Essential questions

- What does The Cop and the Anthem suggest about homelessness and society?
- What does The Cop and the Anthem suggest about fate and irony?
- What does The Cop and the Anthem suggest about redemption?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Lesson 1: Introduction to The Cop and the Anthem

Objective: Students will explain, in a 3-sentence exit ticket, how one fact about O. Henry's life or times connects to homelessness and society in “The Cop and the Anthem”, and will set up a reading journal with a prediction and a question for each of 3 themes (homelessness and society, fate and irony, redemption).

Standards: Common Core RL.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2

Author biography

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter, born on 11 September 1862 in Greensboro, North Carolina. He trained as a pharmacist, moved to Texas, and worked as a draftsman, bank teller and humorous journalist. Convicted of embezzling from the Austin bank where he had worked (he maintained his innocence), he served about three years in the Ohio Penitentiary (1898–1901), where he began publishing stories as O. Henry. In New York he wrote a story a week for the New York World and produced hundreds of tales of ordinary city people, famous for their warmth, wordplay and twist endings. He died in New York on 5 June 1910.

Historical and cultural context

Around 1900 the homeless men of New York's parks faced brutal winters. "The Island" was Blackwell's Island (now Roosevelt Island) in the East River, site of a workhouse and prison where petty offenders served short terms; for some, a winter there meant food and shelter.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in the New York World in December 1904; collected in The Four Million (1906).

Then: Popular with O. Henry's large newspaper audience.

Now: Taught for its situational irony and its satire of a society in which jail is the only shelter for the poor.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Soapy, a homeless man, decides to get himself arrested so he can spend the winter on the Island. He tries crime after crime.

Main themes

- irony of fate.
- poverty and society.
- redemption.

Why it matters

The story satirizes how society treats the poor and asks whether people get the chance to change.

Spoilers · teacher only

Every attempt fails. Moved by an organ anthem outside a church, he resolves to reform and find work, and at that moment a policeman arrests him for loitering; he gets three months on the Island.

Lesson 2: The Cop and the Anthem

Focus: a reversal that punishes a change of heart

Objective: Students will analyze how irony develops in "The Cop and the Anthem" by writing a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph that cites at least 2 quotations from the section, and will score at least 80% on the section quiz.

Standards: Common Core RL.9-10.1, W.9-10.1, L.9-10.4

Content note (homelessness, petty crime, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Homelessness; petty crime. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…r cakes and an eye like the cherry in a Manhattan cocktail. "Hey, Con!" Neatly upon his left ear o…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.
Student preview: Heads-up: this story includes homelessness; petty crime.
Suggested language: "Why does the writer include this, and what does it make us notice?"

Teacher only · spoilers

Soapy, a homeless man in Madison Square, wants three warm months in jail on Blackwell's Island for the winter. He tries to get arrested: skipping a restaurant bill, breaking a window, harassing a woman, disturbing the peace, stealing an umbrella. Every attempt fails. Moved by church music, he resolves to reform and find work, and at that moment a policeman arrests him for loitering; he gets three months.

Background: Published in 1904. Blackwell's Island (now Roosevelt Island) held New York's workhouse and jail.

Significance: A neat cycle of situational irony that also comments on poverty and policing.

Published in 1904. Blackwell's Island (now Roosevelt Island) held New York's workhouse and jail. A neat cycle of situational irony that also comments on poverty and policing. Irony: Every crime fails; innocence is punished. Diction / vocabulary: Ornate vocabulary ("hegira," "Arcadia") gives a comic grandeur to Soapy's plans. Structure: A series of attempts, each foiled, builds to the reversal. Watch for the anthem: memory of his better past and a call to change.

First, meaning. I read "Three months on the Island was what his soul craved" slowly and put it in my own words: Soapy wants three months in the jail on the Island to escape winter. Next, craft. I notice that "craved" usually goes with food or comfort, not jail. The strongest word is "craved": it shows how desperate he is that prison seems like comfort. Then, effect. Why does Soapy want to go to jail? My answer: Soapy wants to go to jail because winter is coming and he is homeless, so a warm cell with food seems a relief; O. Henry uses this irony to show how harsh poverty is.

11. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: L.9-10.4] Complete the quotation from paragraph 18: “He arose, joint by joint, as a _____’s rule opens, and beat the dust from his clothes.” Word bank: carpenter, pockets, strangers, travelled
    Key: carpenter
12. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 23 reveal about the character or situation? “The persecuted young woman had but to beckon a finger and Soapy would be practically en route for his insular haven.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 23) shows the situation turning on homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words “practically” and “persecuted” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 2 reveal about the character or situation? “Jack is kind to the regular denizens of Madison Square, and gives fair warning of his annual call.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 2) shows the situation turning on homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words “denizens” and “warning” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
14. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 9 shapes its tone: “Strong and ready hands turned him about and conveyed him in silence and haste to the sidewalk and averted the ignoble fate of the menaced mallard.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “conveyed” and “sidewalk” (paragraph 9) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Claim: O. Henry uses irony to show that society punishes the poor regardless of what they choose. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “Three months on the Island was what his soul craved” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4).
    Sample answer: Soapy's soul "craved" "Three months on the Island," and he fails to get it by crime, but once he resolves to reform, "the Magistrate" gives him exactly that. The evidence is “Three months on the Island was what his soul craved” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4) — His goal. This develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience.
16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 41 to the story's treatment of homelessness and society: “The moon was above, lustrous and serene; vehicles and pedestrians were few; sparrows twittered sleepily in the eaves—for a little while the scene might have been a country churchyard.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 41) develops homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “pedestrians” and “churchyard” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “And also in a moment his heart responded thrillingly to this novel mood.” (paragraph 43), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating homelessness and society as central.
17. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: RL.9-10.1] Complete the quotation from The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 48: “Three _____ on the Island,’ said the Magistrate”
    Key: months
18. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: RL.9-10.1] What finally happens?
    A. He gets a job
    B. He is given a coat
    C. He is arrested and sentenced to three months
    D. He goes south

    Key: C (He is arrested and sentenced to three months)
19. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: RL.9-10.1] Complete the quotation from The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 30: “In his fancy the Island seemed an _____ Arcadia”
    Key: unattainable
20. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: RL.9-10.1] What does Soapy want for the winter?
    A. A room at a hotel
    B. A train ticket south

C. A job

D. Three months in jail on the Island

Key: D (Three months in jail on the Island)

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze the word choice in "Three months on the Island,' said the Magistrate" (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 48). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: The ending. The evidence is "Three months on the Island,' said the Magistrate" (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 48). This develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words "months" and "said" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 31 shapes its tone: "Soapy stepped inside, secured the umbrella and sauntered off with it slowly." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "sauntered" and "umbrella" (paragraph 31) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 26 shapes its tone: "The thought brought a little of panic upon it, and when he came upon another policeman lounging grandly in front of a transplendent theatre he caught at the immediate straw of 'disorderly conduct.'" Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "transplendent" and "disorderly" (paragraph 26) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 18 to the story's treatment of homelessness and society: "Neatly upon his left ear on the callous pavement two waiters pitched Soapy." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 18) develops homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words "pavement" and "waiters" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "This time the opportunity presented what he fatuously termed to himself a 'cinch.' A young woman of a modest and…" (paragraph 19), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating homelessness and society as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 8 shapes its tone: "He was shaven, and his coat was decent and his neat black, ready-tied four-in-hand had been presented to him by a lady missionary on Thanksgiving Day." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "missionary" and "presented" (paragraph 8) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Synthesis: trace how redemption develops from the opening of "The Cop and the Anthem" to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: Near the start, "Three months on the Island was what his soul craved" (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4) — His goal. Later, "Three months on the Island,' said the Magistrate" (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 48) — The ending. The anthem awakens his conscience.

27. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: L.11-12.4] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “An accommodating _____ would do the rest.” Word bank: scorned, magistrate, loitered, congenial

    Key: magistrate

28. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.11-12.3] What can you infer from this line? “In his fancy the Island seemed an unattainable Arcadia” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 30) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Ironic grandeur. The evidence is “In his fancy the Island seemed an unattainable Arcadia” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 30). This develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “Three months on the Island was what his soul craved” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: His goal. The evidence is “Three months on the Island was what his soul craved” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4). This develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words “craved” and “months” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Soapy's soul "craved" "Three months on the Island," and he fails to get it by crime, but once he resolves to reform, "the Magistrate" gives him exactly that.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: L.11-12.4] In the line “Three months of assured board and bed and congenial company, safe from Boreas and bluecoats, seemed to Soapy the essence of things desirable.”, what does “congenial” most nearly mean?

    A. look down on with disdain

    B. pleasant and well suited

    C. lingered; hung about

    D. marked by casual disrespect

    Key: B (pleasant and well suited)

31. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.11-12.6] Which literary element does this describe in “The Cop and the Anthem”? Every crime fails; innocence is punished.

    C. Irony

    D. Tone / mood

    Key: C (Irony)

32. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 15 to the story's treatment of homelessness and society: “At a table he sat and consumed beefsteak, flapjacks, doughnuts and pie.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 15) develops homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “beefsteak” and “doughnuts” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “On the opposite side of the street was a restaurant of no great pretensions.” (paragraph 15), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating homelessness and society as central.

33. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 43 to the story's treatment of homelessness and society: “Those solemn but sweet organ notes had set up a revolution in him.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 43) develops homelessness and society: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “revolution” and “solemn” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Jack is kind to the regular denizens of Madison Square, and gives fair warning of his annual call." (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating homelessness and society as central.

34. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] In the line "He made eyes at her, was taken with sudden coughs and 'hems,' smiled, smirked and went brazenly through the impudent and contemptible litany of the 'masher.'", what does "impudent" most nearly mean?

    A. lingered; hung about

    B. marked by casual disrespect

    C. look down on with disdain

    D. pleasant and well suited

    Key: B (marked by casual disrespect)

35. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] Which literary element does this describe in "The Cop and the Anthem"? Ornate vocabulary ('hegira,' 'Arcadia') gives a comic grandeur to Soapy's plans.

    Sample answer: Ironic grandeur. The evidence is "In his fancy the Island seemed an unattainable Arcadia" (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 30). This develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words "unattainable" and "seemed" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Soapy's soul "craved" "Three months on the Island," and he fails to get it by crime, but once he resolves to reform, "the Magistrate" gives him exactly that.

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Common Core: RL.9-10.1, W.9-10.1): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Cop and the Anthem,” how does Henry show a reversal that punishes a change of heart? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Common Core: RL.9-10.1, W.9-10.1): In The Cop and the Anthem, how does Henry develop the idea of a reversal that punishes a change of heart? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Common Core: RL.9-10.1, W.9-10.1): Analyze how The Cop and the Anthem develops the idea of a reversal that punishes a change of heart. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and setting shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Common Core: RL.11-12.5, RL.11-12.1, W.11-12.1, RL.11-12.9): Analyze how the structure of The Cop and the Anthem (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of a reversal that punishes a change of heart. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; Common Core: RL.11-12.6, W.11-12.1, RL.11-12.9): Two readers disagree about what The Cop and the Anthem suggests about a reversal that punishes a change of heart. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and setting), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; Common Core: RL.11-12.6, W.11-12.1): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how O. Henry uses irony in The Cop and the Anthem to complicate the reader's understanding of a reversal that punishes a change of heart. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Situate The Cop and the Anthem within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of a reversal that punishes a change of heart responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Read The Cop and the Anthem alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of a reversal that punishes a change of heart follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Cop and the Anthem and its treatment of a reversal that punishes a change of heart. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and setting, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Cop and the Anthem as evidence for a larger claim about a reversal that punishes a change of heart in The Cop and the Anthem. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Cop and the Anthem as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of a reversal that punishes a change of heart. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Cop and the Anthem.

SAT-style questions

1. He scorned the provisions made in the name of charity for the city's dependents.

   As used in the text, what does the word “scorned” most nearly mean?

   A. marked by casual disrespect

   B. look down on with disdain

   C. reasons for doing something

   D. a local official who judges minor cases

2. The hibernatorial ambitions of Soapy were not of the highest. In them there were no considerations of Mediterranean cruises, of soporific Southern skies or drifting in the Vesuvian Bay. Three months on the Island was what his soul craved. Three months of assured board and bed and congenial company, safe from Boreas and bluecoats, seemed to Soapy the essence of things desirable.

   Which choice best states a central concern of “The Cop and the Anthem”?

   A. A story so convincing it becomes real

B. Self-destruction and the urge to do wrong

C. A reversal that punishes a change of heart

D. Love and rivalry destroyed by racial violence

SAT key: 1. B (look down on with disdain); 2. C (A reversal that punishes a change of heart)

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

11. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 15 reveal about the character or situation? "On the opposite side of the street was a restaurant of no great pretensions." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 15) shows the situation turning on fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words "pretensions" and "restaurant" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 8 reveal about the character or situation? "The total would not be so high as to call forth any supreme manifestation of revenge from the café management; and yet the meat would leave him filled and happy for the journey to his winter refuge." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 8) shows the situation turning on redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words "manifestation" and "management" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 28 reveal about the character or situation? “The policeman twirled his club, turned his back to Soapy and remarked to a citizen.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 28) shows the situation turning on redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words “policeman” and “remarked” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.3] What does this passage from paragraph 43 reveal about the character or situation? “And also in a moment his heart responded thrillingly to this novel mood.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 43) shows the situation turning on fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. The words “thrillingly” and “responded” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [mc · inference · DOK 2 · Common Core: RL.9-10.1] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “Soapy’s mind became cognisant of the fact that the time had come for him to resolve himself into a singular Committee of Ways and Means to…”

    B. “When wild geese honk high of nights, and when women without sealskin coats grow kind to their husbands, and when Soapy moves uneasily on…”

    C. “At the corners of four streets he hands his pasteboard to the North Wind, footman of the mansion of All Outdoors, so that the inhabitants…”

    D. “Jack is kind to the regular denizens of Madison Square, and gives fair warning of his annual call.”

    Key: B (“When wild geese honk high of nights, and when women without sealskin coats grow kind to their husbands, and when Soapy moves uneasily on…”)

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 23 shapes its tone: “The young woman faced him and, stretching out a hand, caught Soapy’s coat sleeve.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “stretching” and “sleeve” (paragraph 23) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 14 shapes its tone: “Men who smash windows do not remain to parley with the law’s minions.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “windows” and “minions” (paragraph 14) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

18. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 20 to the story's treatment of redemption: “It was Soapy’s design to assume the rôle of the despicable and execrated ‘masher.’ The refined and elegant appearance of his victim and the contiguity of the conscientious cop encouraged him to believe that he would soon feel the pleasant…” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 20) develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “conscientious” and “contiguity” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The persecuted young woman had but to beckon a finger and Soapy would be practically en route for his insular haven.” (paragraph 23), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating redemption as central.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 3 shapes its tone: “Soapy’s mind became cognisant of the fact that the time had come for him to resolve himself into a singular Committee of Ways and Means to provide against the coming rigour.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “cognisant” and “singular” (paragraph 3) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 39 shapes its tone: “At length Soapy reached one of the avenues to the east where the glitter and turmoil was but faint.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “turmoil” and “avenues” (paragraph 39) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 7 to the story's treatment of redemption: “Up Broadway he turned, and halted at a glittering café, where are gathered together nightly the choicest products of the grape, the silkworm and the protoplasm.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 7) develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “protoplasm” and “glittering” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “He was shaven, and his coat was decent and his neat black, ready-tied four-in-hand had been presented to him by a lady…” (paragraph 8), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating redemption as central.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 43 shapes its tone: “He would pull himself out of the mire; he would make a man of himself again; he would conquer the evil that had taken possession of him.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “possession” and “himself” (paragraph 43) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.9-10.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 19 shapes its tone: “This time the opportunity presented what he fatuously termed to himself a ‘cinch.’ A young woman of a modest and pleasing guise was standing before a show window gazing with sprightly interest at its display of shaving mugs and inkstands,…” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “opportunity” and “inkstands” (paragraph 19) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 25 to the story's treatment of redemption: “With the young woman playing the clinging ivy to his oak Soapy walked past the policeman overcome with gloom.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 25) develops redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “policeman” and “clinging” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The thought brought a little of panic upon it, and when he came upon another policeman lounging grandly in front of a…” (paragraph 26), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating redemption as central.

25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.9-10.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 37 to the story's treatment of fate and irony: “The policeman hurried to assist a tall blonde in an opera cloak across the street in front of a street car that was approaching two blocks away.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 37) develops fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “approaching” and “policeman” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “At length Soapy reached one of the avenues to the east where the glitter and turmoil was but faint.” (paragraph 39), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating fate and irony as central.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 26 to the story's treatment of fate and irony: “Women in furs and men in greatcoats moved gaily in the wintry air.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 26) develops fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “greatcoats” and “wintry” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The policeman twirled his club, turned his back to Soapy and remarked to a citizen.” (paragraph 28), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating fate and irony as central.

27. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Common Core: RL.11-12.4] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 18 shapes its tone: “A policeman who stood before a drug store two doors away laughed and walked down the street.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “policeman” and “laughed” (paragraph 18) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to redemption: the anthem awakens his conscience. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 8 to the story's treatment of fate and irony: “The portion of him that would show above the table would raise no doubt in the waiter’s mind.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 8) develops fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “portion” and “waiter” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The total would not be so high as to call forth any supreme manifestation of revenge from the café management; and yet…” (paragraph 8), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating fate and irony as central.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Common Core: RL.11-12.2] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of fate and irony: “At a corner of Sixth Avenue electric lights and cunningly displayed wares behind plate-glass made a shop window conspicuous.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops fate and irony: the anthem awakens his conscience. Its words “conspicuous” and “cunningly” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Men who smash windows do not remain to parley with the law’s minions.” (paragraph 14), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating fate and irony as central.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Common Core: L.11-12.4] In the line “Through one violet-stained window a soft light glowed, where, no doubt, the organist loitered over the keys, making sure of his mastery of the coming Sabbath anthem.”, what does “loitered” most nearly mean?

    A. look down on with disdain

    C. marked by casual disrespect

    D. lingered; hung about

    Key: D (lingered; hung about)

Final paper

The Cop and the Anthem: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how O. Henry develops homelessness and society across The Cop and the Anthem. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Cop and the Anthem and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to fate and irony.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Cop and the Anthem. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Cop and the Anthem finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of redemption. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words

Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.
Organization	15

		Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: O. Henry uses irony to show that society punishes the poor regardless of what they choose. The text makes this visible when it says “Three months on the Island was what his soul craved” (The Cop and the Anthem, paragraph 4). Soapy's soul "craved" "Three months on the Island," and he fails to get it by crime, but once he resolves to reform, "the Magistrate" gives him exactly that. A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Homelessness and society

Scaffolded support (600 words; Common Core: W.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Cop and the Anthem teaches about homelessness and society. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Common Core: W.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how O. Henry develops homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Common Core: W.9-10.1, RL.9-10.2): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how O. Henry develops homelessness and society across The Cop and the Anthem. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Common Core: W.11-12.1, RL.11-12.5): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Cop and the Anthem (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of homelessness and society. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Common Core: W.11-12.1, RL.11-12.2): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Common Core: W.11-12.1, RL.11-12.2): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how O. Henry's choices in The Cop and the Anthem (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of homelessness and society, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Cop and the Anthem's treatment of homelessness and society in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; Common Core: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on homelessness and society in The Cop and the Anthem, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.
