Grades: Grades 9–12 (accessible text, well suited to the scaffolded-support track; scales to graduate via rigor levels). Short story: read whole in one 90-minute lesson (assign longer stories as pre-reading). The scaffolded-support track works from the full text with scaffolds. Weeks: 1. Class days: 2 × 90 minutes (1 chapter lessons plus seminar, test and essay days).

Essential questions

- What does A White Heron suggest about nature versus progress?
- What does A White Heron suggest about loyalty and silence?
- What does A White Heron suggest about girlhood?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Sarah Orne Jewett was born in South Berwick, Maine, on 3 September 1849, the daughter of a country doctor whose rounds she often joined. Encouraged by the Atlantic Monthly, she wrote sketches and stories of coastal Maine, collected in A White Heron and Other Stories (1886) and her masterpiece The Country of the Pointed Firs (1896). She shared her life for decades with Annie Adams Fields and encouraged the young Willa Cather. She died on 24 June 1909.

Historical and cultural context

Late-nineteenth-century Maine; ornithologists collected and stuffed birds, while plume hunting threatened herons and egrets.

Publication and reception, then and now

Published in A White Heron and Other Stories (1886).

Then: Praised.

Now: A classic of nature writing and choice.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Sylvia, a shy girl living with her grandmother, meets a young ornithologist who offers ten dollars to anyone who can show him the white heron's nest.

Main themes

- nature versus progress.
- loyalty.
- coming of age.

Why it matters

It raises questions of conservation and of what we owe the natural world, still urgent today, and shows a quiet young person making a brave choice against an adult with money.

Spoilers · teacher only

She climbs a great pine and finds the nest, but refuses to tell him.

Model a close reading of one passage using the written think-aloud below.
First, meaning. I read "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" slowly and put it in my own words: The narrator explains that Sylvia cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away. Next, craft. I notice the sentence says "cannot," not "will not," as if her loyalty is beyond choice. The strongest word is "heron's": the possessive gives the heron a secret, and rights, of its own. Then, effect. Why is Sylvia's choice so hard, and what does she choose? My answer: Sylvia gives up the hunter's ten dollars and his friendship to protect the bird; Jewett sets nature against money and admiration, and the girl chooses the wild.

Lesson 2: A White Heron

Focus: a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval

Objective: Students will analyze how setting develops in "A White Heron" by writing a claim-evidence-reasoning paragraph that cites at least 2 quotations from the section, and will score at least 80% on the section quiz.

Standards: AP: see the unit standards

Content note (shooting of birds, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Shooting of birds. Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…y fast ones. The cow stopped long at the brook to drink, as if the pasture were not half a swam…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.
Student preview: Heads-up: this story includes shooting of birds.
Suggested language: "Why does the writer include this, and what does it make us notice?"

Nine-year-old Sylvia, who lives with her grandmother on a Maine farm, meets a young ornithologist hunting a rare white heron to shoot and stuff. He offers ten dollars for its location. At dawn Sylvia climbs a giant pine and sees the heron's nest. She returns but will not tell; the hunter leaves, and the narrator wonders what she lost and gained.

Background: Published in 1886, when plume hunting for women's hats was devastating heron populations; the Audubon movement began the same decade.

Significance: A Common Core Appendix B 11–CCR exemplar and a central regionalist text.

Published in 1886, when plume hunting for women's hats was devastating heron populations; the Audubon movement began the same decade. A Common Core Appendix B 11–CCR exemplar and a central regionalist text. Point of view: Mostly third person limited to Sylvia, but the narrator sometimes speaks directly (addressing the tree, the reader and Sylvia herself), especially at the climax. Symbolism: The great pine, a survivor of the old forest, lifts Sylvia to a view of the sea; the heron represents wild nature and her own secret self. Characterization: Sylvia is shy, "afraid of folks," and at home with animals; the young man is charming but kills the birds he loves. Watch for the white heron: wild beauty that would be destroyed by being possessed.

First, meaning. I read "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" slowly and put it in my own words: Sylvia decides she cannot reveal the heron's nest to the hunter and give its life away. Next, craft. I notice "give its life away," which treats the bird like a person she would be betraying. The strongest word is "secret": it shows the heron's nest is something sacred she shares with the forest. Then, effect. Why does Sylvia decide she cannot tell? My answer: Sylvia decides she cannot tell because the heron's life matters more to her than money or the young man's approval; her silence is her loyalty to nature and her own decision.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Choice. On symbolism: The great pine, a survivor of the old forest, lifts Sylvia to a view of the sea; the heron represents wild nature and her own secret self. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. In the passage that begins “The woods were already filled with shadows one June evening, just before eight o'clock, though a bright sunset still glimmered faintly among the trunks of the trees.”, why might Jewett have chosen these particular words? Pick two and explain their connotations. [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.FIG] Look for: Diction analysis of two words in the anchor passage.
5. What causes the main turn in “A White Heron”, and what effect is it likely to have on what follows? [DOK 2 · followUp · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: Nine-year-old Sylvia, who lives with her grandmother on a Maine farm, meets a young ornithologist hunting a rare white heron to shoot and stuff. He offers ten dollars for its location. At dawn Sylvia climbs a giant pine and sees the heron's nest. She returns but will not tell; the hunter leaves,…
6. As the opening story, what does “A White Heron” set up that the rest of A White Heron will need? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A causal or structural link between this and the previous story.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20): Temptation. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
7. What can we infer about a character's motives from what they say and do here, as opposed to what they claim? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR] Look for: An inference about motive supported by a quoted line.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Narrator. On characterization: Sylvia is shy, "afraid of folks," and at home with animals; the young man is charming but kills the birds he loves. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
8. The bell-ringer asked: “Would you keep a secret to protect something you love, even if it cost you?” Now that we have read closely, how would you revise your first answer, and which line changed your mind? [DOK 2 · thinkPairShare · wait 5 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A revised answer anchored in the text.

9. Where does point of view appear, and how does it connect this story to the larger concern with nature versus progress? [DOK 3 · followUp · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: Look for who is telling the story and what that narrator can and cannot know.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Choice. On point of view: Mostly third person limited to Sylvia, but the narrator sometimes speaks directly (addressing the tree, the reader and Sylvia herself), especially at the climax. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
10. Background: Published in 1886, when plume hunting for women's hats was devastating heron populations; the Audubon movement began the same decade. How does knowing this change the way you read one moment in the story? [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.SET] Look for: A specific moment reread in light of the context.
    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20): Temptation. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

Evaluative / synthesis / creative

1. A critic might argue: “A Common Core Appendix B 11–CCR exemplar and a central regionalist text.” How far do you agree? Take a stand and defend it with two lines from the story. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A defended position with evidence and one counterpoint.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Narrator. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
2. Which character in this story acts most wisely, and which least? Judge them by a standard you name. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.CHR, AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: An evaluation using an explicit criterion and evidence.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Choice. On characterization: Sylvia is shy, "afraid of folks," and at home with animals; the young man is charming but kills the birds he loves. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
3. Rewrite one moment of “A White Heron” from the point of view of a different character. What does the new angle reveal or hide about a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.NAR] Look for: A creative product with a rationale tied to the text.
   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20): Temptation. On point of view: Mostly third person limited to Sylvia, but the narrator sometimes speaks directly (addressing the tree, the reader and Sylvia herself), especially at the climax. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.
4. Write three questions of your own about “A White Heron”: one recall, one “why/how”, and one “should/what if”. Trade with a partner and answer theirs. [DOK 3 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: Student-generated questions at three levels.

Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Narrator. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

5. Connect this story to loyalty and silence: is the link strong or weak so far? What would Jewett need to show next to strengthen it? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A judgment of thematic development across the work.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Choice. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

6. Is the setting in this story effective, or does it feel heavy-handed? Evaluate it as a reader would in a review. [DOK 3 · fourCorners · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.SET] Look for: An evaluative judgment with criteria and evidence.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20): Temptation. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. Compare how “A White Heron” treats a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval with how another text, film or event you know treats a similar idea. What does A White Heron see that the other misses? [DOK 4 · socraticCircle · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A cross-text synthesis.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Narrator. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

8. As the final story, does this ending resolve nature versus progress? Argue whether the ending is earned. [DOK 3 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN, AP-LIT.STR] Look for: A prediction or judgment justified with textual clues.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Choice. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

9. Design a one-paragraph modern adaptation of this story (setting, characters, conflict). What must stay the same for it to still be about a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval? [DOK 4 · thinkPairShare · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A creative transfer that keeps the core idea.

   Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20): Temptation. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

10. What question would you most like to ask Sarah Orne Jewett about this story, and what answer do you think the text itself gives? [DOK 4 · studentGenerated · wait 8 s · AP-LIT.LAN] Look for: A student-generated question answered from evidence.

    Answer guidance: A defensible line of argument: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Useful evidence: “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33): Narrator. Theme link: she protects the heron. Credit any position that is supported by quotation and reasoning; push one-sided answers to address the strongest counterpoint.

7. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 6: “Speak up and tell me what your name is, and _____ you think I can spend the night at your house, and go out gunning early in the morning.” Word bank:

pasturing, assistance, whether, support

Key: whether

8. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What does he offer for information?

   A. A ride to town

   B. Ten dollars

   C. A book

   D. A gun

   Key: B (Ten dollars)

9. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 11? “There's good _____ for geese just below here towards the ma'sh.”

   A. pasturing

   B. shadows

   C. standing

   D. grandmother

   Key: A (pasturing)

10. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 2 reveal about the character or situation? “There was hardly a night the summer through when the old cow could be found waiting at the pasture bars” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 2) shows the situation turning on nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The words “waiting” and “pasture” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Choice. The evidence is “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33). This develops loyalty: she protects the heron.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 20 reveal about the character or situation? “Perhaps it was only migrating, or had been chased out of its own region by some bird of prey.’” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 20) shows the situation turning on nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The words “migrating” and “region” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: Temptation. The evidence is “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20). This develops loyalty: she protects the heron.

14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze the word choice in “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: Narrator. The evidence is “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33). This develops loyalty: she protects the heron. The words “secrets” and “country” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 25 shapes its tone: “First she must mount the white oak tree that grew alongside, where she was almost lost among the dark branches and the green leaves heavy and wet with dew" Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words "alongside" and "branches" (paragraph 25) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 13 to the story's treatment of nature versus progress: "Dan an' his father they didn't hitch,—but he never held up his head ag'in after Dan had dared him an' gone off.'" Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 13) develops nature versus progress: she protects the heron. Its words "father" and "didn't" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "I caught a glimpse of a white heron a few miles from here on Saturday, and I have followed it in this direction." (paragraph 17), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating nature versus progress as central.

17. [mc · recall · DOK 1] What is the hunter looking for?

    A. A white heron

    B. A lost cow

    C. A deer

    D. Gold

    Key: A (A white heron)

18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 19? "There was an open place where the sunshine always seemed strangely yellow and hot, where tall, nodding rushes grew, and her _____ had warned her that she might sink in the soft black mud underneath and never be heard of more."

    A. whether

    B. companionship

    C. grandmother

    D. support

    Key: C (grandmother)

19. [mc · recall · DOK 1] How does Sylvia find the nest?

    A. The cow leads her

    B. She follows the hunter

    C. She climbs a great pine tree at dawn

    D. Her grandmother tells her

    Key: C (She climbs a great pine tree at dawn)

20. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 1: "The woods were already filled with shadows one June evening, just before eight o'clock, though a bright sunset still _____ faintly among the trunks of the trees." Word bank: glimmered, repeated, answering, hunting

    Key: glimmered

21. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Whom does Sylvia live with?

    A. Her grandmother, Mrs. Tilley

    B. The hunter

    C. Her aunt

    D. Her parents

Key: A (Her grandmother, Mrs. Tilley)

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 22 shapes its tone: “At last evening began to fall, and they drove the cow home together, and Sylvia smiled with pleasure when they came to the place where she heard the whistle and was afraid only the night before.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “pleasure” and “together” (paragraph 22) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
23. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Synthesis: trace how loyalty develops from the opening of “A White Heron” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.
    Sample answer: Near the start, “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33) — Choice. Later, “tell your secrets to this lonely country child” (A White Heron, paragraph 33) — Narrator. She protects the heron.
24. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from A White Heron, paragraph 33: “she _____ tell the heron's secret and give its life away”
    Key: cannot
25. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from A White Heron, paragraph 33: “tell your _____ to this lonely country child”
    Key: secrets
26. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 7 shapes its tone: “But who could have foreseen such an accident as this?” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “foreseen” and “accident” (paragraph 7) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 28 to the story's treatment of nature versus progress: “How low they looked in the air from that height when one had only seen them before far up, and dark against the blue sky.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 28) develops nature versus progress: she protects the heron. Its words “against” and “before” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Sylvia could see the white sails of ships out at sea, and the clouds that were purple and rose-colored and yellow at…” (paragraph 29), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating nature versus progress as central.
28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 11 to the story's treatment of nature versus progress: “She was glad to have something to do, and she was hungry herself.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 11) develops nature versus progress: she protects the heron. Its words “something” and “herself” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Soon it would be berry-time, and Sylvia was a great help at picking.” (paragraph 13), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating nature versus progress as central.
29. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 4 shapes its tone: “The cow stopped long at the brook to drink, as if the pasture were not half a swamp, and Sylvia stood still and waited, letting her bare feet cool themselves in the shoal water, while the great twilight moths struck softly against her.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “themselves” and “twilight” (paragraph 4) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to nature versus progress: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

30. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "'Dear sakes, yes,' responded the hostess, whose long slumbering hospitality seemed to be easily _____. 'You might fare better if you went out to the main road a mile or so, but you're welcome to what we've got." Word bank: dilatory, awakened, fretfully, elusive
    Key: awakened

31. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Claim: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" (A White Heron, paragraph 33).
    Sample answer: The stranger offers "ten dollars," but she "cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away.". The evidence is "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" (A White Heron, paragraph 33) — Choice. This develops loyalty: she protects the heron.

32. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 31 to the story's treatment of nature versus progress: "He was sure from the way the shy little girl looked once or twice yesterday that she had at least seen the white heron, and now she must really be made to tell." Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 31) develops nature versus progress: she protects the heron. Its words "yesterday" and "really" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "He is so well worth making happy, and he waits to hear the story she can tell." (paragraph 32), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating nature versus progress as central.

33. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] In the line "But Sylvia does not speak after all, though the old grandmother fretfully rebukes her, and the young man's kind, appealing eyes are looking straight in her own.", what does "fretfully" most nearly mean?
    A. in an irritable, complaining way
    B. slow; tending to delay
    C. lingered; hung about
    D. hard to grasp, catch or put into words
    Key: A (in an irritable, complaining way)

34. [fill · recall · DOK 1 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: "Though this chase had been so long that the wary animal herself had given an unusual signal of her whereabouts, Sylvia had only laughed when she came upon Mistress Moolly at the swamp-side, and urged her affectionately _____ with a twig of birch leaves." Word bank: homeward, elusive, fretfully, dilatory
    Key: homeward

35. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" (A White Heron, paragraph 33) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.
    Sample answer: Choice. The evidence is "she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away" (A White Heron, paragraph 33). This develops loyalty: she protects the heron. The words "heron's" and "cannot" carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. The stranger offers "ten dollars," but she "cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away.".

36. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] In the line “A little girl was driving home her cow, a plodding, dilatory, provoking creature in her behavior, but a valued companion for all that.”, what does “dilatory” most nearly mean?

    A. hard to grasp, catch or put into words

    B. lingered; hung about

    C. slow; tending to delay

    D. in an irritable, complaining way

    Key: C (slow; tending to delay)

37. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] Which literary element does this describe in “A White Heron”? Mostly third person limited to Sylvia, but the narrator sometimes speaks directly (addressing the tree, the reader and Sylvia herself), especially at the climax.

    A. Simile

    B. Point of view

    C. Metaphor

    D. Imagery

    Key: B (Point of view)

38. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Program outcome: LeL-C2-LIT-1] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Temptation. The evidence is “I would give ten dollars to anybody who could show it to me” (A White Heron, paragraph 20). This develops loyalty: she protects the heron. The words “anybody” and “dollars” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. The stranger offers "ten dollars," but she "cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away.".

39. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-C3-LIT-1] In the line “She grieved because the longed-for white heron was elusive, but she did not lead the guest, she only followed, and there was no such thing as speaking first.”, what does “elusive” most nearly mean?

    A. slow; tending to delay

    B. hard to grasp, catch or put into words

    C. in an irritable, complaining way

    D. lingered; hung about

    Key: B (hard to grasp, catch or put into words)

40. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Program outcome: LeL-C3-LIT-1] Which literary element does this describe in “A White Heron”? The great pine, a survivor of the old forest, lifts Sylvia to a view of the sea; the heron represents wild nature and her own secret self.

    A. Allusion

    B. Simile

    C. Symbolism

    D. Metaphor

    Key: C (Symbolism)

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In “A White Heron,” how does Jewett show a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the setting you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; AP: see unit standards): In A White Heron, how does Jewett develop the idea of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the setting in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how A White Heron develops the idea of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of setting and symbolism shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; AP: see unit standards): Analyze how the structure of A White Heron (where it begins, turns and ends) and its setting shape the reader's understanding of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Two readers disagree about what A White Heron suggests about a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's setting and symbolism), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; AP: AP-LIT.SET, AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Sarah Orne Jewett uses setting in A White Heron to complicate the reader's understanding of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Situate A White Heron within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; AP: see unit standards): Read A White Heron alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval follows or bends those conventions, using the setting as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; AP: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to A White Heron and its treatment of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's setting and symbolism, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads A White Heron as evidence for a larger claim about a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval in A White Heron. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; AP: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads A White Heron as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of a girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on A White Heron.

SAT-style questions

1. She grieved because the longed-for white heron was elusive, but she did not lead the guest, she only followed, and there was no such thing as speaking first.

   As used in the text, what does the word “elusive” most nearly mean?

   A. stirred up

   B. joyful and proud especially because of triumph or success

   C. a deep awareness of and sympathy for another's suffering

   D. hard to grasp, catch or put into words

2. The woods were already filled with shadows one June evening, just before eight o'clock, though a bright sunset still glimmered faintly among the trunks of the trees. A little girl was driving home her cow, a plodding, dilatory, provoking creature in her behavior, but a valued companion for all that. They were going away from whatever light there was, and striking deep into the woods, but their feet were familiar with the path, and it was no matter whether their eyes could see it or not.

Which choice best states a central concern of "A White Heron"?

A. The foolishness of wishing to be young again

B. Racial pride destroying love

C. A girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval

D. What fifteen years of solitude teach

SAT key: 1. D (hard to grasp, catch or put into words); 2. C (A girl choosing nature over a stranger's approval)

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

Unit test: item bank (all eleven rigor versions)

1. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 4: “There was a _____ in the great boughs overhead.” Word bank: hunting, stirring, support, standing

   Key: stirring

2. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 13? “He's been a great wand'rer, I expect, and he's no hand to write _____.”

   A. letters
   B. assistance
   C. pasturing
   D. glimmered

   Key: A (letters)

3. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 15? “I have been at it ever since I was a boy.’ (Mrs. Tilley smiled.) ‘There are two or three very rare ones I have been _____ for these five years.”

   A. hunting
   B. support
   C. grandmother
   D. letters

   Key: A (hunting)

4. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 4? “She was not often in the woods so late as this, and it made her feel as if she were a part of the gray _____ and the moving leaves.”

   A. companionship
   B. shadows
   C. assistance
   D. acquaintances

   Key: B (shadows)

5. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 12: “The young man had known the horrors of its most primitive housekeeping, and the dreary squalor of that level of society which does not rebel at the _____ of hens." Word bank: companionship, hunting, glimmered, pasturing

Key: companionship

6. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 8? "Mrs. Tilley was _____ in the doorway when the trio came into view."

   A. companionship

   B. hunting

   C. standing

   D. stirring

   Key: C (standing)

7. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 17: "The little white heron, it is,' and he turned again to look at Sylvia with the hope of discovering that the rare bird was one of her _____." Word bank: whether, acquaintances, repeated, companionship

   Key: acquaintances

8. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 2? "Co'! with never an _____ Moo, until her childish patience was quite spent."

   A. whether

   B. repeated

   C. shadows

   D. answering

   Key: D (answering)

9. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 9: "The young man stood his gun beside the door, and dropped a lumpy game-bag beside it; then he bade Mrs. Tilley good-evening, and _____ his wayfarer's story, and asked if he could have a night's lodging." Word bank: repeated, companionship, shadows, grandmother

   Key: repeated

10. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 2: "The old cow was not inclined to wander farther, she even turned in the right _____ for once as they left the pasture, and stepped along the road at a good pace." Word bank: letters, whether, shadows, direction

    Key: direction

11. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. "Sylvia wondered what her grandmother would say because they were so late."

    B. "Mrs. Tilley had chased the hornéd torment too many summer evenings herself to blame any one else for lingering, and was only thankful as…"

    C. "The old cow was not inclined to wander farther, she even turned in the right direction for once as they left the pasture, and stepped along…"

    D. "The cow stopped long at the brook to drink, as if the pasture were not half a swamp, and Sylvia stood still and waited, letting her bare…"

    Key: C ("The old cow was not inclined to wander farther, she even turned in the right direction for once as they left the pasture, and stepped along…")

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 5 reveal about the character or situation? "Not a bird's-whistle, which would have a sort of friendliness, but a boy's whistle, determined, and somewhat aggressive." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 5) shows the situation turning on girlhood: she protects the heron. The words "friendliness" and "aggressive" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 13 reveal about the character or situation? "Soon it would be berry-time, and Sylvia was a great help at picking." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 13) shows the situation turning on loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. The words "picking" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 24 reveal about the character or situation? "It was almost too real and too great for the childish heart to bear." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 24) shows the situation turning on girlhood: she protects the heron. The words "childish" and "almost" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 32 shapes its tone: "He is so well worth making happy, and he waits to hear the story she can tell." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "making" (paragraph 32) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 29 shapes its tone: "She knows his secret now, the wild, light, slender bird that floats and wavers, and goes back like an arrow presently to his home in the green world beneath." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "presently" and "slender" (paragraph 29) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to girlhood: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 23 to the story's treatment of loyalty and silence: "She had always believed that whoever climbed to the top of it could see the ocean" Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 23) develops loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. Its words "believed" and "climbed" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "It was almost too real and too great for the childish heart to bear." (paragraph 24), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating loyalty and silence as central.

18. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 29 reveal about the character or situation? "Sylvia could see the white sails of ships out at sea, and the clouds that were purple and rose-colored and yellow at first began to fade away." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 29) shows the situation turning on loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. The words "colored" and "clouds" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 13 shapes its tone: "Squer'ls she'll tame to come an' feed right out o' her hands, and all sorts o' birds." Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words “she'll” (paragraph 13) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to girlhood: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 2 shapes its tone: “Besides, Sylvia had all the time there was, and very little use to make of it.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “little” (paragraph 2) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 4 to the story's treatment of loyalty and silence: “Sylvia herself felt sleepy as she walked along.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 4) develops loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. Its words “herself” and “walked” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Not a bird's-whistle, which would have a sort of friendliness, but a boy's whistle, determined, and somewhat aggressive.” (paragraph 5), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating loyalty and silence as central.

22. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 11 shapes its tone: “I'll milk right off, and you make yourself at home.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “yourself” (paragraph 11) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to girlhood: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

23. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 21 shapes its tone: “And he gave her a jack-knife, which she thought as great a treasure as if she were a desert-islander.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “treasure” and “islander” (paragraph 21) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 27 shapes its tone: “The old pine must have loved his new dependent.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “dependent” (paragraph 27) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to girlhood: she protects the heron. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

25. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 26 to the story's treatment of loyalty and silence: “The sparrows and robins in the woods below were beginning to wake and twitter to the dawn, yet it seemed much lighter there aloft in the pine-tree, and the child knew she must hurry if her project were to be of any use.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 26) develops loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. Its words “beginning” and “sparrows” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The old pine must have loved his new dependent.” (paragraph 27), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating loyalty and silence as central.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 33 to the story's treatment of girlhood: “Many a night Sylvia heard the echo of his whistle haunting the pasture path as she came home with the loitering cow.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 33) develops girlhood: she protects the heron. Its words “loitering” and “haunting” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “There was hardly a night the summer through when the old cow could be found waiting at the pasture bars” (paragraph 2), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating girlhood as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 2 to the story's treatment of girlhood: “Sylvia wondered what her grandmother would say because they were so late.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 2) develops girlhood: she protects the heron. Its words “grandmother” and “wondered” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The cow stopped long at the brook to drink, as if the pasture were not half a swamp, and Sylvia stood still and waited,…” (paragraph 4), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating girlhood as central.

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 9 to the story's treatment of loyalty and silence: “Where'd she tucked herself away this time, Sylvy?’ But Sylvia kept an awed silence; she knew by instinct that her grandmother did not comprehend the gravity of the situation.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 9) develops loyalty and silence: she protects the heron. Its words “grandmother” and “comprehend” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “I'll milk right off, and you make yourself at home.” (paragraph 11), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating loyalty and silence as central.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 21 to the story's treatment of girlhood: “She had never seen anybody so charming and delightful; the woman's heart, asleep in the child, was vaguely thrilled by a dream of love.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 21) develops girlhood: she protects the heron. Its words “delightful” and “charming” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “At last evening began to fall, and they drove the cow home together, and Sylvia smiled with pleasure when they came to…” (paragraph 22), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating girlhood as central.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · AP: AP-LIT.FIG] In the line “The good woman suspected that Sylvia loitered occasionally on her own account; there never was such a child for straying about out-of-doors since the world was made!”, what does “loitered” most nearly mean?

    A. hard to grasp, catch or put into words

    B. slow; tending to delay

    C. in an irritable, complaining way

    D. lingered; hung about

    Key: D (lingered; hung about)

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · AP: AP-LIT.LAN] Connect this passage from paragraph 18 to the story's treatment of girlhood: “And it would have a nest perhaps in the top of a high tree, made of sticks, something like a hawk's nest.’” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 18) develops girlhood: she protects the heron. Its words “something” and “perhaps” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Perhaps it was only migrating, or had been chased out of its own region by some bird of prey.’” (paragraph 20), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating girlhood as central.

Final paper

A White Heron: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Sarah Orne Jewett develops nature versus progress across A White Heron. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in A White Heron and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to loyalty and silence.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in A White Heron. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether A White Heron finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of girlhood. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.
Organization	15

		Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Sylvia chooses loyalty to nature over money. The text makes this visible when it says “she cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away” (A White Heron, paragraph 33). The stranger offers "ten dollars," but she "cannot tell the heron's secret and give its life away.". A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.

Essay assignments

Essay: Nature versus progress

Scaffolded support (600 words; AP: see unit standards): Supported track: write a five-paragraph essay explaining what A White Heron teaches about nature versus progress. Use at least three quotations from passages your teacher selects from different parts of the book.

HS Freshman (800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a multi-paragraph essay explaining how Sarah Orne Jewett develops nature versus progress in A White Heron. Use evidence from the beginning, middle and end of the book.

HS Sophomore (1000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an argumentative essay analyzing how Sarah Orne Jewett develops nature versus progress across A White Heron. Trace the idea through at least three parts of the story and address a counterclaim.

HS Junior (1100 words; AP: see unit standards): Write an analytical essay on how the structure of A White Heron (its order, turns and ending) shapes the meaning of nature versus progress. Discuss at least one place where the book leaves the question open.

HS Senior (1200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a sustained argument comparing two interpretations of nature versus progress in A White Heron. Weigh the evidence for each and defend the stronger reading in a mature, well-organized essay.

AP (1300 words; AP: AP-LIT.LAN): Write a literary argument: develop a defensible thesis about how Sarah Orne Jewett's choices in A White Heron (a recurring element, structure and narration) shape a complex understanding of nature versus progress, weigh at least one competing reading, and sustain commentary on well-chosen evidence. Do not merely summarize.

College Freshman (1600 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a researched essay (4–6 pages) that places A White Heron's treatment of nature versus progress in its historical context, using at least two scholarly sources.

College Sophomore (2200 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a contextual essay (6–8 pages) on nature versus progress in A White Heron that reads the story against its genre and period and engages two published critics. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Junior (2800 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a theoretically informed essay (8–10 pages) on nature versus progress in A White Heron. Name your critical method, apply it closely, and acknowledge its limits. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

College Senior (4000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a research paper (12–15 pages) with an original argument about nature versus progress in A White Heron, engaging at least four scholarly sources in Chicago style. At this level students write ONE of the unit's essays (choose one theme), not all five.

Graduate / PhD (6000 words; AP: see unit standards): Write a seminar paper (15–20 pages) that intervenes in the critical conversation on nature versus progress in A White Heron, engaging the relevant scholarship and textual history.
