turning on human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “ridiculously” and “contending” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 11 reveal about the character or situation? “It was scarcely full-blown; for some of its delicate red leaves curled modestly around its moist bosom, within which two or three dew-drops were sparkling.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 11) shows the situation turning on human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “sparkling” and “delicate” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “The sunshine came through the window, between the heavy festoons of two faded damask curtains, and fell directly across this vase; so that…”

    B. “Now Dr. Heidegger was a very strange old gentleman, whose eccentricity had become the nucleus for a thousand fantastic stories.”

    C. “Some of these fables, to my shame be it spoken, might possibly be traced back to mine own veracious self; and if any passages of the…”

    D. “On the summer afternoon of our tale, a small round table, as black as ebony, stood in the centre of the room, sustaining a cut-glass vase,…”

    Key: D (“On the summer afternoon of our tale, a small round table, as black as ebony, stood in the centre of the room, sustaining a cut-glass vase,…”)

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 22 reveal about the character or situation? “The liquor, if it really possessed such virtues as Dr. Heidegger imputed to it, could not have been bestowed on four human beings who needed it more wofully.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 22) shows the situation turning on the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. The words “possessed” and “bestowed” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 47 shapes its tone: “While he spoke, the butterfly fluttered down from the doctor's snowy head, and fell upon the floor.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “fluttered” and “butterfly” (paragraph 47) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 50 shapes its tone: “The Water of Youth possessed merely a virtue more transient than that of wine.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “transient” and “possessed” (paragraph 50) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 41 to the story's treatment of the desire to relive the past: “Blushing, panting, struggling, chiding, laughing, her warm breath fanning each of their faces by turns, she strove to disengage herself, yet still remained in their triple embrace.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 41) develops the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words “struggling” and “disengage” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Yet, by a strange deception, owing to the duskiness of the chamber, and the antique dresses which they still wore, the…” (paragraph 41), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the desire to relive the past as central.

18. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 22 shapes its tone: “They looked as if they had never known what youth or pleasure was, but had been the offspring of Nature's dotage, and always the gray, decrepit, sapless, miserable creatures, who now sat stooping round the doctor's table, without life…" Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words "creatures" and "offspring" (paragraph 22) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 6 shapes its tone: "Some of these fables, to my shame be it spoken, might possibly be traced back to mine own veracious self; and if any passages of the present tale should startle the reader's faith, I must be content to bear the stigma of a fiction-monger." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "veracious" and "possibly" (paragraph 6) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 17 shapes its tone: "For my own part, having had much trouble in growing old, I am in no hurry to grow young again." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "growing" and "trouble" (paragraph 17) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of the desire to relive the past: "He uncovered the vase, and threw the faded rose into the water which it contained." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "uncovered" and "contained" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "It was scarcely full-blown; for some of its delicate red leaves curled modestly around its moist bosom, within which…" (paragraph 11), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the desire to relive the past as central.

22. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 46 reveal about the character or situation? "Even while the party were looking at it, the flower continued to shrivel up, till it became as dry and fragile as when the doctor had first thrown it into the vase." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 46) shows the situation turning on the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. The words "continued" and "shrivel" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 25 to the story's treatment of human nature: "Surely, you might be content to grow young in half an hour!" Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 25) develops human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "content" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "Their eyes grew clear and bright; a dark shade deepened among their silvery locks; they sat around the table, three…" (paragraph 26), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating human nature as central.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of human nature: "Undoing the silver clasps, he opened the volume, and took from among its black-letter pages a rose, or what was once a rose, though now the green leaves and crimson petals had assumed one brownish hue, and the ancient flower seemed ready…" Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "doctor's" and

"brownish" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "When the doctor's four guests heard him talk of his proposed experiment, they anticipated nothing more wonderful than…" (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating human nature as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 26 shapes its tone: "While the bubbles were yet sparkling on the brim, the doctor's four guests snatched their glasses from the table, and swallowed the contents at a single gulp." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "swallowed" and "sparkling" (paragraph 26) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 42 to the story's treatment of the desire to relive the past: "Inflamed to madness by the coquetry of the girl-widow, who neither granted nor quite withheld her favors, the three rivals began to interchange threatening glances." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 42) develops the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "interchange" and "threatening" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The insect fluttered lightly through the chamber, and settled on the snowy head of Dr. Heidegger." (paragraph 42), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the desire to relive the past as central.

27. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 42 shapes its tone: "The insect fluttered lightly through the chamber, and settled on the snowy head of Dr. Heidegger." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "fluttered" and "lightly" (paragraph 42) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 15 to the story's treatment of the desire to relive the past: "Its source is overshadowed by several gigantic magnolias, which, though numberless centuries old, have been kept as fresh as violets, by the virtues of this wonderful water." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 15) develops the desire to relive the past: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "overshadowed" and "numberless" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "For my own part, having had much trouble in growing old, I am in no hurry to grow young again." (paragraph 17), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating the desire to relive the past as central.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 33 to the story's treatment of human nature: "Age, with its miserable train of cares, and sorrows, and diseases, was remembered only as the trouble of a dream, from which they had joyously awoke." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 33) develops human nature: they resolve to go to Florida. Its words "remembered" and "miserable" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "But either of these gay young gentlemen will be glad of so pretty a partner.'" (paragraph 37), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating human nature as central.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line “They were a group of merry youngsters, almost maddened with the exuberant frolicksomeness of their years.”, what does “exuberant” most nearly mean?

    A. giving offense to moral sensibilities and injurious to reputation

    B. a woman of good family and manners

    C. opened into flower

    D. joyously unrestrained

    Key: D (joyously unrestrained)

Final paper

1. Analyze how Nathaniel Hawthorne develops youth and folly across Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to the desire to relive the past.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in Dr. Heidegger's Experiment. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether Dr. Heidegger's Experiment finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of human nature. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words

Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.

Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Hawthorne suggests that age does not bring wisdom unless people reflect on their mistakes. The text makes this visible when it says “I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it” (Dr. Heidegger's Experiment, paragraph 51). The guests repeat their follies at once, while Heidegger, having watched them, says "I would not stoop to bathe my lips in it" and calls it "the lesson ye taught me.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.
