Essential questions

- What does The Legend of Sleepy Hollow suggest about superstition and imagination?
- What does The Legend of Sleepy Hollow suggest about greed and courtship?
- What does The Legend of Sleepy Hollow suggest about rural community?

Objectives

- Students will cite at least 2 quotations, with locations, to support each written claim about what the text says explicitly and implicitly (scored on the writing-prompt rubric).
- Students will trace one theme across at least 3 sections of the story in the final paper, earning at least 70 of 100 rubric points.
- Students will explain how characters, setting and point of view interact in at least 3 exit tickets, each meeting the claim-evidence-reasoning criteria.
- Students will determine the in-context meaning of taught vocabulary, scoring at least 80% on the vocabulary items of the story quizzes.
- Students will write an argument with a clear claim, reasons and relevant evidence, scoring at least 80% on the unit test's short-answer scoring guides.

Author biography

Washington Irving was born in New York City on 3 April 1783, the youngest of eleven children of a merchant family, and named after George Washington. He won fame with a comic History of New York (1809) by "Diedrich Knickerbocker" and lived in England from 1815, where he published The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent. (1819–20), containing "Rip Van Winkle" and "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow." He was among the first American writers admired in Europe; he later served as U.S. minister to Spain and died at Sunnyside, his home in Tarrytown, New York, on 28 November 1859.

Historical and cultural context

Set around 1790 in a Dutch settlement near Tarrytown, New York, a region full of Revolutionary War ghost stories. The Headless Horseman is said to be a Hessian soldier (a German mercenary fighting for Britain) whose head was shot off by a cannonball.

Publication and reception, then and now

Published in The Sketch Book of Geoffrey Crayon, Gent. (part VI, 1820).

Then: Popular from the start.

Now: One of the first American ghost stories; a Halloween classic, often adapted.

Overview (spoiler-free)

Ichabod Crane, a lanky, superstitious schoolmaster from Connecticut, courts the wealthy Katrina Van Tassel, competing with the local hero Brom Bones.

Main themes

- imagination and superstition.
- greed.
- outsiders and locals.

Why it matters

It's a model of humour, suspense and ambiguous endings.

Spoilers · teacher only

Riding home from a party, Ichabod is chased by the Headless Horseman, who hurls his head; Ichabod disappears, a smashed pumpkin is found, and Brom marries Katrina, looking knowing whenever the pumpkin is mentioned.

Content note (mild fright, alcohol or drugs (mentioned)): Sensitive content: Mild fright; racist caricature of a Black character (period racist language). Preview the story, tell students in advance, and allow a pass on reading aloud. Keep discussion on how the writer uses these elements, not on graphic detail. This section mentions drinking or a drug ("…e spirits rose with eating, as some men's do with drink. He could not help, too, rolling his la…"). Treat it as period custom or plot detail; name it plainly and don't glamorize it.

Teacher only · spoilers

In the Dutch hamlet of Sleepy Hollow, lanky, superstitious schoolmaster Ichabod Crane courts the heiress Katrina Van Tassel, partly for her father's rich farm. His rival is the strong prankster Brom Bones. After a party where ghost stories are told, Ichabod rides home and is chased by a Headless Horseman who hurls his head at him. Ichabod disappears; a shattered pumpkin is found. Brom marries Katrina and looks knowing when the tale is told.

Background: Published in 1820 in The Sketch Book, set in the Hudson Valley around 1790 near Tarrytown, New York.

Significance: A foundational American ghost story built on comic irony.

First, meaning. I read "The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow" slowly and put it in my own words: The narrator names the valley's chief ghost: the Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow. Next, craft. I notice the repeated "H" sounds, which make the name easy to repeat like a local legend. The strongest word is "Headless": the missing head is the frightening detail people remember. Then, effect. How does the name of the ghost work on the reader and the townspeople? My answer: The name already makes the ghost a legend that everyone in the valley tells; that shared story is what Brom later uses to frighten Ichabod away.

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 50 reveal about the character or situation? "The greater part of the time he scraped away on two or three strings, accompanying every movement of the bow with a motion of the head; bowing almost to the ground, and stamping with his foot whenever a fresh couple were to start." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 50) shows the situation turning on superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words "accompanying" and "whenever" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “the yellow pumpkins lying beneath them, turning up their fair round bellies to the sun” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 43) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: Greed. The evidence is “the yellow pumpkins lying beneath them, turning up their fair round bellies to the sun” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 43). This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina.
13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 6 reveal about the character or situation? “A small brook glides through it, with just murmur enough to lull one to repose, and the occasional whistle of a quail; or tapping of a woodpecker, is almost the only sound that ever breaks in upon the uniform tranquillity.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 6) shows the situation turning on superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “tranquillity” and “occasional” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.
14. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 25 shapes its tone: “She was withal a little of a coquette, as might be perceived even in her dress, which was a mixture of ancient and modern fashions, as most suited to set off her charms.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “perceived” and “coquette” (paragraph 25) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 14 shapes its tone: “Truth to say, he was a conscientious man, and ever bore in mind the golden maxim, ‘spare the rod and spoil the child.’—Ichabod Crane's scholars certainly were not spoiled.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “conscientious” and “certainly” (paragraph 14) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
16. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 42 to the story's treatment of superstition and imagination: “In the fulness of their revelry, they fluttered, chirping and frolicking, from bush to bush, and tree to tree, capricious from the very profusion and variety around them.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 42) develops superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words “capricious” and “frolicking” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Not those of the bevy of buxom lasses, with their luxurious display of red and white; but the ample charms of a genuine…” (paragraph 47), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating superstition and imagination as central.
17. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 6: “This name was given, we are told, in former days, by the good _____ of the adjacent country, from the inveterate propensity of their husbands to linger about the village tavern on market days.” Word bank: pedagogue, especially, extraordinary, housewives
    Key: housewives
18. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 13? “To see him striding along the profile of a hill on a windy day, with his clothes bagging and _____ about him, one might have mistaken him for the genius of famine descending upon the earth, or some scarecrow eloped from a cornfield.”
    A. accomplishments
    B. furbishing

C. extraordinary

D. fluttering

Key: D (fluttering)

19. [short · inference · DOK 2] What can you infer from this line? “The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 10) Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.
    Sample answer: The legend. The evidence is “The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 10). This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina.
20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Claim: Irving suggests the Horseman is a prank by Brom. Explain how this evidence supports the claim: “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31).
    Sample answer: Ichabod's greed shows in images like "yellow pumpkins ... turning up their fair round bellies to the sun," and a smashed pumpkin is found where he vanished; Brom, with his "nick-name of Brom Bones," laughs when it is mentioned. The evidence is “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31) — The rival. This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina.
21. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 66 to the story's treatment of superstition and imagination: “Though the night was dark and dismal, yet the form of the unknown might now in some degree be ascertained.” Use one other moment from the story as well.
    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 66) develops superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words “ascertained” and “unknown” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “There was something in the moody and dogged silence of this pertinacious companion, that was mysterious and appalling.” (paragraph 67), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating superstition and imagination as central.
22. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Fill in the blank with the vocabulary word that fits: “Ichabod, therefore, made his advances in a quiet and gently-_____ manner.” Word bank: preferment, imbibed, tractable, insinuating
    Key: insinuating
23. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 43: “the yellow _____ lying beneath them, turning up their fair round bellies to the sun”
    Key: pumpkins
24. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 57 shapes its tone: “The sequestered situation of this church seems always to have made it a favorite haunt of troubled spirits.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “sequestered” and “situation” (paragraph 57) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
25. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 62 shapes its tone: “He was, moreover, approaching the very place where many of the scenes of the ghost stories had been laid.” Pick two words and explain their effect.
    Sample answer: The words “approaching” and “moreover” (paragraph 62) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.
26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 10) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

Sample answer: The legend. The evidence is “The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 10). This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Ichabod's greed shows in images like "yellow pumpkins ... turning up their fair round bellies to the sun," and a smashed pumpkin is found where he vanished; Brom, with his "nick-name of Brom Bones," laughs when it is mentioned.

27. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 49? “His _____ attentions were brief, but expressive, being confined to a shake of the hand, a slap on the shoulder, a loud laugh, and a pressing invitation to ‘fall to, and help themselves.’”

    A. hospitable

    B. housewives

    C. especially

    D. furbishing

    Key: A (hospitable)

28. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Close reading: how do the diction and syntax of “the yellow pumpkins lying beneath them, turning up their fair round bellies to the sun” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 43) shape its meaning? Consider a second, competing reading.

    Sample answer: Greed. The evidence is “the yellow pumpkins lying beneath them, turning up their fair round bellies to the sun” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 43). This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “pumpkins” and “bellies” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect. Ichabod's greed shows in images like "yellow pumpkins ... turning up their fair round bellies to the sun," and a smashed pumpkin is found where he vanished; Brom, with his "nick-name of Brom Bones," laughs when it is mentioned.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 71 to the story's treatment of superstition and imagination: “The next morning the old horse was found without his saddle, and with the bridle under his feet, soberly cropping the grass at his master's gate.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 71) develops superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words “cropping” and “master's” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “Hans Van Ripper, as executor of his estate, examined the bundle which contained all his worldly effects.” (paragraph 72), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating superstition and imagination as central.

30. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 29? “From this piazza the _____ Ichabod entered the hall, which formed the centre of the mansion, and the place of usual residence.”

    A. associate

    B. wondering

    C. pedagogue

    D. hospitable

    Key: B (wondering)

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Synthesis: trace how greed develops from the opening of “The Legend of Sleepy Hollow” to its ending. Use one quotation from each part.

    Sample answer: Near the start, “The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 10) —

The legend. Later, “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31) — The rival. Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina.

32. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO1] In the line “It is remarkable that the visionary propensity I have mentioned, is not confined to the native inhabitants of the valley, but is unconsciously imbibed by every one who resides there for a time.”, what does “imbibed” most nearly mean?

    A. without purpose

    B. easy to manage or control

    C. promotion to a better position, especially in the church

    D. take in, also metaphorically

    Key: D (take in, also metaphorically)

33. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 35 to the story's treatment of superstition and imagination: “Some seem to have but one vulnerable point, or door of access; while others have a thousand avenues, and may be captured in a thousand different ways.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 35) develops superstition and imagination: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words “vulnerable” and “different” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “On a fine autumnal afternoon, Ichabod, in pensive mood, sat enthroned on the lofty stool from whence he usually watched…” (paragraph 37), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating superstition and imagination as central.

34. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Analyze the word choice in “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31). Pick two words and explain what they suggest.

    Sample answer: The rival. The evidence is “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31). This develops greed: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “received” and “name” carry that meaning: they are the charged choices in the line, and changing either would soften the effect.

35. [mc · analysis · DOK 3 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Which literary element does this describe in “The Legend of Sleepy Hollow”? Ichabod is a comic figure of greed and appetite.

    A. Characterization

Writing prompts (eleven rigor levels)

Scaffolded support (250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Supported track (work from the passage your teacher selects). In "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," how does Irving show superstition used against a credulous man? Write a paragraph that states your claim, quotes two details from the passage, and explains how each detail supports your idea. Use the setting you noticed as one piece of evidence.

HS Freshman (350 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): In The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, how does Irving develop the idea of superstition used against a credulous man? State a clear claim, support it with two or three quotations, and explain how the setting in the story helps build that idea.

HS Sophomore (450 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Analyze how The Legend of Sleepy Hollow develops the idea of superstition used against a credulous man. Make a precise claim, support it with at least three pieces of textual evidence, and explain how the author's use of setting and characterization shapes that idea. Address one possible counterclaim.

HS Junior (550 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO3): Analyze how the structure of The Legend of Sleepy Hollow (where it begins, turns and ends) and its setting shape the reader's understanding of superstition used against a credulous man. Identify one place where the text leaves matters uncertain and explain how that uncertainty adds to its meaning.

HS Senior (600 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3, CAIE-9695.AO5): Two readers disagree about what The Legend of Sleepy Hollow suggests about superstition used against a credulous man. Lay out two plausible interpretations, weigh the evidence for each (including the story's setting and characterization), and argue for the stronger one in a sustained, well-organized essay.

AP (650 words; Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2, CAIE-9695.AO4): Write a literary argument in which you analyze how Washington Irving uses setting in The Legend of Sleepy Hollow to complicate the reader's understanding of superstition used against a credulous man. Develop a defensible thesis, select evidence purposefully, and explain how specific choices of diction and syntax create meaning.

College Freshman (1000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Situate The Legend of Sleepy Hollow within its historical and literary context and argue how the story's treatment of superstition used against a credulous man responds to that context. Engage with at least one secondary perspective (a critic, historian or the author's own statements), integrate quotations smoothly, and cite in MLA style.

College Sophomore (1250 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Read The Legend of Sleepy Hollow alongside the conventions of its genre and period. Argue how the story's handling of superstition used against a credulous man follows or bends those conventions, using the setting as evidence, and test your reading against one published critic. Document two secondary sources in MLA.

College Junior (1500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Apply a named critical approach (for example formalist, historicist, feminist, psychoanalytic or ecocritical) to The Legend of Sleepy Hollow and its treatment of superstition used against a credulous man. State your method, show what it reveals in the story's setting and characterization, and identify where the text resists it.

College Senior (2000 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop a research argument that reads The Legend of Sleepy Hollow as evidence for a larger claim about superstition used against a credulous man in The Legend of Sleepy Hollow. Connect close reading of the story to the whole story, engage at least four scholarly sources, and state precisely where your reading departs from theirs (Chicago style).

Graduate / PhD (2500 words; Cambridge International: see unit standards): Develop an original argument that reads The Legend of Sleepy Hollow as a hinge in the story's larger treatment of superstition used against a credulous man. Position your reading within a named critical conversation (for example formalist, historicist, psychoanalytic, feminist or postcolonial approaches), account for the textual history where relevant, and articulate the stakes of your intervention for scholarship on The Legend of Sleepy Hollow.

SAT-style questions

1. It is remarkable that the visionary propensity I have mentioned, is not confined to the native inhabitants of the valley, but is unconsciously imbibed by every one who resides there for a time.

   As used in the text, what does the word "imbibed" most nearly mean?

   A. make one's home in a particular place or community
   B. passages copied out of a book
   C. take in, also metaphorically
   D. abandon hope; give up hope; lose heart

2. Such is the general purport of this legendary superstition, which has furnished materials for many a wild story in that region of shadows; and the spectre is known at all the country firesides by the name of The Headless Horseman of Sleepy Hollow.

   Which choice best states a central concern of "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow"?

   A. The futile attempt to shut out death
   B. Superstition used against a credulous man
   C. Enemies reconciled too late
   D. The loss of faith in human goodness

SAT key: 1. C (take in, also metaphorically); 2. B (Superstition used against a credulous man)

Unit test

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow: end test · 90 minutes · 18 questions per rigor version (multiple choice, fill in the blank, short answer). The class rigor level picks the version; student auto-adjust applies.

Short-answer scoring guides

Scaffolded support and HS Freshman (2 points): correct answer in a complete sentence with a detail from the text. HS Sophomore to HS Senior (3 points): claim, one accurate quotation, one sentence of explanation. AP to College Sophomore (4 points): precise claim, two embedded quotations, commentary on word choice or structure, link to theme. College Junior to Graduate (5 points): nuanced thesis, close reading of two passages, synthesis across sections, a competing reading answered. Each item lists a sample answer; partial credit is described in the app.

2. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 16: “With these he lived successively a week at a time; thus going the rounds of the _____, with all his worldly effects tied up in a cotton handkerchief.”

   Word bank: pedagogue, neighbourhood, furbishing, housewives

   Key: neighbourhood

3. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 7? “If ever I should wish for a retreat, whither I might steal from the world and its _____, and dream quietly away the remnant of a troubled life, I know of none more promising than this little valley.”

   A. distractions
   B. neighbourhood
   C. especially
   D. accomplishments

   Key: A (distractions)

4. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 19? “The schoolmaster is generally a man of some importance in the female circle of a rural neighbourhood; being considered a kind of idle gentleman-like personage, of vastly superior taste and _____ to the rough country swains, and, indeed, inferior in learning only to the parson.”

   A. contented
   B. accomplishments
   C. hospitable
   D. wondering

Key: B (accomplishments)

5. [fill · recall · DOK 1] Complete the quotation from paragraph 36: “There was something extremely provoking in this _____ pacific system; it left Brom no alternative but to draw upon the funds of rustic waggery in his disposition, and to play off boorish practical jokes upon his rival.” Word bank: obstinately, extraordinary, pedagogue, associate

   Key: obstinately

   Key: deserves

10. [mc · recall · DOK 1] Which word completes this sentence from paragraph 39? “The gallant Ichabod now spent at least an extra half hour at his toilet, brushing and _____ up his best, and indeed only suit of rusty black, and arranging his looks by a bit of broken looking glass, that hung up in the school house.”

    A. especially
    C. wondering
    D. fluttering

    Key: B (furbishing)

11. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 37 reveal about the character or situation? “On a fine autumnal afternoon, Ichabod, in pensive mood, sat enthroned on the lofty stool from whence he usually watched all the concerns of his little literary realm.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 37) shows the situation turning on greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “afternoon” and “enthroned” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

12. [mc · inference · DOK 2] Which of these passages comes earliest in the story?

    A. “This name was given, we are told, in former days, by the good housewives of the adjacent country, from the inveterate propensity of their…”

    B. “A small brook glides through it, with just murmur enough to lull one to repose, and the occasional whistle of a quail; or tapping of a…”

    C. “If ever I should wish for a retreat, whither I might steal from the world and its distractions, and dream quietly away the remnant of a…”

    D. “Certain it is, the place still continues under the sway of some witching power, that holds a spell over the minds of the good people,…”

    Key: A (“This name was given, we are told, in former days, by the good housewives of the adjacent country, from the inveterate propensity of their…”)

13. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 67 reveal about the character or situation? “There was something in the moody and dogged silence of this pertinacious companion, that was mysterious and appalling.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 67) shows the situation turning on greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “pertinacious” and “mysterious” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

14. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 20 reveal about the character or situation? “From his half itinerant life, also, he was a kind of travelling gazette, carrying the whole budget of local gossip from house to house; so that his appearance was always greeted with satisfaction.” Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 20) shows the situation turning on rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words “satisfaction” and “appearance” are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

15. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 69 shapes its tone: “As yet the panic of the steed had given his unskillful rider an apparent advantage in the chase; but just as he had got half way through the hollow, the girths of the saddle gave way, and he felt it slipping from under him.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “unskillful” and “advantage” (paragraph 69) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

16. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 66 shapes its tone: “The hair of the affrighted pedagogue rose upon his head with terror.” Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words “affrighted” and “pedagogue” (paragraph 66) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

17. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 56 to the story's treatment of rural community: “The immediate causes, however, of the prevalence of supernatural stories in these parts, was doubtless owing to the vicinity of Sleepy Hollow.” Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 56) develops rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words “supernatural” and “prevalence” carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in “The sequestered situation of this church seems always to have made it a favorite haunt of troubled spirits." (paragraph 57), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating rural community as central.

18. [short · inference · DOK 2] What does this passage from paragraph 61 reveal about the character or situation? "Far below him the Tappaan Zee spread its dusky and indistinct waste of waters, with here and there the tall mast of a sloop, riding quietly at anchor under the land." Answer in two or three sentences with one detail.

    Sample answer: The passage (paragraph 61) shows the situation turning on rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The words "indistinct" and "quietly" are the proof, because they show how the moment looks to the people in it. They suggest more than the narrator states outright.

19. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 29 shapes its tone: "The low projecting eaves formed a piazza along the front, capable of being closed up in bad weather." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "projecting" and "capable" (paragraph 29) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

20. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 72 shapes its tone: "Hans Van Ripper, as executor of his estate, examined the bundle which contained all his worldly effects." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "contained" and "examined" (paragraph 72) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

21. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 39 shapes its tone: "Still he must have had fire and mettle in his day, if we may judge from his name, which was Gunpowder." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "mettle" (paragraph 39) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

22. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 58 to the story's treatment of greed and courtship: "This story was immediately matched by a thrice marvellous adventure of Brom Bones, who made light of the Galloping Hessian as an arrant jockey." Use one other moment from the story as well.

    Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 58) develops greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "immediately" and "marvellous" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "Far below him the Tappaan Zee spread its dusky and indistinct waste of waters, with here and there the tall mast of a…" (paragraph 61), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating greed and courtship as central.

23. [short · analysis · DOK 3] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 47 shapes its tone: "Not those of the bevy of buxom lasses, with their luxurious display of red and white; but the ample charms of a genuine Dutch country tea-table, in the sumptuous time of autumn." Pick two words and explain their effect.

    Sample answer: The words "luxurious" and "sumptuous" (paragraph 47) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

24. [short · synthesis · DOK 4] Connect this passage from paragraph 63 to the story's treatment of greed and courtship: "Suddenly he heard a groan—his teeth chattered, and his knees smote against the saddle: it was but the rubbing of one huge bough upon another, as they were swayed about by the breeze." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 63) develops greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "chattered" and "another" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The hair of the affrighted pedagogue rose upon his head with terror." (paragraph 66), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating greed and courtship as central.

25. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 8 shapes its tone: "Certain it is, the place still continues under the sway of some witching power, that holds a spell over the minds of the good people, causing them to walk in a continual reverie." Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words "continues" and "continual" (paragraph 8) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

26. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 26 to the story's treatment of greed and courtship: "His strong hold was situated on the banks of the Hudson, in one of those green, sheltered, fertile nooks, in which the Dutch farmers are so fond of nestling." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 26) develops greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "sheltered" and "situated" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The low projecting eaves formed a piazza along the front, capable of being closed up in bad weather." (paragraph 29), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating greed and courtship as central.

27. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 17 to the story's treatment of greed and courtship: "He laid aside, too, all the dominant dignity and absolute sway, with which he lorded it in his little empire, the school, and became wonderfully gentle and ingratiating." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 17) develops greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "ingratiating" and "wonderfully" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "From his half itinerant life, also, he was a kind of travelling gazette, carrying the whole budget of local gossip from…" (paragraph 20), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating greed and courtship as central.

28. [short · analysis · DOK 3 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO2] Analyze how the word choice in this passage from paragraph 53 shapes its tone: "Just sufficient time had elapsed to enable each story teller to dress up his tale with a little becoming fiction, and in the indistinctness of his recollection, to make himself the hero of every exploit." Pick two words and explain their effect.

Sample answer: The words "indistinctness" and "recollection" (paragraph 53) make the tone heavy and deliberate rather than neutral. That weight points the reader to greed and courtship: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. The author chooses them so the moment feels significant instead of passing.

29. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 73 to the story's treatment of rural community: "As he was a bachelor, and in nobody's debt, nobody troubled his head any more about him; the school was removed to a different quarter of the hollow, and another pedagogue reigned in his stead." Use one other moment from the story as well.

Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 73) develops rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "different" and "pedagogue" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "A small brook glides through it, with just murmur enough to lull one to repose, and the occasional whistle of a quail;…" (paragraph 6), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating rural community as central.

30. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Cambridge International: CAIE-9695.AO3] Connect this passage from paragraph 13 to the story's treatment of rural community: "He was a native of Connecticut: a state which supplies the Union with pioneers for the mind as well as for the forest, and sends forth yearly its legions of frontier woodmen and country schoolmasters." Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 13) develops rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "schoolmasters" and "supplies" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "Truth to say, he was a conscientious man, and ever bore in mind the golden maxim, 'spare the rod and spoil the…" (paragraph 14), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating rural community as central.

31. [short · synthesis · DOK 4 · Dual Credit (Indiana College Core): ICC-WC-1.5] Connect this passage from paragraph 48 to the story's treatment of rural community: "He could not help, too, rolling his large eyes round him as he ate, and chuckling with the possibility that he might one day be lord of all this scene of almost unimaginable luxury and splendor." Use one other moment from the story as well.
Sample answer: This passage (paragraph 48) develops rural community: Ichabod wants the farm more than Katrina. Its words "unimaginable" and "possibility" carry that idea into this moment. The same concern returns in "The greater part of the time he scraped away on two or three strings, accompanying every movement of the bow with a…" (paragraph 50), so the two passages read as a pattern, not a single moment. Together they show the story treating rural community as central.

32. [mc · recall · DOK 1 · Program outcome: LeL-GR-LIT-1] In the line "He was in fact noted for preferring vicious animals, given to all kinds of tricks, which kept the rider in constant risk of his neck, for he held a tractable well-broken horse as unworthy of a lad of spirit.", what does "tractable" most nearly mean?
A. without purpose
B. easy to manage or control
C. take in, also metaphorically
D. promotion to a better position, especially in the church
Key: B (easy to manage or control)

Final paper

The Legend of Sleepy Hollow: final paper (formal literary analysis). Choose one prompt.

1. Analyze how Washington Irving develops superstition and imagination across The Legend of Sleepy Hollow. Trace the idea through at least three moments (beginning, middle and end) and argue what the ending finally suggests.
2. Choose one recurring symbol, image or motif in The Legend of Sleepy Hollow and argue how its meaning changes over the story and why that change matters to greed and courtship.
3. Analyze a central character's choices in The Legend of Sleepy Hollow. Argue whether the story judges that character, and how its structure or point of view shapes your answer.
4. Two readers disagree about whether The Legend of Sleepy Hollow finally endorses or criticizes its society's view of rural community. Weigh both readings and argue for one, answering the strongest objection.

Length: Scaffolded support 500-700 words; HS Freshman 700-900 words; HS Sophomore 900-1,100 words; HS Junior 1,000-1,300 words; HS Senior 1,200-1,500 words; AP 1,300-1,600 words; College Freshman 1,500-2,000 words; College Sophomore 2,000-2,500 words; College Junior 2,500-3,000 words; College Senior 3,000-4,000 words; Graduate / PhD 4,000-6,000 words Evidence requirement: at least 4 quotations from at least two parts of the story. Quote the reading text exactly and cite the paragraph (MLA style). HS Senior and above: one scholarly or historical source; College Sophomore and above: two, cited in MLA.

Criterion	Points	Descriptor	Exemplary	Proficient	Developing	Beginning
Thesis	20	A specific, arguable claim that answers the prompt and organizes the paper.	Specific, arguable and precise; it organizes every section.	Clear and arguable, but broad in places.	States a topic or a summary more than an argument.	Missing, or restates the prompt.
Evidence	25	Well-chosen, accurately quoted and cited passages from across the work, meeting the evidence requirement.	Accurate, well-chosen quotations from across the work, all cited; meets the requirement.	Accurate and cited, but clustered in one part of the work.	Too few quotations, or some inaccurate or uncited.	Little or no quoted evidence.
Analysis	30	Explains how language, structure and literary elements create meaning; goes beyond summary.	Explains how specific words, structure and devices create meaning; weighs a competing reading.	Explains the evidence, with some close reading.	Mostly summary; the link to the claim is asserted, not shown.	Summary only.

Organization	15	Logical progression, clear topic sentences and transitions; introduction and conclusion frame the argument.	Each paragraph advances the argument; transitions show logic.	Logical order with minor jumps.	Order is loose; paragraphs repeat or drift.	No discernible structure.
Style and conventions	10	Formal academic voice, present tense for literature, correct grammar and MLA format.	Formal, precise, present tense; MLA format; virtually error-free.	Formal with a few errors that do not obscure meaning.	Informal or error-prone in ways that distract.	Errors obscure meaning.

Exemplar paragraph: Irving suggests the Horseman is a prank by Brom. The text makes this visible when it says “he had received the nick-name of Brom Bones” (The Legend of Sleepy Hollow, paragraph 31). Ichabod's greed shows in images like "yellow pumpkins ... turning up their fair round bellies to the sun," and a smashed pumpkin is found where he vanished; Brom, with his "nick-name of Brom Bones," laughs when it is mentioned. A full paper would carry this reading through the beginning, middle and end, and answer the strongest competing reading.
