Lesson 1: Introduction to The Gift of the Magi

Objective: Students will explain, in a 3-sentence exit ticket, how one fact about O. Henry's life or times connects to sacrificial love in “The Gift of the Magi”, and will set up a reading journal with a prediction and a question for each of 3 themes (sacrificial love, wealth and poverty, irony of giving).

Author biography

O. Henry was the pen name of William Sydney Porter, born on 11 September 1862 in Greensboro, North Carolina. He trained as a pharmacist, moved to Texas, and worked as a draftsman, bank teller and humorous journalist. Convicted of embezzling from the Austin bank where he had worked (he maintained his innocence), he served about three years in the Ohio Penitentiary (1898–1901), where he began publishing stories as O. Henry. In New York he wrote a story a week for the New York World and produced hundreds of tales of ordinary city people, famous for their warmth, wordplay and twist endings. He died in New York on 5 June 1910.

Historical and cultural context

Set in a cheap furnished flat in New York at the start of the twentieth century, when millions of clerks and shop workers lived on a few dollars a week. The title refers to the Magi of the Gospel of Matthew, who brought gifts to the infant Jesus, the origin of Christmas gift-giving.

Publication and reception, then and now

First published in the New York Sunday World on 10 December 1905; collected in The Four Million (1906), whose title answers the claim that only "four hundred" people in New York society mattered.

Then: Immediately popular; it helped make O. Henry the best-known story writer in America.

Now: One of the most adapted and anthologized Christmas stories, the classic example of situational irony and the "twist ending."

Overview (spoiler-free)

Della has one dollar and eighty-seven cents to buy her husband Jim a Christmas present. Each of them owns one treasure: her long hair and his gold watch.

Main themes

- sacrificial love.
- poverty and dignity.
- the meaning of gifts.

Why it matters

Students learn how irony shapes meaning and think about what makes a gift valuable.

Spoilers · teacher only

Della sells her hair to buy Jim a chain for his watch; Jim sells his watch to buy her combs for her hair. The narrator calls them the wisest of givers.

First, meaning. I read "ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all" slowly and put it in my own words: The story opens with exactly one dollar and eighty-seven cents, and that is all. Next, craft. I notice the short second sentence, which lands like a sigh. The strongest word is "ONE": the capitalized opening gives the number weight. Then, effect. Why does O. Henry open with this exact amount? My answer: The tiny sum makes their poverty real; the story will show love that outweighs money.

On Christmas Eve Della Young has only $1.87 to buy a present for her husband Jim. She sells her long, beautiful hair for twenty dollars and buys a platinum fob chain for Jim's prized gold watch. Jim comes home and reveals he has sold the watch to buy Della a set of tortoise-shell combs for her hair. The narrator calls the two foolish children but declares them the wisest of givers: they are the magi.

Background: O. Henry wrote the story in 1905 for the New York Sunday World. A flat at $8 a week and a $20 salary cut place the Youngs among New York's struggling clerks.

Significance: A classic of situational irony and a Common Core Appendix B grades 9–10 exemplar.

Teacher analysis (spoilers)

Literary elements

- Irony: Situational irony: each gift is made useless by the other's sacrifice.
- NarratorVoice: A chatty narrator comments directly ("a last word to the wise of these days"), turning the story into a parable.
- Allusion: The Magi; the Queen of Sheba and King Solomon (to compare the hair and watch to royal treasures).

Themes and how they develop

- sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless.

Symbols and motifs

- hair and watch: each partner's pride and identity.

Key quotations (checked against the reading text)

- "ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1) Poverty.
- "let's put our Christmas presents away and keep'em a while" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44) Jim's gentle response.
- "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45) The moral.

Model claim-evidence-reasoning

Claim: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift.
Evidence: "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45)
Reasoning: Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let's put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest."

2. Find one example of irony in this story. What does it reveal that a plain statement would not? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for gaps between what characters expect or say and what is true.
3. How does the symbolism in this story shape what we understand about love measured by sacrifice? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for objects, places or actions that stand for larger ideas.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1): Poverty. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “While the mistress of the home is gradually subsiding from the first stage to the second, take a look at the home.”, why might Henry have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “The Gift of the Magi”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: On Christmas Eve Della Young has only $1.87 to buy a present for her husband Jim. She sells her long, beautiful hair for twenty dollars and buys a platinum fob chain for Jim's prized gold watch. Jim comes home and reveals he has sold the watch to buy Della a set of tortoise-shell combs for her…
6. As the opening story, what does “The Gift of the Magi” set up that the rest of The Gift of the Magi will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: “let’s put our Christmas presents away and keep’em a while” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44): Jim's gentle response. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45): The moral. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. The bell-ringer asked: "What is the best gift you have ever given or received, and what made it special?" Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.
9. Where does tone / mood appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with sacrificial love? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: Look for word choices that reveal the narrator's attitude or the scene's feeling.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: "ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1): Poverty. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: O. Henry wrote the story in 1905 for the New York Sunday World. A flat at $8 a week and a $20 salary cut place the Youngs among New York's struggling clerks. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): unit standards] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Useful evidence: "let's put our Christmas presents away and keep'em a while" (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44): Jim's gentle response. Theme link: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

6. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "And now, they were hers, but the tresses that should have adorned the coveted _____ were gone." Word bank: adornments, ransacking, cascade,

depreciate

Key: adornments

7. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Why does the narrator call Jim and Della 'the magi'?

   A. They are rich

   B. They gave the wisest gifts, out of love

   C. They are from the East

   D. They are kings

   Key: B (They gave the wisest gifts, out of love)

8. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does Della buy for Jim?

   A. A pair of gloves

   B. A platinum fob chain for his watch

   C. A gold ring

   D. A new coat

   Key: B (A platinum fob chain for his watch)

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What has Jim bought for Della?

   A. A mirror

   B. A hat

   C. A necklace

   D. A set of tortoise-shell combs

   Key: D (A set of tortoise-shell combs)

10. [mc · recall · DOK 1] How much money does Della have at the start?

    A. Nothing

    B. Twenty dollars

    C. Eight dollars

    D. One dollar and eighty-seven cents

    Key: D (One dollar and eighty-seven cents)

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 22 reveal about the character or situation? “If Jim doesn’t kill me,’ she said to herself, ‘before he takes a second look at me, he’ll say I look like a Coney Island chorus girl.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 22) shows the situation turning on wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “herself” and “chorus” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Poverty. The evidence is “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1). This develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless.

13. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “Which instigates the moral reflection that life is made up of sobs, sniffles, and smiles, with sniffles predominating.”

B. “The ‘Dillingham’ had been flung to the breeze during a former period of prosperity when its possessor was being paid $30 per week.”

C. “Now, when the income was shrunk to $20, the letters of ‘Dillingham’ looked blurred, as though they were thinking seriously of contracting…”

D. “There was clearly nothing to do but flop down on the shabby little couch and howl.”

Key: D (“There was clearly nothing to do but flop down on the shabby little couch and howl.”)

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 5 shapes its tone: “Now, when the income was shrunk to $20, the letters of ‘Dillingham’ looked blurred, as though they were thinking seriously of contracting to a modest and unassuming D.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: The words “contracting” and “unassuming” (paragraph 5) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 28 shapes its tone: “You don’t know what a nice—what a beautiful, nice gift I’ve got for you.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
Sample answer: The words “beautiful” (paragraph 28) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “let’s put our Christmas presents away and keep’em a while” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
Sample answer: Jim's gentle response. The evidence is “let’s put our Christmas presents away and keep’em a while” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44). This develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “presents” and “while” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let’s put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest.".

17. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 24: “She had a habit of saying little silent prayers about the simplest everyday things, and now she _____: ‘Please God, make him think I am still pretty.’”
Word bank: whispered, backyard, dollar, doubled
Key: whispered

18. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 44: “let’s put our Christmas _____ away and keep’em a while”
Key: presents

19. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “For ten seconds let us regard with discreet scrutiny some _____ object in the other direction.” Word bank: inconsequential, cascade, ransacking, depreciate
Key: inconsequential

20. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “It was a platinum fob chain simple and chaste in design, properly proclaiming its value by substance alone and not by _____ ornamentation—as all good things should do.” Word bank: cascade, ransacking, meretricious, depreciate
Key: meretricious

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 25 shapes its tone: “Poor fellow, he was only twenty-two—and to be burdened with a family!” Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words “burdened” and “twenty” (paragraph 25) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Synthesis: trace how sacrificial love develops from the opening of “The Gift of the Magi” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: Near the start, “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1) — Poverty. Later, “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45) — The moral. The gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless.

23. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 8: “Her eyes were shining _____, but her face had lost its colour within twenty seconds.” Word bank: immovable, backyard, generosity, brilliantly

    Key: brilliantly

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of wealth and poverty: “With a whirl of skirts and with the brilliant sparkle still in her eyes, she fluttered out the door and down the stairs to the street.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “fluttered” and “brilliant” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “When Della reached home her intoxication gave way a little to prudence and reason.” (paragraph 20), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating wealth and poverty as central.

25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Poverty. The evidence is “ONE dollar and eighty-seven cents. That was all” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 1). This develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “eighty” and “dollar” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let’s put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest.".

26. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does Della sell?

    A. Her ring

    B. Her watch

    C. Her coat

    D. Her hair

    Key: D (Her hair)

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 6 to the story's treatment of wealth and poverty: “To-morrow would be Christmas Day, and she had only $1.87 with which to buy Jim a present.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 6) develops wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “present” and “morrow” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “A very thin and very agile person may, by observing his reflection in a rapid sequence of longitudinal strips, obtain a…” (paragraph 7), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating wealth and poverty as central.

28. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “It did not exactly beggar description, but it certainly had that word on the lookout for the _____ squad.” Word bank: depreciate, ransacking, cascade,

Key: mendicancy

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 39 to the story's treatment of wealth and poverty: “But she hugged them to her bosom, and at length she was able to look up with dim eyes and a smile and say: ‘My hair grows so fast, Jim!’” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 39) develops wealth and poverty: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “length” and “hugged” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The dull precious metal seemed to flash with a reflection of her bright and ardent spirit.” (paragraph 41), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating wealth and poverty as central.

30. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze the word choice in “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: The moral. The evidence is “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45). This develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “wisest” and “these” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

31. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] In the line “Had the Queen of Sheba lived in the flat across the airshaft, Della would have let her hair hang out the window some day to dry just to depreciate Her Majesty’s jewels and gifts.”, what does “depreciate” most nearly mean?

    A. to belittle; to speak of as unimportant

    B. a falling mass, like a waterfall

    C. searching a place thoroughly, often roughly

    D. an entrance hall

    Key: A (to belittle; to speak of as unimportant)

32. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Claim: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45).

    Sample answer: Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let’s put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest.". The evidence is “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45) — The moral. This develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless.

33. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Which literary element does this describe in “The Gift of the Magi”? A chatty narrator comments directly (‘a last word to the wise of these days’), turning the story into a parable.

    A. Alliteration

    B. Tone / mood

    C. Conflict

    D. NarratorVoice

    Key: D (NarratorVoice)

34. [mc · inference · DOK 2 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] Which choice best states a central concern of “The Gift of the Magi”?

    A. Love measured by sacrifice

    B. Enemies reconciled too late

    C. A reversal that punishes a change of heart

D. Moral worth found among those society rejects

Key: A (Love measured by sacrifice)

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “The Gift of the Magi,” how does Henry show love measured by sacrifice? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the irony you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): In The Gift of the Magi, how does Henry develop the idea of love measured by sacrifice? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the irony in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Analyze how The Gift of the Magi develops the idea of love measured by sacrifice. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of irony and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of The Gift of the Magi (where it begins, turns and ends) and its irony shape the reader's understanding of love measured by sacrifice. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

HS Senior (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what The Gift of the Magi suggests about love measured by sacrifice. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's irony and symbolism), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay. Distinguish what is directly stated from what is really meant.

AP (650 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how O. Henry uses irony in The Gift of the Magi to complicate the reader's understanding of love measured by sacrifice. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.3, ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.1): Situate The Gift of the Magi within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of love measured by sacrifice responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Read The Gift of the Magi alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of love measured by sacrifice follows or bends those conventions, using the irony as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Gift of the Magi and its treatment of love measured by sacrifice. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's irony and symbolism, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Gift of the Magi as evidence for a larger claim about love measured by sacrifice in The Gift of the Magi. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Gift of the Magi as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of love measured by sacrifice. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Gift of the Magi.

SAT-style questions

1. Had the Queen of Sheba lived in the flat across the airshaft, Della would have let her hair hang out the window some day to dry just to depreciate Her Majesty's jewels and gifts.

   As used in the text, what does the word "depreciate" most nearly mean?

   A. to belittle; to speak of as unimportant

   B. showy but cheap or without real value

   C. not important

   D. things that decorate or beautify

2. While the mistress of the home is gradually subsiding from the first stage to the second, take a look at the home. A furnished flat at $8 per week. It did not exactly beggar description, but it certainly had that word on the lookout for the mendicancy squad.

Which choice best states a central concern of "The Gift of the Magi"?

A. Love measured by sacrifice

B. Hope created by an act of sacrifice

C. A symbol of hidden sin that isolates its wearer

D. Science that poisons love

SAT key: 1. A (to belittle; to speak of as unimportant); 2. A (Love measured by sacrifice)

Unit test

The Gift of the Magi: end test · 90 minutes · 18 questions per rigor version (multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer). The class rigor level picks the version; student auto-adjust applies.

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 5: "But whenever Mr. James Dillingham Young came home and reached his flat above he was called 'Jim' and greatly hugged by Mrs. James Dillingham Young, already _____ to you as Della." Word bank: prosperity, something, disapproval, introduced

    Key: introduced

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 7 reveal about the character or situation? "A very thin and very agile person may, by observing his reflection in a rapid sequence of longitudinal strips, obtain a fairly accurate conception of his looks." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 7) shows the situation turning on irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words "longitudinal" and "conception" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 41 reveal about the character or situation? "The dull precious metal seemed to flash with a reflection of her bright and ardent spirit." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 41) shows the situation turning on irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words "reflection" and "precious" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 2 reveal about the character or situation? "Which instigates the moral reflection that life is made up of sobs, sniffles, and smiles, with sniffles predominating." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 2) shows the situation turning on sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “predominating” and “reflection” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 26 reveal about the character or situation? “His eyes were fixed upon Della, and there was an expression in them that she could not read, and it terrified her.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 26) shows the situation turning on sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The words “expression” and “terrified” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 6 shapes its tone: “Many a happy hour she had spent planning for something nice for him.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “something” and “planning” (paragraph 6) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 20 shapes its tone: “When Della reached home her intoxication gave way a little to prudence and reason.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “intoxication” and “prudence” (paragraph 20) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 36 shapes its tone: “But if you’ll unwrap that package you may see why you had me going a while at first.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “package” and “unwrap” (paragraph 36) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

18. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 26 to the story's treatment of irony of giving: “He simply stared at her fixedly with that peculiar expression on his face.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 26) develops irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “expression” and “peculiar” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “His eyes were fixed upon Della, and there was an expression in them that she could not read, and it terrified her.” (paragraph 26), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating irony of giving as central.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 23 shapes its tone: “At 7 o’clock the coffee was made and the frying-pan was on the back of the stove hot and ready to cook the chops.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “frying” and “coffee” (paragraph 23) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 21 to the story's treatment of sacrificial love: “Within forty minutes her head was covered with tiny, close-lying curls that made her look wonderfully like a truant schoolboy.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 21) develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “wonderfully” and “schoolboy” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “If Jim doesn’t kill me,’ she said to herself, ‘before he takes a second look at me, he’ll say I look like a Coney…” (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating sacrificial love as central.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 8 shapes its tone: “Rapidly she pulled down her hair and let it fall to its full length.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “length” and “pulled” (paragraph 8) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 43 shapes its tone: “Instead of obeying, Jim tumbled down on the couch and put his hands under the back of his head and smiled.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “tumbled” and “obeying” (paragraph 43) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 24 to the story's treatment of sacrificial love: “Then she heard his step on the stair away down on the first flight, and she turned white for just a moment.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 24) develops sacrificial love: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “moment” and “turned” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Poor fellow, he was only twenty-two—and to be burdened with a family!” (paragraph 25), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating sacrificial love as central.
24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 35 to the story's treatment of irony of giving: “Jim drew a package from his overcoat pocket and threw it upon the table.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 35) develops irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “overcoat” and “package” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “But if you’ll unwrap that package you may see why you had me going a while at first.” (paragraph 36), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating irony of giving as central.
25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 6 to the story's treatment of irony of giving: “Della finished her cry and attended to her cheeks with the powder rag.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 6) develops irony of giving: the gifts are worthless; the sacrifice is priceless. Its words “attended” and “finished” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Many a happy hour she had spent planning for something nice for him.” (paragraph 6), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating irony of giving as central.
26. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C3-LIT-1] In the line “So now Della’s beautiful hair fell about her, rippling and shining like a cascade of brown waters.”, what does “cascade” most nearly mean?

    A. a falling mass, like a waterfall
    B. to belittle; to speak of as unimportant
    C. searching a place thoroughly, often roughly
    D. an entrance hall

    Key: A (a falling mass, like a waterfall)

27. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C3-LIT-1] In the line "She was ransacking the stores for Jim's present.", what does "ransacking" most nearly mean?

    A. to belittle; to speak of as unimportant

    B. an entrance hall

    C. a falling mass, like a waterfall

    D. searching a place thoroughly, often roughly

    Key: D (searching a place thoroughly, often roughly)

Final paper

The Gift of the Magi: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how O. Henry develops sacrificial love across The Gift of the Magi. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Gift of the Magi and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to wealth and poverty.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Gift of the Magi. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Gift of the Magi finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of irony of giving. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.
Organization	15

		Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: The irony of the gifts shows that love, not objects, is the real gift. The text makes this visible when it says “of all who give gifts these two were the wisest” (The Gift of the Magi, paragraph 45). Both sacrifices make the presents useless, yet Jim says "let’s put our Christmas presents away," and the narrator concludes "of all who give gifts these two were the wisest.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Sacrificial love

Scaffolded support (600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what The Gift of the Magi teaches about sacrificial love. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how O. Henry develops sacrificial love in The Gift of the Magi. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how O. Henry develops sacrificial love across The Gift of the Magi. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of The Gift of the Magi (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of sacrificial love. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of sacrificial love in The Gift of the Magi. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how O. Henry's choices in The Gift of the Magi (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of sacrificial love, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5, ICC-WC-1.4, ICC-WC-1.7): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places The Gift of the Magi's treatment of sacrificial love in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on sacrificial love in The Gift of the Magi that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on sacrificial love in The Gift of the Magi. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.
